WESTERN BLOC TO FIGHT MOSES AS SENATE HEAD

Norris, Borah and Couzens to Lead Attack on New Englander.

PREPARE TO SUPPORT ANOTHER REPUBLICAN

Progressives Resent Alleged Threat to Aid Democrats Control Chamber.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The "Sons of the Wild Jackass," as the Republican Progressives were once called by Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, yesterday prepared to kick their tormentor out of his office as president pro tempore of the Senate.

Senator George Norris, of Nebraska; Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, and Senator James Couzens, of Michigan, are among the Progressives who will vote against Moses, and for some other Republican.

There are said to be seven others ready to join them, including a Republican stalwart, Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, of Rhode Island.

The feud between the sharp-tongued Moses and the thirteen or so Western Progressives in his party, began when the latter set out to disrupt the Republican program by joining forces with the Democrats.

Stung by Designation.

Two years ago, while addressing a group of New England business men at a banquet here, Senator Moses referred to the Progressives as the "Sons of the Wild Jackass." This stung.

More recently he wrote an article for the Saturday Evening Post in which he alluded to the fight he expected the Progressives would make on him when he came up for re-election as president pro tempore.

The Progressives interpreted a certain passage in this article to mean that Moses, as a retaliatory measure, would attempt to swing regular Republican votes to the Democrats, thus taking control of the Senate away from the Republicans, and ousting Norris, Borah, Couzens, La Follette and others from their fat committee chairmanships.

It was this threat, not the "jackass" epithet, that is behind the Progressive determination to oust Moses, according to Senators Norris and Borah.

"What Threats," Moses Asks.

Told what Norris had said, Senator Moses, when interviewed in Concord, N. H., last night, said:

"What threats?"

That was all he would say, but he has insisted here that he never meant to infer that he would vote to give the Democrats control.

What, if anything, is going to happen is difficult to forecast, and not even the Progressives were making any predictions yesterday, although Senator Norris did say that it was "impossible" to reelect Senator Moses as President pro tempore.

The party line-up in the Senate is now Republicans, 48; Democrats, 47; Farmer-Labor, 1.

Senator Huey Long, who is afraid to leave Louisiana lest his rival take the governor's office, will not be here, so that leaves the Democrats 46.

Senator Shipstead, of Minnesota, the Farmer-Laborite, is expected to line up with the Republicans.

Republicans in Control.

Thus, assuming all members are present except Long, the line-up would be Republicans, 49; Democrats, 46.

If the Republican Progressives voted with the Democrats, the latter would

Roumania to Annul Nicholas' Wedding

Carol Will Accept Brother Back Into Family After Action on His Plea.

Bucharest, Roumania, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Formal annulment of the marriage of Prince Nicholas and Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj will be declared tomorrow by the Roumanian Supreme Court, it was understood tonight.

This action will be based on the theory that the marriage was not contracted in accordance with the dynastic statute of the Hohenzollerns and that it occurred without the consent of King Carol.

As a consequence of the formal annulment Nicholas will not have the status of Mme. Deletj's lawful husband. The court's decree will result, it was understood, from a personal petition by King Carol and the king will not consider it necessary any longer to exclude his brother from the royal family.

Dry Group Parley Here To Hear "Alfalfa Bill"

Oklahoma City, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—An invitation to address the National Antisaloon League convention at Washington January 18 was accepted today by Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray. He will speak on "The Law's Relation to Temperance and Morals."

"I may not please either side of the prohibition question," he said, "but I shall say what I think ought to be said."

Democrats Expected To Oust Steering Plan

Party Caucus Today Will Also Back Garner for Speaker, Rainey as Floor Leader and Vote on House Rules.

By J. B. M'DONNELL.

Organization plans of House Democrats, worked out in many conferences, are expected to be given approval of the party caucus tomorrow morning without any fight which will endanger the harmony that party leaders have sought to maintain since it became apparent they would organize the House once again for the first time since Woodrow Wilson sat in the White House.

The caucus will elect Representative John N. Garner, of Texas, as its candidate for Speaker; elect Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, as floor leader; vote to liberalize the House rules, and is expected to vote down a proposal to create an elective steering committee, and to back the Democratic plan of long standing, under which the party membership on the ways and means committee comprises the party's steering committee and committee on committees.

The caucus is expected to agree on a change in the rules under which a petition signed by 145 members will be sufficient to bring legislation out of committee to the floor of the House for a roll call there. Under the present rules a majority of the House membership, or 218 members, is necessary to get pigeon-holed legislation out.

Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, has been put in charge of the fight for liberalization of the rules, and it is believed the Georgian, with the support of other House leaders, will carry the fight to victory.

There have been various figures suggested as the proper number of signatures which should be required, ranging from 100 to 175. The latter figure is too high to suit those who favor liberalization, and the former is much too low to suit the others, and it is expected that Democrats will agree on the same figure as that approved by the Republicans in their caucus.

Liberalization of the rules is believed to make certain a vote on prohibition, but what form the proposal

POLICE ARE READY FOR HUNGER ARMY

Hurley Declares He Believes March Is Subsidized; Camp Is Sought.

The "hunger marchers," on their way to the Capital in automobiles and trucks, approached to within two days riding distance of the city last night as police completed arrangements for their reception to take place on Sunday night.

Secretary of War Hurley said he believes the march is "subsidized." There is no prospect of troops being called out in connection with possible demonstrations after the group arrives, Secretary Hurley said.

Attorney General Mitchell was unconcerned by charges that pamphlets calling for insurrection and attributed to the "Communist Party of America" were forgeries, "very likely the work of the Department of Justice." The Communist party in a statement said it absolutely repudiates the circulars.

When informed the Justice Department was blamed, Attorney General Mitchell smiled. "They say," he said, "a good many things."

The 1,500 unemployed petitioners, whose vans are now nearing the city, are to be allowed a peaceful demonstration and ample police protection from the time they enter the District on Sunday until they depart for their homes Monday night.

Senator Arthur Capper, chairman of the Senate District committee, conferred yesterday with Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, to attempt to obtain lodging facilities for the marchers. Senator Capper said, "The hunger marchers ought to have every opportunity to present their case and make their needs known. I don't know just what can be accomplished by their visit to the National Capital at this time, but they are entitled to a respectful hearing, certainly so long as they come in a law abiding manner.

"We must assume that they will come in that manner and treat them as they should be treated unless they, themselves, prove it is not their purpose to obtain a respectful hearing. I am deeply sympathetic with the troubles of many of these people."

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, major and superintendent of Washington police, has planned a police guard to prevent disorder and to handle the marchers in the parade, which will be allowed if a permit is applied for by the petitioners. They will be permitted to wear arm bands with the demands of the group inscribed, but banners will not be allowed in their parade in the Capitol Grounds.

Herbert Benjamin, who is supervising the arrangements, has made re-

Angered Catholics Put Up Flag of Navarre

Pamplona, Spain, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Several thousand Catholics, angered by refusal of the provincial deputation to recognize the saint's day of the Navarres, today raised the Catholic flag of the old Kingdom of Navarre over the provincial deputation palace.

They prevented the raising of the Republican tricolor but after the crowd had dispersed the flag of Navarre was removed and the tricolor hoisted in its place.

SORBER ACQUITTED OF BEATING YOUTH

Verdict Given in 30 Minutes; Barrett Case to Reach Jury Today.

George M. Sorber, suspended policeman of the Second Precinct and a Marine Corps World War veteran, who participated in most of that corp's engagements in the war, yesterday was exonerated of a charge of beating Arthur T. Paul, 14-year-old colored boy.

A jury sitting in the court of Justice F. D. Letts deliberated 30 minutes before returning a verdict that Sorber had not used any more force than was necessary in first ejecting the boy from his Sorber's automobile, and then in effecting his arrest.

The testimony was to the effect that Sorber caught Paul in his machine at the O street market, and that as the boy was a trespasser, he was entitled to remove him from the machine. Then, Sorber said, when he placed the boy under arrest, Paul attempted to escape and he pursued him. Paul was captured when he fell.

For Sorber, Attorney James A. O'Shea contended that his client used no more force than a reasonable man would have used under the circumstances. The jury was composed of 11 men and one woman.

In the other alleged brutality case being heard before Justice James M. Proctor, the defense of Detective Sergt. Robert J. Barrett neared completion. Most of the defense witnesses were heard and it is likely that his case will go to the jury today.

The highlights of the defense were the introduction of a police photograph of George Baber, who Barrett is accused of having beaten, and the admission by Detective Sergt. Van D. Hughes, that he, and not Barrett,

Grid Deaths Reach 32, as Boy, 12, Dies

Brain Concussion Fatal to Pittsburgh Youth; Rites for Murphy.

Pittsburgh, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Injured in a "sand lot" football game here three weeks ago, Steve Allos, 12, died today from concussion of the brain. His was the thirty-second football death in the Nation this fall.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The student body of Fordham University today paid its final respects to the memory of Cornelius Murphy, jr., of Greenfield, Mass., varsity tackle, who died yesterday as a result of football injuries, in a solemn requiem mass in the college chapel.

Fifteen hundred students, the entire enrollment, crowded the chapel until there was only standing room left, as Father Aloysius Hogan, president of the university, eulogized the dead player and chanted the prayers for the dead.

After the services the students formed in a long line, two abreast, behind the hearse and followed it to the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad station a quarter of a mile away, from where it was sent to Greenfield for burial.

New York Women Postpone Roosevelt "Boom" Banquet

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The Times says a Roosevelt-for-President dinner of the Empire State committee of 1,000 Democratic and Progressive Women, Inc., has been "deferred," perhaps to some time next month. The dinner was to have been given December 21.

Members of the organization, the Times says, denied a suggestion the dinner had been called off in deference to representations made by friends of the governor. It says it learned, however, the affair was viewed in Democratic circles as embarrassing to both the governor and leaders of his party in the State.

His friends pointed out, the newspaper continues, that Gov. Roosevelt is showing no disposition to admit he is a contender for the presidential nomination and a dinner such as planned would have the effect of bringing his "boom" out in the open.

M'DONALD WINS EASILY ON INDIA FREEDOM ISSUE

His Cabinet Carries Vote on Rule Policy by Big Majority.

FAVORS EVENTUAL SELF-GOVERNMENT

Gandhi Says British Move to Keep Down Revolts Is "Cause for War."

London, Dec. 3 (U.P.).—The cabinet of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald won an overwhelming victory in the House of Commons tonight on its policy for eventual establishment of a responsible federal government in India.

The amendment, which Winston Churchill, ultraconservative foe of Indian independence, offered to the government's declaration of policy, was defeated by a vote of 369 to 43.

The vote on the Churchill amendment climaxed two days of debate, in which MacDonald had asked for support of the government on a test of confidence vote on the India question.

Laborites Join Opposition.

Opposition to the government policy was led by Churchill, but the Laborite opposition also criticized the government's attitude.

George Lansbury, the only prominent laborite who was reelected in the recent general election, demanded complete liberty for India without delay.

"One hundred and fifty years of British rule have left the overwhelming mass of people of India illiterate," Lansbury said. "Their conquerors have drawn immense wealth from India and spent it abroad."

Mahatma Gandhi, Indian independence leader, declared tonight that the government's ordinance for suppression of revolutionary organizations in Bengal is "a cause for war," if it is enforced.

Gandhi announced that he would not propose renewal of "war in India," meaning resumption of the civil disobedience movement against British rule, until he had returned home and informed the national congress party of the results of the London round table conference.

Thinks Conference Failed.

"However, there is a possibility that at any time the congress will call for civil disobedience in any area warranting such action," Gandhi said.

The Indian nationalist leader made his announcement after the conclusion of the debate.

Asked if he regarded the round table conference a complete failure, Gandhi replied:

"Yes, as far as India's aspirations are concerned. The purpose of the conference was to measure our strength in that respect.

"It has failed and therefore, I must return to take the necessary measures to show what that strength is.

"So far as I am able to judge, the declaration of policy by Mr. MacDonald gives practically nothing in view of the terms on which the national congress based its demands."

Gandhi said he had not fully studied the prime minister's declara-

Leavitt Liquor Trial Once Again Postponed

Santa Monica, Calif., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The trial of Cornelius Van Ness Leavitt, brother-in-law of President Hoover, on a liquor possession charge, was delayed again today, this time by the inability of two of the arresting officers to appear. Police Judge C. A. M. Spencer set the case for tomorrow at 10 a. m.

The officers, the court was informed, are appearing in a case at Riverside, Calif. A local policeman and two Federal prohibition agents arrested Leavitt recently as he walked out the back door of a grocery store carrying a sack containing nineteen pints of liquor.

Child Kept in Box, Neighbors Charge

Michigan Father Smashes Piano Case in Yard; Denies Cruelty.

Escanaba, Mich., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Decision as to the future of an 8-year-old girl, who neighbors said had been kept in a piano box in her back yard in all sorts of weather rested tonight with the Michigan State welfare department.

In the meanwhile the girl, Elaine Plucker, remained in the home of her father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Plucker, who were accused of the mistreatment. There is no piano box there, though, for last night Plucker smashed it into kindling wood with an axe in the presence of Probate Judge Judd Yelland, before whom he and his wife had been accused of cruelty and neglect.

The Pluckers denied charges of neighbors and of Mrs. Cora Plucker, Elaine's grandmother, that the girl had been kept in the box almost all of every day. They said she never had been a prisoner.

Nats Trade 3 Players To White Sox in Deal

The Washington Baseball Club yesterday figured in a five-player deal with the Chicago White Sox, which sent Pitchers Irving Hadley and Sam Jones and Utility Infielder Jack Hayes to the Chicago Club in exchange for Carl Reynolds, outfielder, and John Kerr, second baseman.

The deal was negotiated at West Baden, Ind., where President Clark Griffith, of the Nats, is attending the annual meeting of the minor leagues in company with other major league magnates, and brings to Washington in Reynolds the long-sought right-handed hitting outfielder, who was the paramount motive for the deal.

Neither Hadley nor Jones, although regulars on the Washington staff, enjoyed successful seasons in 1931.

(Complete details of the trade and pictures of the players will be found in The Post's sports section.)

U. S. AWAITS CRISIS LOOMING IN BERLIN

Experts Doubt That Cabinet Is Threatened; Economic Situation Pressing.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Rumblings of a new political crisis in Berlin sharpened official interest yesterday in Germany's desperate efforts to regain her financial equilibrium, but Government experts here who have followed Chancellor Bruening's maneuvers closely during the last ten days discounted reports that the coalition cabinet was seriously threatened.

At the same time these officials acknowledge that, despite the international moratorium on both public and private credits, Germany's economic position has grown steadily more pressing during the last two weeks, and that the continued flight of private capital undoubtedly is producing political repercussions in the cabinet.

Offsetting these ominous reports, however, the Commerce Department yesterday received further evidence that the Bruening economic program is being pressed vigorously, in the hope that the drive for a balanced national ledger soon will win for Germany new supplies of international credits.

An emergency decree signed by President von Hindenburg has extended to the cabinet blanket authority to control imports on a selective basis, through proclaimed tariffs. Commercial Attache Groves, at Berlin, reported yesterday that no details yet were available as to what changes might be made under this decree, but the sweeping authority is effective immediately.

With the government thus invested with complete dictatorial powers in every phase of German economy, including control of prices and wages Berlin's immediate problem centers on the flight of capital, which gained renewed impetus this week. December 1 marked the last day for the execution of new 90-day paper on Berlin to expire under the "standstill" agreement covering private credits to Germany. With Germany's road beyond February 29 still uncertain, the mere arrival of December 1 precipitated a sudden and shocking contraction of short-term trade credits. And this, in turn, has been reflected in new economic stresses within Germany, including a further recession in industrial production and employment.

In the face of these unhappy developments, there appears, on the

Settles $1,000,000 Attack Action Against Show Magnate.

Los Angeles, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Making a surprise appearance in superior court, Eunice Pringle settled for $3,000 today her $1,000,000 damage suit against Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, as the result of an alleged criminal attack.

Miss Pringle was accompanied in court by her mother and father. Before Superior Judge Marshall F. McComb, her attorneys announced they had agreed to the settlement and a similar announcement was made by attorney for Pantages.

The vaudeville impresario was acquitted last Friday of the charges at a retrial, granted by the State Supreme Court after he had been convicted at the first trial, more than two years ago. The petition for the compromise was drawn by Pantages' attorney, Earl M. Daniels, and it was indicated that negotiations for a settlement were begun shortly after Pantages had been freed.

Dr. Alfaro Appointed Panama Envoy to U. S.

Dr. Horacio F. Alfaro has been appointed Panama's Minister to the United States it was announced yesterday by the Panama Legation.

MACHADO PLAN IS RESIGNATION AS CUBA CALMS

Will Quit When Stability Assures Constitutional Successor.

POLITICAL PRISONER AMNESTY FORECAST

Visit of American Envoy to States Has Effect Upon Island Affairs.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

President Machado of Cuba will resign the office which he has held uninterruptedly since 1925 as soon as the internal stability of his country permits the choice of a constitutional successor, it became known authoritatively here last night. The departure of Cosme de la Torriente, leader of the Cuban opposition to Machado, announced exclusively in The Washington Post, five days ago for Havana has convinced President Machado of the necessity of according a general amnesty to all political prisoners who are still in jail for their participation in the abortive attempt at revolution last summer. Senor de la Torriente, eminent Cuban statesman and predecessor of Cuban Ambassador Ferrera here, has been in consultation with President Machado since his arrival in Havana Tuesday and the announcement of an official amnesty for all political offenders is believed due to follow very soon.

Guggenheim Trip Effects.

The recent trip to the United States of American Ambassador Guggenheim was responsible in very large measure for the decision of President Machado. While he was in the United States on a two months' leave, Ambassador Guggenheim had ample time to discuss the Cuban situation with several of the leading bankers who have hitherto financed without restriction the administration of President Machado. The delicate financial situation existing throughout the world at the present time has caused a restriction in the usual credit facilities of all banking institutions.

A recent phase of Cuban financing included the continuation of the $20,000,000 loan which became due a fortnight ago. This loan has been renewed but with the understanding that the adjustment of the Cuban political situation would follow as soon as President Machado would find it expedient.

Under these circumstances President Machado intends to free all the political prisoners and when this step has been accomplished, he intends to summon a conference of some 25 or 30 leading men in Cuba for the adoption of a new constitution. The new charter of Cuban liberties will contain an express provision for the elec-

French Ship Saved With 88 on Board

Steamer, Rudder Useless, Battles Channel Storm Until Aid Arrives.

New Haven, England, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The French cross-channel steamer Versailles, with 28 passengers and 60 members of the crew aboard, was towed into this port tonight by a tug after having tossed helplessly for hours in a tumultuous sea 5 miles off the Sussex coast.

The tug picked up the steamer, which had a broken rudder, by shooting rockets carrying a hauser, which was secured to the disabled boat. The two vessels, as they finally plunged and tossed into port, were given a cheer by a large crowd gathered on the shore.

When the wind was blowing 60 miles an hour early this afternoon the Versailles sent out a message saying her rudder was broken and she was unable to keep to her course. At that time she was 12 miles from New Haven on the way to France. A tug was beaten back by heavy seas, but a lifeboat fought its way to the vessel's side only to learn that help was not immediately required.

LEAGUE PEACE PLAN REJECTED BY JAPAN

Tokyo Objects to Setting of Evacuation Date; Maps New Proposal.

Tokyo, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Japan rejected the League of Nations Manchurian peace program on two scores today and drew up counterproposals to be submitted to the league council meeting in Paris.

The Tokyo government interpreted the league plan as restricting Japanese activity against bandits and as fixing a virtual time limit for the evacuation of troops outside the Manchurian treaty zone.

Baron Shidehara, the foreign minister, and the other members of the cabinet drew up the counterproposals at a meeting which lasted most of the night. These proposals were to be dispatched to Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan's spokesman at the league council, along with new instructions.

The fifth paragraph of the council's prepared settlement resolution provides that if evacuation is not completed by the time the league's commission of neutral observers reaches Manchuria, they are to "report speedily to the league with whatever recommendations they see fit."

This provision amounts to establishment of a time limit for the completion of troop withdrawl, in the view of the Japanese government.

The "declaration" by Aristide Briand, council chairman, which is to accompany the resolution when it finally is acted on by the council, contains the other point to which Japan objects.

This is an admonition to China and Japan to cooperate in suppressing banditry. The Japanese position is that the Briand statement does not give Japan enough latitude in dealing with bandits.

Paris, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Prospects for early settlement of the Sino-Japanese conflict receded further into the distance tonight when it was learned that Japan was steadfastly objecting to two features of the League of Nations proposal for an international commission of inquiry.

Tokyo's note had not been officially communicated to league authorities, but the Japanese delegation let it be known that Japan can not accept one provision of the settlement resolution and one stipulation of the dec-

Widower Kills Woman And Himself on Corner

Flemingsburg, Ky., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Mrs. Ethel Yates Hunter, 35, was shot and killed on a downtown corner here today by James T. Williamson, 60-year-old widower, who later fatally wounded himself.

Williamson, well-to-do property owner and former bank clerk and night watchman here, had frequently eaten at the restaurant Mrs. Hunter and her husband, Ira Hunter, operated here. Court records disclosed that Mrs. Hunter had filed suit for divorce October 15, but the petition itself had been taken from the files by a lawyer and it was believed the couple had become reconciled, as they had continued to live together.

Spanish Rail Workers Plan General Walkout

Madrid, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The Railroad Workers' Congress, which represents, 48,500 workers on all railroads in Spain, have decided to declare a general strike unless the government consents to nationalize the roads within fifteen days.

SALVADOR RULE WON BY REBELS IN COUP D'ETAT

President Araujo Flees to Guatemala When Government Falls.

YOUNG MILITARISTS TAKE NATION'S HELM

HEAD OF TREASURY AMONG CASUALTIES

Many Reported Slain During Fierce Street Fighting in Capital.

San Salvador, El Salvador, Dec. 3 (U.P.).—A short and successful military revolution, featured by several hours of street fighting, resulted in overthrow of the civil government of President Arturo Araujo today. Tonight the country was ruled by a provisional government headed by Maximiliano H. Martinez, vice president to Araujo.

In a statement, signed by all members of the revolutionary junta, complete calm was said to prevail throughout the country, with unanimous support being given the new regime by citizens.

President Araujo, the statement said, submitted after a night of fighting and was first taken to Santa Tecla and then sent out of the country into Guatemala. Finance Minister Espinosa was killed in the fighting.

Reason for Revolt.

The junta summed up the reason for the revolt as follows:

"The Araujo government was dizzily leading the country to ruination, obliging the younger army officers to take energetic measures."

The rebellion began at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday, with several regiments supporting the leaders. Police attacked the revolutionists and were defeated after a night of fighting.

The junta's statement gave no estimate of casualties, but said the police were "severely punished."

The fighting ended this morning and a parley between the president and his opponents began. Details for his departure from the country were soon arranged.

The junta statement promised continuation of constitutional government.

The military junta, backing up Martinez as provisional president, is composed of Col. Osmin Aguirre, Col. Joaquin Valdes, Capt. Manuel Urbina, Lieut. Joaquin Castro and Lieut. Ramon Nunez.

Fire on Palace.

Mexico City, Dec. 3 (U.P.).—The uprising against the El Salvadorean government broke out at 10:30 p. m. Wednesday, messages received here today said.

One of the principal forts began firing on the presidential palace. The bombardment was returned by another fort which was occupied by loyal troops.

There was sporadic fighting all night, with a few casualties. At dawn this morning the forts began another cross fire, which was steadily increased. All business houses were closed and the city was in terror.

The rebels were said to have been joined by "two more forts," which was believed to mean that two barracks of troops which had not aided in instigating the uprising had destroyed the government.

President Araujo was hailed as the winner of the first "free election" in many years when he assumed office. His regime has been quiet, although several bloodless student demonstrations against certain banking laws were suppressed some months ago.

Foe of Communism.

The president, although a leader of labor organizations, is an avowed foe of communism and will not permit the Salvadorean press to publish reports of social labor disorders.

San Salvador is a city of about 88,000 population, situated in a val-

Jurist In Disguise Gets Evidence on Hoodlums

Chicago, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Aroused at the depredations of a band of young hoodlums who have been holding forth in the West Side Italian district, a municipal judge—Francis Borelli—assumed the role of fabled Haroun Al Raschid to rid the section of its scourge, it was revealed today.

Donning shabby clothing, Judge Borelli, a swarthy Italian, took up living quarters in the district and mingled with the denizens. After two months of investigation, during which he became a habitue of the cheap gambling rooms and other gathering places of the notorious "42" gang, the jurist turned over a mass of information to police.

Acting on the evidence, detectives raided in the quarter and 19 of those apprehended were arraigned in court today before their "erstwhile pal."

Imposing varying sentences on the men, Judge Borelli said:

"Most of you boys are of my age and you are a disgrace to Italians and to all decent citizens. I am going to make it my duty to destroy the menace of this gang if the job takes the rest of my time in official life."

During his stay in the district Judge Borelli learned the names of several receivers of stolen property with whom the gang dealt, and warrants have been issued for their arrest.

Tonight police again penetrated the gang haunts and brought in seven prisoners. The men were locked up for further investigation.

4 GIRLS SEIZED HERE IN MANN ACT PROBE

U. S. Agents Arrest Quartet for Quiz in Baltimore in Tea House Case.

Department of Justice agents working in Washington yesterday rounded up four women who were at liberty under bail as Maryland State witnesses in the Bladensburg, Md., tea house killing and hurried them back to Baltimore. After questioning, they were remanded to Baltimore City Jail as Federal witnesses against four men accused of violating the Mann act.

Another development in the shooting came with the announcement last night that pictures of Peter Abbott, Philadelphia suspect, have been identified as one of the bandit gang by persons wounded in the gun battle. The four men, against whom the women will appear as witnesses, also are involved in the tea house killing. The women were arrested on bench warrants issued by Judge William C. Coleman, in United States District Court in Baltimore. They were immediately taken to Baltimore where they were quizzed by Simon E. Sobeloff, United States attorney. After questioning they were held in default of $5,000 bail.

Identification Source Secret.

They identified themselves as Miss Jean Gordon, Miss Mae Dix, Miss Susan Reynolds and Miss Margie Kushner. Those charged with the Mann act violations are: Charles Levitt, proprietor of the Old Colonial Tea House at Bladensburg; William Hancock, alias John Martin; John J. Bartlett, alias "Man of War," and Chester Clark.

Baltimore detectives working on the case declined to say which of the five persons had made the identification of Abbott, fearing reprisals. The two most seriously wounded were yesterday taken to Gallinger Hospital, while the other three were taken to the District Jail. Those in the jail are being held in bond of $10,000 each on warrants sworn out by the Department of Justice.

All the wounded had been at Casualty Hospital since the shooting on November 23, but Charles Leavitt, Norman Garrey and Mrs. Verne Edwards have recovered sufficiently to be taken to the jail. Leavitt and Garrey are named in Justice warrants charging violations of the Mann act, while Mrs. Edwards is being held as a material witness against the men. Those in Gallinger are Thomas Simone, alleged member of the bandit gang, who was shot in both legs, and Felix Bocchicchio, guard at the house, who is wanted for murder in Philadelphia.

The pictures of Abbott were brought to Washington yesterday by Detective William Feehley, of Baltimore, who questioned Abbott in Philadelphia on Wednesday. Abbott is alleged to be the bandit who wore a white mask, and was apparently the leader of the five men. His arrest was made at the request of two Baltimore detectives who had probed the activities of Simone, who was unable to flee after the holdup.

Extradition proceedings had not started last night, according to State's Attorney Alan Bowie, as the identification was made late in the afternoon. It is understood that Abbott has two lawyers and will fight any move to return him to Maryland. No warrant has been sworn out for him.

Relatives Defend Simone.

Warrants charging Leavitt and Garrey with being fugitives from justice in Maryland were issued yesterday by Washington authorities. The fugitive warrants state that they are wanted for murder in Prince Georges County, where the shooting took place.

The wife and mother of Simone visited him yesterday in the hospital. His wife, in talking to reporters, defended the man, and said:

"He's just a big, playful boy."

The two women came from Philadelphia by bus and stopped off at the police station in Hyattsville to get permission to see the wounded man. They plan to return to Philadelphia tonight, they said. Mrs. Simone reiterated her statement that her husband had met a friend and come to Bladensburg merely for a ride on the night of the battle.

Two witnesses of the shooting were requestioned yesterday, but neither of them was able to give police any additional information. They were Miss Anna Lechlider, who was taken to the place by Grover Amick, the one man killed, and Samuel Kushner. Police asked Kushner to return for questioning several days ago and Miss Lechlider was brought out by her father.

A phone call to the house, made shortly after the shooting by one of the girl occupants, was also traced yesterday. It was made from the home of Mrs. Louise Talbott, who lives only a few hundred feet from the tea house.

Returned to Tea House.

Mrs. Talbott was awakened by the barrage of shots, she said last night, and then heard a woman screaming outside the house. The woman was knocking on the door and crying out:

"Let me in—for God's sake let me in."

The girl stumbled into her kitchen and gasped out, "We've been held up, up on the hill," Mrs. Talbott said. The girl, who fits the description of Helen Conley, one of the occupants of the house, then asked if she might phone. Mrs. Talbott did not hear the number given to the operator, but overheard the conversation.

"Is everything all right," the girl asked, and then said, after a pause, "All right, then I'll be right back up." She then returned to the house, having apparently heard that the bandit gang had left.

Construction League Would Speed Building

With a reminder that it was not advanced with prime regard to the interest of the industry, the Construction League of the United States, meeting here at headquarters of the American Institute of Architects, issued a statement yesterday announcing it sustained the conclusion reached by many others that there can be no general improvement in economic conditions so long as building lags.

Bond issues for institutional and governmental construction, wherever possible, and immediate enactment of work scheduled for eventual execution were also advocated.

The league is organized for coordination and stabilization of the building industry. Representatives of leading construction elements, architects and engineers, contractors, subcontractors, labor and material producers are in attendance at the sessions.

HeatingConvention Thanked byGifford

High Employment Rate Is Held Contribution to Jobless Relief.

A telegram of congratulation from Walter S. Gifford, chairman of President Hoover's employment committee, was read before the National Warm Air Heating Association, on its statement that the industry has operated 70 per cent of normal and averaged four days a week regular employment for all employes throughout 1931. The telegram told the 19th convention, opening yesterday at the Mayflower, that the association has made "a definite contribution to the emergency unemployment problem."

Prof. Frank B. Rowley, of the University of Minnesota, told the convention that complete air conditioning for the 25,000,000 homes in the United States is soon to make its appearance. Air conditioning in the home may easily play the same part in improving economic conditions that the automobile played in 1907 and radio in 1921, he said.

The Smithsonian Institution was presented one of the first warm-air furnaces ever built in the United States, as a feature of the annual banquet last night. The plant was donated originally to the old Christ Church at Tarrytown, N. Y., in 1836 by Washington Irving.

Relatives of Dead Bricklayer Sought

Deposit Box Bares $20,000 in Holdings; Radio Appeal Considered.

Police last night planned to ask officials of broadcasting companies who have national radio hook-ups to aid in locating relatives of Michael Emmett Horgan, 70-year-old bricklayer who fell dead Monday, if relatives are not located shortly.

Horgan, whose effects indicated he possessed securities and cash aggregating $25,000 or more, had lived to himself in a lodging house at 607 Sixth street northwest for years and little was known about him. Yesterday his body was taken from Hanlon's undertaking parlors at 641 H street northeast and the casket placed in a vault in a cemetery pending location of kin, if any.

No word had been received last night from Seattle, Wash., where it was believed Horgan might have relatives. The safe deposit box owned by him in the Washington Loan & Trust Co. was opened yesterday by Detective Dennis J. Murphy, of the headquarters homicide squad and a representative of the register of wills. It was estimated that approximately $20,000 or more in first mortgage bonds and General Motors stock were in the receptacle.

Increases Sought In Charity Budgets

$81,182 More Requested by 2 Chest Organizations Due to Added Need.

Due to the largely increased demands for relief, the Associated Charities and the Citizens' Relief Association, whose funds are administered by the Associated Charities, have asked for a combined increase of $81,182.02 in their budgets for 1932, as compared with those of last year. Their requests have been submitted to the budget committee of the Community Chest, of which Joshua Evans, jr., president of the District National Bank, is chairman.

The Associated Charities asks for an appropriation of $172,460, which is $31,820.24 more than the final total chest budget to this organization in 1931, which amounted to $140,639.76.

The Citizens' Relief Association is asking for a chest appropriation of $165,571, an increase of $49,361.78 over the final chest appropriation of $116,209.22 for 1931.

The increases for 1932 are made necessary, according to Walter S. Ufford, general secretary of the Associated Charities, not alone by an increase in demands for relief, but by increased relief needed by families already under care.

Chamber to Enter 2d Year of Drive

Creed W. Fulton Is Named to Manage Campaign in Next Period.

The second year in the five-year expansion program of the Washington Chamber of Commerce will be launched at a luncheon meeting at noon Monday at the Washington Hotel, it was announced yesterday by Harry King, president of the chamber.

Creed W. Fulton has been appointed to manage the second year of the program. He will meet with majors and team captains at noon today at the headquarters of the chamber in the Homer Building. The plural membership committee, under chairmanship of George E. Keneipp, will meet at the same time at the Raleigh Hotel.

The first report luncheon of the drive will be held at the Washington Hotel next Thursday. A third and final luncheon will be held on the following Tuesday. During the first year of the expansion program, which ended a month ago, 630 new members were taken into the organization.

GREEN URGES 5-DAY WEEK AS IDLE CURE

Labor Head Says 35 Hours' Work for Period Will Halt Unemployment.

(Associated Press.)

Banishment of the unemployment bogey by means of a 5-day, 35-hour working week was proposed yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

"There will be a permanent unemployment problem" if industries insist upon working employes 50 hours a week, he told the Senate manufactures subcommittee during his plea for distribution of work.

"If every employable person who wanted a job had one, the total of work for each would be 35 hours weekly," he said. "There's work enough for all on the basis of five days a week, seven hours a day." Right now, he added, the unemployed want work, "not charity and relief."

The subcommittee, which is studying proposals for creation of an economic council, heard from Green a declaration that economic planning is necessary but "is in the early stages of development."

He urged restoration of the buying power of the masses as a valuable way of improving economic conditions. He held industry must care for workers replaced by mechanization or for other reasons no longer used.

Although he considers some form of employment insurance of value, Green declared himself against unemployment insurance based upon the premise of a permanent problem. He said supplying work was far more vital. He predicted possible governmental action to equalize distribution of national income.

"If industry is not going to distribute it in wages, the Government is in taxes," he said.

His recommendations for improving conditions were:

1. Universal application of the best practices developed by industries.

2. Development and application of principles of coordinated control on various levels paralleling the interdependence of economic groups and undertakings.

3. Extensions of knowledge of the facts of distribution and provision of mechanism that will keep the flow of consumer income adequate to capacity production for the purpose of raising living standards.

4. Organization of workers to advance their interests as partners in industry in line with all other investors and participation in efforts to maintain balance between production and consumption.

Clarence M. Woolley, New York manufacturer, told the committee he favored modification of the Sherman antitrust law to meet present conditions. He suggested changing an "arbitrary dictate of an agricultural people into a workable principle in the public interest of an industrial nation."

If industry were permitted to regulate production in the public interest, he said, many major problems would be solved.

Woolley contended there was not sufficient wide fundamental knowledge to make a national economic council workable. He believes statistics being compiled by the recent economic changes committee will be a great aid to such a plan when completed.

Bridegroom Policeman Honored by His Fellows

Private H. A. Sauer, and his bride, the former Miss Nellie E. Fouche, of Vienna, Va., were given best wishes for a happy married life along with a handsome wedding present by fellow policemen at the Thirteenth Precinct Station yesterday.

Private Sauer and Miss Fouche were married November 7. Yesterday Lieut. W. A. Carlin rounded up his men and called the bridegroom in for the presentation ceremony. Members of the precinct force had chipped in and bought a 4-piece silver coffee set as a wedding present.

PROGRESSIVES PLAN FIGHT OVER MOSES

surely elect Key Pittman, of Nevada, as president pro tempore, and take over control of the Senate.

However, the Progressives have no intention of doing this. They plan to vote for another Republican, and among those they are booming is Senator McNary, of Oregon, who doesn't want it, and Senator Jones, of Washington, who is said to be anything but enthusiastic about Moses.

The result in this case would be a deadlock, because it requires a majority to elect a president pro tempore. The Democratic candidate might have more votes than either of the two Republicans, but until he could get more than the two together he could not hope to win.

Of course, if Senator Moses went over to the Democrats, and if he could persuade a few others to go over, he could give the Democrats control and thus get back at the Progressives. However, nobody expects that Moses would do this.

Moreover, it is doubtful if the Democrats would want control unless they had an actual paper majority of the Senate. Quite a few of them have said as much.

If a group of Republicans should attempt to force control on the Democrats, Minority Leader Joe Robinson could frustrate this by the simple expedient of telling Democrats to make themselves scarce during the voting.

In the view of many, the Republican Progressives are simply trying to humiliate Moses. The Democrats have nothing against the New Hampshire senator; in fact, most of them are very fond of him.

That being so, it was suggested that some of them might actually go so far as to vote for him in order to frustrate the Progressives.

The Progressives, realizing that a deadlock is likely to ensue if they vote for a Republican other than Moses, and realizing further that, under the rules, Moses stays in "until his successor is appointed," have another scheme in mind.

They plan to move that the office of President pro tempore be declared vacant. Here, of course, they are assuming that the Democrats would vote with them.

There is some question in their mind as to how this would work, even if such a motion were carried, for the rules say, as has been pointed out, that Moses shall stay in office until his successor has been elected.

Summed up, the fight may be a dramatic one having far-reaching consequences, or, like so many other Senate battles, it may prove a flop.

NEGROES TO FORM "RAINBOW CIRCLE"

Fraternal Organization Is Decided Upon as Result of Parley Response.

Whether Negroes will manufacture sheets for sale to the Ku Klux Klan or develop manufacture of "Phyllis Wheatley" cigarettes for racial consumption, as advised by Dr. W. E. B. DuBois at the Metropolitan Methodist Church last night, appeared to depend upon the ability of Judge William C. Hueston, assistant solicitor of the Postoffice Department, to organize as a part of the nonpartisan conference called here by Representative Oscar DePriest, the Rainbow Circle.

Dr. DuBois, outstanding Negro member of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People and director of its publications, discussed "Economic Opportunities of the Negro," with especial reference to how far he is to take part in modern economic reform. "The major question," he said, "is not displacement of Negroes by others in traditional jobs, but the building up of whole series of industries throughout the Southland."

President Hoover's ideal of home building was criticized by him as entirely inapplicable to cooperative home life of the future. "The power for changing our economic system," he stated, "is not with the people who sell, but with those who buy." The enthusiasm with which the address was received caused Judge Hueston to decide to launch at once the "Rainbow Circle," a fraternal and cooperative organization of colored people, to carry out the objects which DuBois laid down.

Legislation Favored.

The committee on civil service of the nonpartisan conference, headed by Robert L. Vann, of Pittsburgh, reported in favor of legislation making mandatory the appointment of the highest eligible on the civil service registers, the abolishment of the photographic system of identification, and establishment of a court of appeals for the service, of civilian personnel.

That the Negro voter be called on to give his suffrage only to men and women on record as opposed to lynching, was recommended by the committee on lynching, headed by the Rev. J. C. Austin, of Chicago. The committee based its recommendations on Woodrow Wilson's pronouncement on this subject, and called on the Christian church everywhere to teach the people the dangers of disrespect of law.

Garnet C. Wilkinson, assistant superintendent of schools, and Dr. Gilbert H. Brown, president of Wilberforce University, outlined for the conference "The Distribution of Federal Educational Funds." "Economic Opportunities for Negro Women" were treated by Nannie H. Burroughs, president of the National Training School for Women and Girls, at Lincoln Heights, while Mrs. Sallie W. Stewart, of Indiana, president of the National Association of Colored Women, discussed various ramifications of the civil service. J. Finley Wilson, grand exalted ruler of Elks, presided.

Woman Injured; Cab Driver Held

Mrs. Blanche Sawyer Treated for Possible Fracture of Skull.

A woman was seriously injured and the operator of a taxicab was held by police as the result of an accident last night at Seventeenth and K streets northwest.

Mrs. Blanche Sawyer, 62 years old, of 921 Nineteenth street northwest, was taken to Emergency Hospital with cuts about the head and a possible skull fracture. According to police, Mrs. Sawyer walked into the front fender of a cab which was driven by Marcus Aaronson, 28 years old, of 4124 Third street northwest.

Aaronson was held at the Third Precinct, charged with investigation, but was later released in the custody of his attorney. He was driving north on Seventeenth street on the green light, while Mrs. Sawyer was crossing west on K street, police say.

SALVADOR IS RULED BY REBEL REGIME

ley some 2,000 feet above sea level, although it is only 25 miles from the port of La Libertad, on the Pacific Coast. The Volcano of San Salvador overshadows the capital, and on three occasions in the last century it has caused great damage in the city.

El Salvador is a comparatively densely populated country, with about 1,437,600 inhabitants. The native race is only about 10 per cent of the population. The rest are white or mixed.

It is an agricultural country, with coffee the chief crop. In recent years the economic depression has had a serious effect on the country, but President Araujo, an engineer, who was educated in London, has repeatedly expressed great faith in the fundamental condition of the nation. In the last few weeks he had been working on a plan for solution of the coffee crisis by intensification of production to permit sale at a lower price. Recognizing that a coffee surplus already exists, he proposed that the unsold coffee be used for fertilizer, saying he was convinced such a system would benefit the nation.

Had No War Experience.

President Araujo took office last March. He was the candidate of both the Labor party and the party of the Salvadorea proletariat. Unlike many Latin-American rulers, he has had virtually no military experience and has devoted his administration to agricultural problems rather than military subjects.

(Associated Press.)

The El Salvador Legation was advised late yesterday that the revolt against President Araujo had failed and that peace had been restored in the country.

Earlier in the day the American Minister there had telegraphed the State Department reports of the outbreak Wednesday night.

Immediately after receiving word from San Salvador of the revolution, Minister Leiva went to the State Department to assure officials that there were no serious consequences as a result of the fighting.

His advices said the revolt was limited to "a small and unimportant element of the population."

Capt. A.W. Fitch to Head Langley Aviation Field

(Associated Press.)

Capt. Aubrey W. Fitch will be the new commander of the Naval Air Station at Hampton Roads, Va. The Navy Department announced yesterday that Capt. Fitch, now in command of the Aircraft Carrier Langley, would be succeeded by Capt. Kenneth Whiting, now in command at Hampton Roads.

Capt. Fitch's home is in Detroit. Before taking command of the Langley he saw varied service. He was a member of the Naval mission to Brazil from 1922 to 1927.

OKLAHOMA TO SEEK $1 TARIFF UPON OIL

Delegation to Meet Today; Smoot-Hawley Repeal Sought by Georgian.

(Associated Press.)

The tariff, a subject which vexed the last Congress for months, was bobbing up yesterday in varied forms to puzzle the legislators framing a program for the session meeting next Monday.

As the Oklahoma Democratic members of the House were called to meet today to draft a bill for an oil tariff, reports circulated of a counter-effort to bring about a complete horizontal cut in the rates of the two-year-old Smoot-Hawley bill.

Meanwhile, came new predictions that there would be no general tariff legislation put on the statute books by this Congress. The almost certain veto by President Hoover of a general downward revision was held the best assurance of this prediction.

Smoot Assails Democrats.

Representative Crisp, of Georgia, a Democratic member of the ways and means committee, which originates tariff legislation, came forward yesterday with a proposal to repeal the Smoot-Hawley measure and revert to the Fordney-McCumber act, with its lower rates, enacted in 1922.

At the same time, Senator Smoot, of Utah, coauthor of the new tariff act, assailed Democratic demands for downward revision.

"Foreign importers are steadily encroaching upon the American market at a time when domestic industry is crippled and millions are unemployed," he said. "But the Democratic leaders prefer to keep their heads in the clouds of theory, disdaining to contemplate actual conditions."

G. O. P. Independents Balk.

Lack of Republican independent support for a Democratic move for general tariff revision was indicated in a statement by Senator Borah, of Idaho, that the time was not as propitious as a year ago for downward cuts. He pointed to the fact that several foreign countries had gone off the gold standard, thereby lowering the cost of production of the goods they export to the United States.

However, the oil tariff group is planning a determined drive to get that product under the roof of protection.

Oklahomans want a duty of $1 a barrel. Senator Shortridge also has a bill for a duty of $1 a barrel with a rate of 50 per cent ad valorem on by-products.

Senator Thomas, an Oklahoma Democrat, also spoke for an oil tariff.

Judge Booth, of St. Paul, Decides to Retire Soon

(Associated Press.)

Judge Wilbur F. Booth, of the Eighth Circuit Court at St. Paul, has informed President Hoover he will retire as soon as a succesor is chosen.

Justice Department officials said Judge Booth had been eligible to retirement for some time. A successor is expected to be named soon.

FARM BOARD INQUIRY TO BE NORRIS' PLEA

Maps Resolution for Early Introduction; Stone Will Not Object.

(Associated Press.)

A thorough investigation of the Farm Board—center of a growing congressional storm—will be asked by Senator Norris.

While the Nebraskan was drafting a resolution yesterday for early introduction, Chairman Stone said that if the activities of grain, cotton and other traders are included, in the inquiry the board will not object.

Under Norris' resolution every phase of the board's activities in the last two years would be investigated by the Senate agriculture committee, with special emphasis on loans and stabilization operations.

The board's chairman, James M. Stone, repeated yesterday that although he was unconvinced of their effectiveness, he would not actively oppose congressional adoption of the equalization fee or export debenture. These plans were urged upon one Senate agriculture committee last week by national farm groups in the course of a hearing in which board officials testified at length.

Vote for Abolition.

Oklahoma's seven Democratic House members voted yesterday to favor a measure abolishing the board. One of them, Representative McClintic, is drafting a bill to carry this out.

"I am not doing this in any critical sense," Norris said of his move for an investigation, "but a lot of things developed at the recent hearings of the board that ought to be gone into."

Stone said of the proposed inquiry: "If they are going to investigate the farmers national and grain stabilization corporation (Farm Board affiliates), why not investigate the old line companies, the whole trade and all the fellows who are kicking against the agricultural marketing act? That sort of an investigation would be healthy. The same applies to cotton and all the other commodities, too."

Strong efforts are expected in Congress for passage of the fee and debenture plans with authority for the Farm Board to use either at its discretion. The fee was twice vetoed by President Coolidge. In the last Congress, the debenture was approved by the Senate, but lost in the House by 70 votes. The latter is opposed by President Hoover.

"Anything" to Help.

"I have been unable to see how either plan would help the farmer," Stone said. He added, however that he was in favor of "anything" that will help.

"If Congress wants to put them into effect we will do our best to carry them out," he said. "When you go into stabilization operations it is going to cost somebody some money. The question is to decide who is going to pay the bill. If it is to be the United States Treasury, I see no reason to change the present law."

Prospects for adoption of either of both the fee and debenture are considered favorable, especially with the Democrats certain to control the House. The Democrats lined up almost solidly behind the debenture in the House vote when the plan was attached to the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill in 1930.

Stone said yesterday the board had no more "secrets" to reveal to its critics, two of whom, Senator Byrnes, of South Carolina, and Senator King, of Utah, both Democrats, have drafted bills to abolish it.

BARRING BANKHEAD MAY BE G.O.P. AIM

Report at Senate's Inquiry Cites Thousands of Vote Irregularities.

(Associated Press.)

A report casting doubt on the legality of John H. Bankhead's election as a senator from Alabama yesterday caused Republicans to consider a move to prevent him from taking office.

Chairman Hastings submitted findings of his elections subcommittee which cited thousands of law violations in the election and suggested the possibility of fraud. Bankhead made the race against former Senator Heflin, who contested the result.

Pointing out that they had ample precedent in the Smith and Vare cases, Republican leaders who planned to let Bankhead take the oath immediately began discussion of moves to prevent it.

Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, and William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, were denied seats in 1927 after charges of excessive campaign expenditures.

Proposals to deny Bankhead his seat, if they materialize, probably will take the form of a resolution to bar him for the time being. The Senate would vote upon it.

The possibility of a fight over organization of the Senate added interest to the Republican conferences about Bankhead. The party margin is close and in the event of division among the Republicans, his vote might count heavily.

No action was taken by the committee yesterday on the Hastings report. It will meet again today to hear arguments that Bankhead exceeded the limit fixed by Alabama law for campaign expenditures.

The Heflin-Bankhead contest is a by-product of the 1928 presidential election. Because of his opposition to Alfred E. Smith, Heflin was barred from the Democratic primary in 1930 and ran as an independent against Bankhead.

Outstanding conclusions of the report were:

That violations by election officials were the rule rather than the exception and spread to every voting place examined.

That on the basis of ballots temporarily laid aside Hastings' workers could not find that the election result would be altered, but other questionable ballots might change this.

That Bankhead spent $1,500 to $2,500 more than permitted by the Alabama law disqualifying candidates with expenditures over $10,000.

That exclusion of all improperly handled ballots would make determination of the wishes of the Alabama majority impossible.

That among the law violations by election officials were failure to number the ballots in ink, failure to roll and seal the ballots, breakage of seals on ballot boxes, voting of absentees as much as ten years out of the State, voting by persons who did not pay their poll taxes until long after the legally specified time.

Opportunity for fraud, said Hastings, was ever present and the combination of circumstances "would satisfy a reasonable person that some fraud has been committed."

Babies Are Put in Training In Cradle for Life of Noise

By JOHN J. DALY

ONCE only Southern gentlemen of the old school were supposed to be high-strung.

Nowadays even the lowly factory hand jumps at the sound of a strange noise, and new noises are developing so fast the human nervous system can not keep up with them.

This is the finding of the learned psychiatrists, who show by their studies that the present civilization is making mankind fidgety as a cage full of monkeys.

If it isn't one noise it's another—clanking street cars, tooting automobile horns, screeching brakes, traffic whistles, warning shouts, catapulting ambulances, caterwauling newsboys, pistol shots, steam shovels, bumping of bumpers, tin on tin, steel on steel, smashed glass, the buzz, buzz, buzz of bustling humanity, all running around in circles, saving time, losing time, trying to get somewhere ahead of others, getting nowhere, stepping on toes, crushing, crashing, cramming, jamming, shoving, pushing, shouting, yelling, biff, bang, WHAM! —the explosion of tempers!

Noise? The din of a boiler factory would be as the silence surrounding a shrine—so still you could hear a tear drop.

Some day science may produce a new noise that will, by its very intensity and volume, blow the tops off all the heads in the universe, annihilating the race. Then there will be comparative silence—the Crack of Doom.

* * * *

OFT in the silly night modern man develops what are known as the heebeegeebees, because of constant crooning over the radio, a siren of soothing seductiveness that eventually drives people mad. Accompanying this ingratiating sound, that eventually destroys the very soul, is the rhythmic rhumballistic roll of drums in a jazz band. Thus, even if a man hides himself in a steel vault, buried below ground, he is still subject to the ether waves.

The radio, of course, can be turned off, "tuned out," but the noises of the city never cease. Night and day, in the shadow of the moon or the glare of the sun, the air is vibrant with noise—and when there are not enough noises to go around, modernists borrow and elaborate upon noises from the jungle, the barnyard and the veldt. When bigger and better noises are made America will make 'em!

Gone are the holy hours of silence, forever from the earth. Babies in their cradles are given rattles, to train them for the great strenuous competition ahead; the hullabaloo that awaits youth on the threshold to manhood and womanhood.

* * * *

IN THEIR teens, the youngsters are as noisy a lot as the earth ever saw, running wild, practicing on the streets for the nights to come when they shall take the places of their elders in the nocturnal revelries that start with noise, continue incessantly with noise until they reach a great crescendo of noise that bursts and ends in a mass headache the morning after.

Like an explosion in a paint factory, these jazz parties are not only loud but colorful as well—men and women, madcaps of the moment, blowing horns, dancing with jeers in their eyes, stepping on each others' feet, making boo-coo-de-doo-whoopee!

All part of the age, and the game, modern civilization expressing itself, noise will be noise.

MASS PRODUCTION OF HOMES URGED

Committee Suggests Corporation With Plentiful Funds Be Established

(Associated Press.)

Mass production of homes was proposed to President Hoover's conference on home building and ownership yesterday as a means of bringing them within reach of 50,000,000 clerical and industrial workers.

A powerful corporation with millions of dollars in resources was suggested by the committee on large-scale operations to carry out this giant construction scheme—designed to include single family houses as well as apartments and model tenements.

The building of a single house by one owner, "no longer typifies the methods of an industrial age," the committee said. "The present method of small-scale housing, has failed to meet the present need in both quality and in cost."

The 3,000 delegates to the conference were urged by Mr. Hoover to find a way by which homes could be bought on the easy installment plan and with better methods of construction.

Government Aid Is Urged.

Assistance of the Federal and State governments was requested by the committee on large-scale operations to insure needed financing and amendments of laws to create and facilitate the mass production corporation's activities.

"Only a corporation organized for large-scale operation, with ample funds, directed and staffed by experienced and able architects, contractors and manufactures, and enjoying the cooperation of labor and Government can produce an adequate result," the committee added.

A plentiful supply of money at low interest rates was cited as the greatest need, the committee estimating $5,500,000,000 would be required to reach 10 per cent of the Nation's population, excluding rural dwellers.

Other ways to organize these corporations were named as legislative amendments permitting corporate ownership, revision of zoning laws, tax exemption for the mass projects and condemnation privileges for acquiring land.

Mass Operations Cited.

The committee said mass operations were suitable for three city areas—the blighted or slum districts, areas where development has been arrested and outlying lands.

"The first two," it observed, "offer unusual opportunities for emergency aid in the present depression."

Congress was advised to devote any new appropriations for unemployment relief to mass housing as a sounder program than highway or public construction.

A reduction in costs of 35 per cent by these large-scale operations was seen by the committee, "a reduction sufficient to bring new living quarters within the rent range of the great mass of our citizens."

Alfred K. Stern, director of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, of Chicago, is chairman of the committee.

Truck Kills Buck Deer; Man Hurt As It Upsets

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 3 (A.P.). Leonard S. DePue got an 8-point buck deer today without going hunting, but he also got a broken rib and his truck was smashed.

The deer darted across the road into the path of the machine. It was killed by the impact, the truck turned over and DePue suffered a broken rib.

He brought the buck to Charleston, obtaining permission from the State Game, Fish and Forestry Commission to retain the deer since it was killed in one of the counties not included in the open deer season.

CHALLENGE IS SENT PRESIDENT OF PERU

Leader of Rebellion Which Failed Asks Satisfaction in Duel for Offense.

Lima, Peru, Dec. 3 (U.P.).—Gen. Pedro Pablo Martinez tonight instructed his seconds to challenge President-elect Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro to a duel.

The seconds, Gen. Julio Mindreau and Col. Leonidas Gonzalez Honderman, immediately met with the seconds of Sanchez Cerro, Gen. Oscar Benavides and Attorney Alfredo Herrera. Their session continued far into the night.

It was reported that the president-elect is willing to go ahead with the duel, although his supporters are trying to convince him that because of his official position he should not do so.

Simultaneously, the background of the controversy between Sanchez Cerro and Gen. Martinez, who was leader of an unsuccessful revolution against the former military regime headed by Sanchez Cerro, was disclosed.

Gen. Martinez demanded satisfaction for an incident which occurred at the presidential palace February 20, when Col. Sanchez Cerro suppressed the Fort Real Felipe rebellion in Callao, Port of Lima, and took the general prisoner.

Under orders of the military leader, Gen. Martinez was taken to the palace, where it was alleged that he was offended by Col. Sanchez Cerro. When he was released, he challenged the government head to a duel, but by that time the Sanchez Cerro regime had been overthrown and Supreme Justice Leoncio Elias was in power for a short time.

Elias persuaded Gen. Martinez to withdraw his challenge and the offended militarist was exiled to Chile. Recently the government gave guarantees for his personal safety and he returned to Lima by airplane last night to present his challenge again.

Meanwhile, Col. Sanchez Cerro had been elected to the presidency.

Bolivia Reports Attack By Paraguayans in Chaco

(Associated Press.)

A disturbing report from Latin America yesterday brought news to the Bolivian Legation of a new clash with Paraguay in the Chaco. It did not say whether there had been any casualties.

The Chaco has long been a disturber of peace among the southern republics. As given out by Minister Abelli and communicated to the State Department, the message said:

"We denounce new Paraguayan attack on our post at Agua Rica. According to the following radiogram from the fourth division, a Paraguayan patrol of six men appeared yesterday at Agua Rica and were repelled. By this new provocation we presume they will intend another aggression. The fourth division is ready to repel any other attack."

Neither the Paraguayan Legation nor the State Department had received reports of the fighting.

The report came as Bolivian delegates to the nonaggression pact discussions here were preparing to lay before the Paraguayans and representatives of five neutral countries a project for such an agreement.

The consensus among writers or observers was that the clash need not interrupt the negotiations and might prove a spur to reaching an accord.

Next Wednesday the negotiators are scheduled to meet at the State Department to consider the proposal, after having ironed out questions of procedure in two preliminary meetings.

DEMOCRATS EXPECTED TO OUST STEERING COMMITTEE PLAN

of the wets will take yet is to be determined. One prominent member of the House, who is a dry, predicted that not only would the wets have sufficient strength to bring a measure to the floor under the liberalized rules, but would have a chance of having passed a measure providing for a referendum. Any proposal to modify the Volstead law to provide for beer or other things, however, he predicted, would be voted down.

The wets want a vote on prohibition whether they win or lose, however, and it is probable that they will be influenced in their selection of a measure principally by their desire to get every member of the House on record, thereby forcing straddlers to jump to one side or the other. And this record they propose to use in future campaigns.

Senator Norris (Republican), of Nebraska, chairman of the Senate judiciary committee, added his voice to those who foresaw a vote on prohibition at this session. The wets, he said, could have a vote in the Senate whenever they want it, but he reiterated previous statements that there were more important things to be considered.

Representative Rainey and other House leaders among the Democrats are anxious that the fight over prohibition shall not disrupt the legislative program which is to be framed by their party. They are willing for a vote, but they want it out of the way early enough to permit consideration of legislation dealing more directly with the economic life of the Nation.

Issue to Bring Fight.

It is the method the Democrats will adopt to guide their legislative program through the House which is expected to develop a tussle in the party caucus tomorrow. The proposal to create an elective steering committee, sponsored among others by Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, who will be chairman of the appropriations committee, is opposed by others among the leaders.

They insist that the long-standing authority of the ways and means committee membership be left untouched, and they propose that members or groups who want representation on the steering committee shall seek membership on the ways and means committee.

It is planned to add six new men to the Democratic membership. There were ten Democrats and fifteen Republicans on the committee in the last Congress. Representative Garner will get off the committee. Representative Rainey will remain on it. The six men reported to have been selected for the new places are Representative W. A. Ayres, of Kansas, who has been among those said to favor a steering committee; Representative Christopher D. Sullivan, of New York; Representative John W. McCormack, of Massachusetts; Representative Dickinson, of Missouri, who formerly was a member; Representative Lewis W. Douglas, of Arizona, and Representative Morgan C. Sanders, of Texas. One of these, Representative Sullivan, would have to give up his prospective chairmanship of either the House District committee or the insular affairs committeee, which he is said to be willing to do.

Committee on Committees.

Once this plan is approved, the ways and means committee members will proceed to work as a committee on committees, and there will be a number of changes in committee assignments, designed to give places on more important committees to members now on more or less minor committees. In this realignment of assignments regard will be had for geography and upsetting of the seniority rule regarding chairmanships will be adhered to.

Representative William W. Arnold, of Illinois, has been chosen as chairman of the party caucus and will preside at the meeting tomorrow and at later meetings.

One question which is to be settled today is, who is to be party whip. Representative John McDuffie, of Alabama, has been whip under the floor leadership of Representative Garner. Mr. McDuffie's friends want him to continue in the post, which friends of Representative Arthur H. Greenwood, of Indiana, are seeking for him. Representative Rainey, as leader, will choose the man who shall act as his whip, and he is expected to settle the matter in conferences to be held today.

Seven Seek Each Seat To Hear House Clash

(Associated Press.)

At least seven persons to each seat have applied for admission to the House Monday to witness the clash between the Democrats and the Republicans over who shall control that branch of Congress.

There are 5,000 applicants for the 705 seats that are available to the public.

The parceling out of tickets will take place tomorrow morning in the office of Doorkeeper Bert Kennedy. About 700 tickets will be shaken up in a basket in the presence of members to assure equal distribution.

No one will be admitted to the galleries who does not possess a ticket. The steps in the galleries are to be used to supplement the regular seats.

POLICE ARE READY TO MEET ONCOMING HUNGER MARCHERS

quests for use of the tourist camp in East Potomac Park, which would also provide space for the trucks. He is also trying to obtain use of old St. James Hotel, which is owned by the Government. Benjamin has not yet been able to obtain either of these locations, he said.

Relief societies and other organizations here have indicated that the marchers will be fed here and in addition to this promise a local coffee dealer and representatives of a number of bakers have promised supplies of their products if needed.

Benjamin conferred with Gen. Glassford yesterday anent the problems of handling the marchers. Only $120 is available for housing the crowds, 25 per cent of whom are reported to be women, Benjamin stated, and this is not expected to go far in paying for accommodations. Only $100 deposit so far has been given authorities of the Washington Auditorium in connection with the approximately $420 required charge for three meetings planned by the demonstrators.

Glassford Makes Inspection.

With the object of finding housing facilities for the entire group in one concentration, Gen. Glassford inspected a number of places suggested for the purpose. Camp Sims, near here, which comes under the District National Guard, has been advanced and considered, but its distance and the fact that it will take care of only about 400 persons in the barracks has caused it to be rejected for the time being.

Authorities at Fort Myer have indicated that about 325 persons can be sheltered in tent facilities there and this offer is being remembered.

The local office has been in constant telegraphic communication with the four columns of marchers. The 80 trucks coming from all sections of the country will enter the city by Bladensburg road and Wisconsin avenue. The caravans will be met by a convoy of motorcycle men who will facilitate their progress through the city.

The purpose of the march, Benjamin said, is to hold a two-day conference on the unemployment situation and to present petitions asking unemployment insurance legislation, to Vice President Curtis and to the Speaker of the House. A parade through the Capitol Grounds is planned after which a committee will present the demands of the "hunger army."

This arrangement will be allowed by police as long as no banners are displayed. Gen. Glassford has assured the group protection as long as there are no disorderly demonstrations or disregard of the law. Parking facilities for the vans will be provided by police.

Benjamin in his efforts to provide housing for the marchers, said he is seeking the aid of Senator Frazier, of North Dakota, in getting permission to use the tourist camp. The best plan, he declared, would be to quarter them in one spot, but if necessary he would arrange to place the marchers in private homes.

Mackey Describes March As Politically Inspired

Philadelphia, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Mayor Harry Mackey today telegraphed Gov. Pinchot that Philadelphia will not give official assistance to a group of men on their way to Washington, which he termed "a politically inspired and financed expedition to embarrass the President and lawmakers."

"A demand has been made upon me," the telegram read, "to house and feed 500 men on the way to Washington. I declined to be their host. They are being looked after along the way by Communists and Reds. Only such have interested themselves in this alleged march in Philadelphia."

The telegram was prompted by Gov. Pinchot's reported answer to Michael Burd, who requested that constitutional rights be guaranteed at a scheduled demonstration. The governor's reply was reported to state that he had no control over Philadelphia's mayor or police but that he would continue to protect "constitutional rights of all citizens."

Two Cities in Maryland Refuse to Assist Army

Hagerstown, Md., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Two Maryland cities today declined to provide food and shelter for the caravan of unemployed, en route to Washington, to present appeals to Congress and the President.

Herbert Benjamin, field agent for the caravan, was denied "two hot meals and shelter in the heated State armory" when he appeared before Mayor Reuben Meusey.

Benjamin came here from Cumberland, where he met a like refusal from Mayor Thomas W. Koon and the city council, which was in session when he arrived.

Officials of both cities said they had raised funds for the care of their own needy, and had no available money to provide food for the 200 persons Benjamin said were in the caravan.

Police chiefs of both cities said the motorcade would be protected but no demonstration would be allowed.

Representative Urges Distillery Opening

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Opening of the old Clark's distillery in Peoria for the manufacture of industrial alcohol from corn and other grain was suggested by Representative William E. Hull, of Peoria, today as a practical measure of farm relief.

Representative Hull asked the United States Industrial Alcohol Co., present owners of the distillery, to open the plant after receiving word in his Washington office that the American Commercial Alcohol plant in Pekin would reopen Saturday and grind 6,000 bushels of grain a day.

PRESIDENT OF CUBA PLANS RESIGNATION

tion of a vice president, an office which has hitherto been lacking in the Cuban doctrine of government. The constitutional provision for the election of a vice president would naturally not be put into execution until the normal expiration of the present term of office of President Machado which will be in 1933. Political leaders of all complexions are unanimous that this will be the minimum time required for the formation of a vigorous opposition and the adequate preparation of a constitutional change as envisaged by President Machado. Machado can resign his office after 1933 and a constitutional successor is provided.

Liberals Still Too Strong.

If the elections were held next fall, as suggested by some, the victory of the Liberal party, at present in control of the government, would be so sweeping as to give rise to some suspicions that the date had been fixed with the intention of suppressing all opposition. However, President Machado is desirous to revert to the constitution for the approval of all future changes in government and, under these conditions, he has told some of his closest friends that he will not permit another election until such time as there seems to be reasonable assurance that the usual opposition will be included.

The recent revolution of Cuba resulted in a complet victory of the forces of President Machado. However, in some respects it was a Pyrrhic victory. The government has been forced to the most stringent measures of economy. The salaries of all government employes have been cut some 60 per cent.

This condition of general distress is so acute that even former President Menocal and his entire family are in distress. Menocal is in prison at the moment for his participation in the revolution of last summer, but his release is expected shortly.

However, dissension has developed in the ranks of the opposition, which ranges from the intense conservatism of Senor Menocal to the ultra-radicalism of Senor Mendiena. While Menocal was President of Cuba, he imprisoned Mendieta and now they are both occupants of the same prison. Their association has not served to mitigate the differences between them, according to reports reaching here, and one of the objects of the visit of Senor de la Torriente was to conciliate such dissident elements for the general regeneration of an opposition party.

Ann Harding Suffers Shoulder Dislocation

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Ann Harding, film actress, was confined to her hotel room here today with a dislocated shoulder but she doesn't know how it happened.

En route from California to Venice, Fla., to make exterior scenes of a picture in which she will appear, she was beset with pain on reaching Jacksonville last night, so she left her train and summoned a physician. Her secretary, Miss Maria Lombard, said the actress thought the pains came from neuritis until the doctor found the dislocation. Miss Harding could offer no explanation of how or when she was injured.

Woman Held for Killing Mother for Humanity

Copenhagen, Denmark, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Mrs. Else Wille Bang, 32, was charged today on her own confession with the murder of her mother, Baroness von Dueben, who had suffered for years from an incurable disease. The baroness died last week from an overdose of medicine which her daughter admitted administering.

Her case will be heard shortly by a jury which for the first time in Denmark will have to decide whether a woman who kills her mother from motives of humanity is guilty of murder.

MERGER ANNOUNCED OF NEW YORK BANKS

Directors of Manufacturers Trust and Chatham Phenix Vote Step.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The board of directors of the Manufacturers Trust Co. and of the Chatham Phenix National Bank & Trust Co. today voted to merge the two institutions.

The new bank will have combined resources of $550,000,000 and deposits in excess of $400,000,000. Announcement of the merger was made by Harvey D. Gibson, president of the Manufacturers Trust. Mr. Gibson said:

"Necessary steps will be immediately taken to submit the terms of the merger to the stockholders of the two companies for ratification.

"The terms of the merger involve the creation of 546,750 shares of new stock of the Manufacturers Trust Co. of a par value of $25 to be issued in exchange for 810,000 shares of the stock of the Chatham Phenix, now outstanding, at a par value of $20 a share. The stockholders of the Manufacturers Trust will retain their present holdings of 1,100,000 shares.

"The boards of directors of the merged institutions will be reconstituted and will include members of both existing boards.

"The institution resulting from the merger will have a new name to be announced later. As it is not expected that the necessary legal steps to consummate the merger can be completed before the first of February, both institutions will declare their regular dividends for the fourth quarter of this year."

It was also announced that Mr. Gibson would be chairman of the board of directors and president of the new bank.

This is the second notable New York banking merger within less than two weeks. The first was a consolidation of the National City Bank and the Bank of America which created the second largest institution of its kind in the United States, with resources aggregating $2,103,000,000 and deposits of $1,569,000,000.

The Manufacturers Trust resources September 30, were $358,155,603, of which deposits were $255,701,000. The Chatham Phenix reported on September 29 total resources of $236,262,000, of which $159,006,887 was in deposits.

Mr. Gibson became president of the Liberty National Bank in 1917 at the age of 34, and was the youngest bank president in New York.

The new merged Manufacturers Trust and Chatham Phenix will have more than 60 branches in greater New York, and while in point of total resources the new institution will be substantially smaller than some of the largest banks in New York, it will rate among the important institutions.

Finland Cites Crime Gains In Asking Dry Referendum

Helsingfors, Finland, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The Finnish government tonight asked the Diet to authorize a referendum to determine whether prohibition shall be continued, repealed outright, or modified to permit medium strength wines and beer.

With the referendum measure the government submitted a statement declaring that during the 12 years prohibition has been in effect none of the expected changes in the nation's habits has occurred.

Contrarily, the government statement said, the conflict between the law and the predilictions of the people had led to brazen and pernicious violations of the statute.

Destructive influences have been brought to bear against respect for law in general, the government statement asserted, because violations of the dry law have become so common.

In addition to the prevalence of drunkenness, the government cited a considerable increase in crimes of violence, and declared intoxicants had played a large part in it.

A special criminal profession has come into being, utilizing the situation which prohbiton opened up, the government statement said, and thus public justice has been threatened by those who wish to obtain alcohol illegally.

The ministry's declaration averred the evils of prohibition had loomed larger than the benefits of increased sobriety brought about by the law in many parts of the country.

Furthermore, the government declared, prohibition has had unfavorable financial effects, causing a heavy tax burden to be laid on citizens living on legal incomes while those living on the illegal sale of alcohol are free from taxation.

Liquor Taxes Needed.

Finland's financial position is such that it has become extremely difficult to balance income and expenditure and sooner or later liquor taxation must be resorted to, the government statement said.

The debate on the measure in the Diet was the signal for an intensive campaign by the opponents of prohibition for outright appeal when the referendum is taken, probably December 29 and 30.

The National Temperance Association, which is Finland's central anti-prohibition orgánization, called a mass meeting for Sunday to prepare for the campaign and arrange committees throughout the country.

Both the antagonists or prohibition and its supporters took a pessimistic view of the situation tonight.

Certain antiprohibition leaders said their position was weaker because they were without a large campaign fund comparable with that of the prohibitionists. The prohibitionists, on the other hand, declared wet propaganda had gained such a head start recently, it might be difficult to counteract it in the short time remaining before the referendum.

BOY KILLED, 20 HURT IN EXPLOSION AT FIRE

Terrific Gas Blast Inside of Burning House Showers Crowd With Debris.

Berkeley, Calif., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Sherman Pepper, 16, was killed and between 18 and 20 maimed and injured late today when a terrific gas explosion inside a flaming residence threw burning debris over a crowd of spectators.

The fire was at the residence of Norman Saunders, at Cedar and Le Roy streets. A large crowd had gathered to witness the flames.

The residence was about half burned when the explosion occurred. The blast, detonations of which were heard throughout the East Bay, shattered that part of the house which remained standing, hurling flaming boards into the spectators.

So terrific was the explosion that the side of an adjoining residence, owned by W. F. Sargent, was ripped out. Several persons in the house were injured.

Homes in the surrounding vicinity were shaken by the blast, and windows in residences blocks away were broken.

Every available ambulance in Berkeley, and some from Oakland was summoned and the injured were extricated from the burning debris.

Fire department officials said they believed a leaky gas pipe, coupled with the fire in the Saunders residence, caused the explosion. The blaze started in the kitchen, and spread rapidly. A gas heater in the basement was leaking, firemen said, and when the blaze reached this spot the explosion followed.

Sherman Pepper, the victim, was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Pepper. Dr. Pepper is a professor in the philosophy department at the University of California.

HOOVER TO ADDRESS CONGRESS ON FEB. 22

Will Appear Before Joint Session at Opening of Bicentennial Fete.

(Associated Press.)

After five years, a President of the United States will stand once more before a joint session of Congress—this time in honor of the 200th birthday anniversary of the first President, George Washington.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, made this known yesterday after he was called hurriedly to the White House by President Hoover. Mr. Hoover had agreed to address a joint session on February 22, he said. The speech will inaugurate the huge Washington bicentennial celebration.

President Coolidge, on February 22, 1927, was the last Chief Executive to stand before an assemblage of both branches of the Federal Legislature. But even then he looked for[illegible] to the coming celebration.

"On the 22d day of February 1932," Coolidge said, "America will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. Wherever there are those who love ordered liberty, they may well join in the observance of that event. Although he belongs to us, yet by being a great American he became a great world figure."

Before he left the White House, Swanson said, the President agreed to view the bicentennial parade in Alexandria, Va., after addressing Congress, and later to journey to Mount Vernon.

Seal Sale Benefit Shown in Report

Nine Chest Clinics Held in Arlington County During Year.

The antituberculosis work made possible in Arlington County through the sale of Christmas seals is shown in the annual report of Dr. P. M. Chichester, county health officer, made public yesterday.

There were nine chest clinics held during the year and 82 adults and 88 children ranging from 1 to 12 years were examined. "These children," the report states, "might be looked upon as selected cases, most of them having been exposures or intimate contacts. Of the 88 children examined, 30 were positive or suspicious to the test."

The report further states that the money used for carrying on these clinics is not supplied out of the county health department budget, but entirely through the sale of Christmas seals. The next clinic will be held Thursday, December 10, from 10 o'clock until 1, at the Jefferson District Health Center. It will be conducted by Dr. H. A. Latane, of Alexandria.

Geographic Group To Hear Dr. Walsh

Georgetown Man Will Tell of Air Survey Made in Desert of Iraq.

Observations of archeology from an airplane will be described by the Rev. Edmund Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University, when he addresses members of the National Geographic Society this evening at the Washington Auditorium.

Dr. Walsh will tell of three months' travel in the desert of Iraq, where he observed Pere Poidebard, French archeologist, discovering hitherto unknown Roman forts, outpost cities, and arterial roads by means of shadows in the desert sands observed from the air.

Dr. Walsh encountered the Citroen-Haardt transaslatic expedition, with which the National Geographic Society is cooperating. He was marooned for several weeks in an isolated fort of the French Foreign Legion, where a rainstorm turned the desert into a morass of mud. The lecture will be illustrated by motion pictures and colored slides.

Boys Held as Runaways Are Taken After Escape

Charles Leinbach and George Henry Johnson, both 14 years old, held for the Baltimore police as runaways, escaped from the dentention room at police headquarters in Alexandria yesterday morning by removing the iron bars from the frame sash. Johnson was injured by the 20-foot fall and was found by a passerby and taken to the Alexandria Hospital and treated for lacerations on the back of his head and the right arm. Leinbach was caught in Cottage Park, in the northern section of the city, by Mark Anderson, and brought back to headquarters.

Both boys are students of the Francis Scott Key School in Baltimore, and while en route to school yesterday decided to run away. They stated a colored truck driver gave them a lift to Washington.

other hand, the suggestion that Germany may be placing her worst foot forward deliberately, against the forthcoming meeting of the Bank of International Settlements' experts at Basel, Switzerland, to examine into her capacity to carry on the Young plan annuities schedule.

May Work Out Relief.

Meanwhile, two spokesmen for the United States' interest in Germany are en route to Europe to participate in the early conferences which some sections of official opinion here hope may afford a longer breathing spell than was extended under the Hoover moratorium and the "stand still" agrement covering private loans.

Albert H. Wiggins, chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank, of New York, is en route to Berlin to meet with German bankers on December 10, in an effort to work out some extensions of this agreement, which expires February 29. On the same ship is Walter Stewart, techical expert of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, who is on his way to Basel to participate in the Bank of International Settlements' inquiry into the future of the Young plan.

Although Mr. Stewart spent an hour and a half with President Hoover last Monday, immediately before sailing, there has been no intimation that the White House is yet concerned beyond following day-to-day developments in the new German crisis.

AKRON BANKER HELD IN THEFT OF $80,000

Alleged Embezzlement Is Laid by Associates to Market Losses.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Said by his fellow officers to have been caught by the stock market crash which left him an alleged shortage of $400,000, William J. Ruof, 44, vice president of the First City Trust Co., of Akron, was held tonight on a charge of embezzling $80,000 of the company's funds.

Ruof, banker, real estate operator and clubman, who was held in high esteem by Akron citizens for many years, pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned before United States Commissioner B. D. Nicola and was placed under $70,000 bond. The banker was arrested in a Cleveland hotel earlier in the day on a Federal warrant issued by United States District Attorney Wilfred J. Mahon.

The banker would make no statement. Just before Ruof was arraigned, U. S. District Attorney William McDermott alleged that he admitted the peculations.

Despite the fact that the warrant charged the violations occurred November 9, officials of the Akron Bank said they occurred over a period of several years while he was executive vice president of the Central Depositors Banking & Trust Co.

Harry Williams, president of the First Central Trust, a $75,000,000 institution, which was recently formed by the merger of the Central depositors and the First City Trust & Savings Bank, said Ruof, during that time had created shortages in his accounts amounting to $400,000.

As ranking official of the old bank, Ruof, his fellow officers said, was able to conceal the losses. But as the work of organizing the new bank was being completed, with Ruof no longer ranking officer, the shortages came to light.

Williams said there would be no loss to the bank, for the alleged defalcation is adequately covered by insurance.

tion, but that he would go over it carefully and report to the Nationalist leaders in India. He leaves for home, via Paris and Geneva, on Saturday.

Gandhi was particularly bitter in reference to the government's action in giving Indian authorities drastic powers to stamp out political terrorism in Bengal, the great Eastern province which has Calcutta as its chief city.

"The Bengal ordinance would be a case in which the congress could order civil disobedience," he said. "I regard it as a cause for war if it is enforced.

"I can hardly imagine any civilized nation imposing such an ordinance. There is no justification for it."

Churchill's amendment to the government declaration provided:

1—Parliament will not be committed to establishment of a dominion constitution in India as defined under the statute of Westminster. This statute severs all legalities with the British government.

2—British trade will be effectively safeguarded.

3—The extension of self-government at present will not impair the ultimate responsibility of Parliament for peace, order and good government in India.

"Owing to the political, social, cultural, racial and religious conditions, an attempt to apply democratic institutions similar to those in Australia would produce tyranny, misery, bloodshed and probably utter confusion in India," Churchill contended.

Robert, who was active in church affairs, told officers he was angry because his foster mother would not let him take a trip to Chicago.

"Old Three Toes" Caught at Last, but Not by Baseball Figure.

Cherryvale, Kans., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—"Old Three Toes," elusive raccoon of the Verdigris River and Big Hill Creek, has been captured and Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington Nationals, owes his captor $25.

Ed Ballew will receive the reward offered by the noted baseball player after Johnson's repeated failures to capture the cunning animal with the Johnson pack of hounds. The honor of ending the six-year battle of wits between the 34-pound river-type raccoon and numerous packs of hounds and scores of hunters goes to Ballew's dog Heinie.

"Old Three Toes" paraded all his strategy in his last effort to escape. There were circles and cut backs to be unraveled, the crossing of Big Hill Creek on a grapevine and a final leap of 7 feet into his home tree to be overcome. The animal, which had achieved a reputation throughout the countryside, apparently as a youngster had lost the great toe of his left hind foot in a trap, and thus acquired his name.

RICHEY MENTIONED IN POSTAL INQUIRY

Senators Told Hoover Aid Asked About Good and St. Paul Lease.

(Associated Press.)

A Senate committee was told yesterday that Lawrence Richey, one of President Hoover's secretaries, inquired in 1928 whether the connection of the late James W. Good with a St. Paul postoffice lease made his selection as Republican national committee chairman unwise. Good was named Secretary of War by President Hoover after the presidential election.

Assistant Director Charles H. Fullaway, of the Budget Bureau, testified before the Senate postoffice lease investigating body, headed by Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, that Richey reached him on the matter at Minneapolis before the election.

Fullaway said he told Richey his only information was hearsay and referred him to District Attorney Fesler, of St. Paul, who conducted the grand jury investigation into the lease matter.

Told Richey Good Involved.

The witness said Fesler informed Richey that Good was involved with the lease and that he would gladly take papers to Washington to prove it.

The circumstances surrounding the lease by the Government of a building in St. Paul for a commercial postoffice were gone into by the Blaine committee at the last session.

Good's name was mentioned then. Former Assistant Postmaster General Bartlett testified Good was in the office of former Postmaster General New when the lease was ordered executed.

Representative Haas (Republican), Minnesota, and others had charged that the Government paid an exorbitant price for the building and that the circumstances involved were suspicious.

In response to a question from Blaine, Fullaway said he did not know what Richey's relation to Mr. Hoover was in 1928, although he "understood" he was connected with him in some manner when Mr. Hoover was Secretary of Commerce.

New's Attitude Described.

Fullaway described a conference in 1926 between the then Postmaster General New and former Budget Director Lord in which the former said Good had come to him about the proposed lease. New was quoted as saying he told Good the lease would be "all right with him" if he could get the consent of Lord and Comptroller General McCarl.

Fullaway then asserted Lord denied to New that he ever gave his consent to the lease. Fullaway also said the substance of the conversation was that the St. Paul matter was one which had been "passed to them by the previous administration."

The original lease on the property was made in 1921 during the Harding administration. A later lease made in 1925 was a twenty-year noncancellable contract involving a slightly decreased rental.

A Federal grand jury at St. Paul early in 1928 declared the second lease fraudulent and recommended a Department of Justice investigation.

"DUSTOP"

THE Owens-Illinois Glass Company, Toledo, organized some seventy-five years ago as a glass container manufacturer, and today one of the largest glass manufacturers in the world, after long study and laboratory research into the requirements of industry, announces "DUSTOP" air filter.

Realizing the ever-increasing demand for clean air, made necessary through the congestion of our cities and dusty manufacturing operations, Owens-Illinois offers "DUSTOP" as a complete, self-contained air filter unit, in which a specially treated "glass wool" serves as the filtering medium.

"DUSTOP" is extremely simple of design and is so LOW IN PRICE as to make feasible the REPLACEMENT of the complete unit when dirty. The replacement of a dirty unit is very easily and simply accomplished, no cleaning whatsoever being necessary.

This air filter unit is of unique design in several respects. The container is of paper, which adds to the lightness of the unit and renders it readily disposable. While it weighs but two pounds, it will absorb dust in excess of its own weight. The "flexibility" of the paper container establishes a tight seal between the filter and the metal frame into which it fits, thus preventing the passage of any unfiltered air around the unit.

With a view toward effecting further economies in the use of "DUSTOP," it has been designed 2 inches in thickness, so that when a standard 4-inch pack is established by using two units in tandem, or two units placed face to face, it is only necessary to change one-half the thickness of the total pack at one time.

"DUSTOP" is of extremely low resistance and is exceptionally efficient. Two units in tandem will remove 99% and more of the dust from the air.

In offering "DUSTOP" the Owens-Illinois Glass Company makes a contribution to industry and to the home in the interest of clean air at the LOWEST POSSIBLE COST, and with a unit in which the servicing factor is reduced to a minimum.

CHINA LOSES MANCHURIA.

Japanese forces have settled down in Manchuria for the winter, and the foreign office of Tokyo is maneuvering to delay any change in the situation until spring. The weather element looms up significantly in the picture. The Japanese troops are not accustomed to the cold of Manchurian winters. Fear of fresh aggression may be suspended until the advent of warmer weather.

It is obvious that Japan is merely attempting to delay any decisive action by the League of Nations until her purpose in invading Manchuria has been accomplished. Japan will consent to a neutral zone at Chinchow only on condition that the troops of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, deposed Governor of Manchuria, withdraw into China proper. This would leave the Japanese in control without opposition. They are so securely intrenched that they ask the Chinese to withdraw peacefully and leave three provinces of China, as large as both France and Italy, under Japanese control.

Japan further objects to any agreement specifying a time limit for the withdrawal of her troops. The Tokyo government is willing to promise that no further military action will be taken—except where banditry may require repressive measures. Japan insists on being free to subdue bandits, which may be construed to mean any Chinese force that may be assembled in Manchuria. This provision in the suggested agreement would leave Japan free to resume hostilities at any time.

Chinese armies can not be controlled from Nanking. Every general, governor or other high official has a military force of his own. Gen. Ma Chen-shan has been fighting the Japanese in guerilla fashion without direction or support from the National government. President Chiang Kai-shek could not control the military factions in Manchuria if he tried. For this reason it becomes extremely difficult to bind Japan to any course of action or to negotiate any valid agreement.

The League of Nations failed to stop Japan's aggressive action. If aggression is temporarily suspended, it is only because the weather makes further military action this winter impractical. Japan will desist from her Manchurian conquest only on terms that will provide an easy resumption at the strategic moment. In the present negotiations an equitable settlement has been abandoned in favor of face-saving gestures. Frigid temperatures on the plains of Manchuria may save the league from the appearance of complete failure at present, but the problem will be merely postponed until a later date. Manchuria has been lost to China, and no force other than Chinese arms can win it back.

SYNTHETIC PRODUCTION.

The growing desire for industrial independence in every country has given great impetus to the development of synthetic processes. Industry is continually struggling to rid itself of geographical handicaps in the supply of raw materials by seeking to discover substitutes. The zeal for these discoveries has led to many startling developments that have worked hardships on established industries and often resulted in overproduction. But the efforts of laboratory workers to outstrip nature continue, despite overproduction and duplication of existing sources of supply.

New processes have resulted in breaking monopolies in some instances. In the case of ammonia, the monopoly formerly held by Chile was broken so completely that plants erected in various parts of the world are today capable of supplying the entire demand for fixed nitrogen through synthetic processes. During the war countries lacking fuel petroleum discovered a method of liquefying coal, thereby producing a motor fuel and lubricant substitute. One of the war expedients which survived was the substitution of whale oil for butter and edible fats. At first the product was unpalatable and easily recognized, but now much of the artificial butter contains 60 per cent whale oil, so expertly refined that even a connoisseur has difficulty in distinguishing it from real butter.

Napoleon's efforts to stimulate the growth of beets for sugar destroyed the sugar monopoly of the colonies. Today chemists are looking even further for a source of this food, and a trace of sugar has been discovered in cellulose and coal. One of the most successful substitutes is artificial leather, which is used in millions of automobiles as well as for all types of goods which had employed the genuine article. Precious stones and ivory are now manufactured expertly, and silk has been replaced by a synthetic product in many lines. Some of these developments have been made possible by tariff protection and others by direct subsidies from governments.

WRANGLING OVER LIQUOR.

The prospective vote on the prohibition issue in the forthcoming Congress is magnified out of all proportion to its significance. Leaders in both the Senate and House appear to be willing that each member of Congress be given an opportunity to write himself down either "wet" or "dry." But this vote will not change the situation.

The prohibition issue criss-crosses through both parties. Senator Bingham (Republican), of Connecticut, will introduce a repeal amendment. Representative Linthicum (Democrat), of Maryland, is taking leadership of the wet forces in the House. From a political viewpoint the most important result of a prohibition squabble in Congress will be the revival of factional feuds, especially within the Democratic party. The Democratic row over prohibition is already well advanced, thanks to Mr. Raskob.

Dry leaders apparently have consented to an expression of sentiment on the liquor issue because they know full well what the result will be. The wets can not command more than 150 to 170 votes out of 531. Even those wet votes are hopelessly divided between innumerable schemes for modification or repeal. The showing in behalf of any single wet measure that is submitted to either house will be unimpressive.

Under ordinary circumstances this proposed free-for-all on the liquor issue would be a harmless process of relieving tension, but at present vital economic questions are pressing for action by Congress. New taxes must be levied, economies must be effected, banking laws ought to be adjusted to current needs, the Hoover moratorium must be approved and countless other economic problems will be thrust before Congress on its opening day. Yet it appears that Congress intends to sidetrack this serious business and engage in a squabble that can settle nothing.

Congress will have a hard time to give a good account of itself during the coming session in any circumstances. But the precipitation of the liquor squabble into the midst of the legislative program precludes the hope that factionalism and futile crusading will be suspended in the interests of the general welfare.

HIGH TARIFF DEMOCRATS.

The tariff rate changes approved by President Hoover on recommendation of the Tariff Commission furnish an interesting sidelight to the controversy on this subject that is taking shape on Capitol Hill. In a majority of the cases referred to the commission it has recommended that the rates fixed by Congress be preserved. All but two of the seventeen opinions that have just been acted upon were unanimous, even though the commission is composed of three Democrats and three Republicans. Apparently the Democratic economists on the commission do not share the political view of their party that the tariff is too high.

Vice Chairman Thomas Walker Page dissented from the findings of the commission on window glass and cement, suggesting lower duties in each case. It is interesting to note that it was another Democrat, Senator Copeland, who insisted on a duty of 6 cents for cement when the law was enacted. The New York Times refers to the retention of this protective barricade for cement as a victory for Senator Copeland.

When it is a matter of protecting enterprises in their home States Democrats can plead as earnestly as Republicans for high tariff rates. Representative William P. Connery, jr., Democrat, of Massachusetts, appeared before the commission and asked it to save the shoe industry of his home district from overwhelming competition from Czechoslovakia. The commission found that Czechoslovakian shoes of certain types were underselling the American product and jeopardizing the industry. A higher rate was ordered.

The Democrats of Massachusetts had no thought of going down beneath foreign competition with their colors flying to vindicate the principles of their party. Of course, they are willing to fight for low tariffs so long as they apply to Texas and Nevada. But if a Democrat from the Bay State makes a gesture in deference to free trade on the floors of Congress he must expiate by pleading for higher duties on home products before the Tariff Commission.

These events behind the scenes, so to speak, are interesting because they suggest the duplicity of the Democratic stand on the tariff. Each Democrat wants lower duties for all products save those in which he is interested. Members of the party in Congress have to choose between devotion to an obsolete ideal and protection for their constituents. Even Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, wavers on principle when long staple cotton is at stake. Senator Pat should be thankful that he has not been called upon to defend the long staple cotton duty before the Tariff Commission.

PERU'S NEW PRESIDENT.

The inauguration of Luis M. Sanchez Cerro was a fitting epilogue to the only constitutional election in the history of Peru. The oath of office was taken by the new president before the Congress, which likewise had been constitutionally elected. During the electoral period the expected riots and disorders were conspicuously absent and for more than a month, while the efectoral vote was being counted, there were only a few minor clashes between rival camps to mar the general tranquillity. Such order was hardly anticipated even by the most optimistic observers.

Last February Sanchez Cerro was forced to resign the presidency which he had assumed the previous August. His six months of power had little to recommend it, and few expected that he would have a second opportunity to rule the country. Yet allowance must be made for the fact that this was a difficult period of transition, following eleven years of a dictatorship which had been suddenly and violently overthrown. The little-known army major was not credited with the political sagacity necessary to meet such a difficult situation. He learned much, however, during his short rule, and more during the months of his exile in France. On his return to Peru his associates found him an altered and much subdued man. He had lost much of the flamboyant character of the major who had led the revolt, and was imbued with a sincere desire to serve his country.

Sanchez Cerro's popularity with the masses was still unchanged. Yet even this idol of the people could not have won the election had he not secured the support of the Civilists, who represent the landed interests of the country. This party had opposed the former dictator, Legula. It was probably due in part to fear of a Legula reaction that the Civilists turned to Sanchez Cerro. Fear, also, of the Bolshevist candidate drove these conservatives to the major's support.

The new legislature is a body of men largely inexperienced and of little public standing. Its first duty will be to draw up a new constitution. It is expected, however, that it will accord the president a substantial working majority which will permit him to carry out his plans. Peru's foreign debts doubtless will be respected and foreign capital will be encouraged to develop the country. The success of Sanchez Cerro's regime will depend to a large measure on his handling of international questions.

RUSSIA'S LATIN TRADE.

Four years ago Soviet Russia's commerce with South America was causing general alarm among competing nations. During the years 1927 and 1928 Argentina exported to the Soviet $25,000,000 annually, and substantial amounts were also purchased by Russia from Uruguay, Chile and Brazil. At that time it was widely reported that the Soviet was endeavoring to foster a favorable sentiment which would lead to recognition by the Southern republics. Whatever the motive, political and economic conditions have altered the situation. The low price of grains and oil which Russia has exported resulted in an unfavorable balance estimated at about $75,000,000. So the Soviet has been unable to sustain its purchasing power in Latin America.

The first six months of 1931 showed that Russian imports from Argentina amounted to but $2,100,000, as compared with $6,500,000 for the same period last year. Other countries in Latin America reported a similar decline. Exports from Russia to the Southern republics have never been large, and in considering the possibilities of future developments in which Russia might seek to capture this market one important obstacle must not be overlooked. That is, that in order to develop a successful exchange the Soviet would have to find noncompetitive lines of goods to send to these countries. Yet most of the Russian exports meet competition in the form of Chilean nitrate, Brazilian manganese, Argentine grain and hides, and Russia is not a coffee-drinking country. In view of these conditions it would seem that little is to be feared from Russia as a trade rival in the Latin-American field.

The Bureau of Census says the size of the average family is declining. Possibly it is due to the condition of the stork market.

Ours is a government of laws and not of men, which probably explains why mothers-in-law and outlaws wield so much power.

WASTE OF ABLE MEN

By DAVID M. OLTARSH in the New York Times.

To prevent the loss of experience gained by men who reach the statutory age of 64 years and leave the military service, taking with them the valuable knowledge which is necessary at this time, something should be done to change the system of retiring Army officers.

On Monday Gen. Ely left the Army, not a broken-aged man but a well-preserved individual separated from his life work. Why not assign such men to some position where their ability could be used in some branch of the Government service that would add prestige to this country and perhaps lend dignity to the position?

They might be appointed Governor Generals of the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Porto Rico and other possessions. Having been trained in military discipline, and observing from time to time the rest of the world, due to their foreign duty, these men should be best able to lead wherever they go.

Examples of Army officers displaying the proper mettle can be found in the records of such commanders of the Philippine Islands as Gens. Wood and McCoy. What better service could have been rendered to Cuba than by Gen. Crowder? There are many others that could be mentioned, and yet we retire these men and send them out in the world, some perhaps satisfied, others broken-hearted because they leave a service to which they have been attached for many years.

The European countries show a great deal of wisdom in assigning to some duty their retired army and navy officers.

Let us avail ourselves of these men if they desire to continue in their work. Let them remain on the retired list, but assign them to some worthy duty to make them feel that they are being used and not thrown into the wastebasket. In the business world some of the leaders of the older institutions have carried on beyond the statutory age for the retirement of Army officers. An officer kept physically fit throughout his Army career should be in a position to render great service in peaceful days, after reaching the age of 64, and when the emergency arises render even greater service to the younger men as Joffre, Foch, Petain and others did in France.

POST HASTE.

The net result of a prohibition vote in Congress will be to catch a few with fish throats and dry votes.

All three parties are unanimously in favor of liberalizing the rules so they can get some disputatious questions before the House.

While we are busy making arrangements for the disarmament conference kindly make no mention of incidental situations in France, Russia, Poland, Germany, China and Japan.

What do housekeepers do with all their time, since they no longer have to carry up coal, slice the bread or let the ice man in?

Canadian rail workers will also vote on a 10 per cent wage slice. Why is it that railroad Caesars always consider theirs "the most unkindest cut of all?"

The Federal Reserve grows a bit suspicious as to what a convention of South American bankers at Lima is preparing to hand it.

London fogs have laid Gandhi up with a bad cold and those polite British women haven't said a word about "indecent exposure."

Finland will take two days off before the end of the year and vote on repeal, modification or retention of prohibition. Think of a country being able to get it over with as soon as that?

A bunch of dry representatives will try to force a steering committee upon the Democratic caucus, but it looks as though Saturday would be a Rainey day.

Several charity football games have ended in debt. Football has become such big business that it can't understand giving anything away.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

ELY AT THE BRIDGE.

Young Culbertson, of Broadway,
By the nine gods he swore
That he could take with 13 cards
Eight tricks or nine or more.
By the nine gods he swore it,
Such was his style of play
That messengers he hurried forth,
East and west and south and north
To teach the better way.

East and west and south and north
Were contract lessons hurled
Until it seemed their thundering shook
The peace of all the world.
Men quarreled at their luncheon,
And women angry grew
Defending gallant Culbertson
Whose forcing bid was "two."

World-wide began a counting
Of honor tricks in hand,
A new and curious language
Like plague went through the land.
And many a dame to learn it
Went out and pawned a brooch
To buy a book explaining
The Culbertson approach.

O'er four-card suits men pondered
As parsons o'er a text,
This was the Nation's problem:
Which suit shall I bid next?
While women struggled bravely
To get their lessons learned
Full many a pot boiled over
And many a steak was burned.

When age shall end the carnage
And time our strength de-flower,
When cards no more shall lure us
To pass the luncheon hour,
When comes the perfect system,
Still shall the tale be told
How Culbertson taught contract bridge
In the brave days of old.

When You Hear the Voice of the People, It Will Be a Soprano.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE salvation of America depends upon women.

Every institution, advantage and quality that decent Americans prize is threatened by greed, venality, ignorance or indifference, and women alone now possess the moral courage necessary to reveal the truth and work reform.

Capital is proverbially timid.

When the land was young and patriots had everything to gain and little to lose, every man demanded the right of free speech and boldly declared the faith that was in him.

But when Business became America's god and the making of money the chief end of man, money itself became a gag. The free-spoken champion of right began to prosper and at once became dumb. He purged himself of all opinions to avoid offending a customer.

Big Business says to its lieutenants: "Let politics alone and don't discuss controversial subjects. Our job is to serve, not to argue. Leave the management of the country to others."

Little business adopts the same plan, timidly avoiding controversy, nodding in smiling agreement with the good customer, siding with the group that has the most money to spend, regardless of the nation's good.

Politicians, always pliant and spineless, have quit all pretense of leadership and stand trembling in the middle of the road, ready to side with any majority.

The women can save America. They aren't afraid. Because their sex is a protection, or because nature has given them superior moral courage, they dare to say what they think without regard for the consequences.

Evils flourish because they are hidden and ignored. Men afraid of losing money solve problems by pretending they don't exist. When the truth is told and the evil is exposed for all to see, it is doomed. Like the germs of disease, all vile things perish in clean air and sunshine.

If timid men would speak out boldly in support of right, their gain would be greater than their loss but they dread the risk, and a patron's word of criticism makes them dumb. A land of free speech has become a land of yes-men.

Let the women speak out. Their sisters in Europe overthrow a government that ignored their protests and taxed the raisins they needed for their children. In America they can rule when they will.

There is no power in America to equal that of good women with their dander up.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Both Parties in Trouble.

Boston Transcript.

Chairman John J. Raskob, of the Democratic national committee, has sent a questionnaire to 90,000 contributors to the last Democratic campaign fund, asking them whether, in their opinion, the next Democratic platform should be wet or dry. In our humble opinion, Mr. Raskob might well have saved the cost of his stamps, for he probably will learn, what most of us knew before, that the great Northern States which furnished most of the money in 1928 are wet, especially in the cities, and that, broadly speaking, the rural districts of the United States, particularly in the South, are more or less dry.

The Raskob canvass is interesting, however, from two or three other points of view. It demonstrates, first, that the Democratic party bids fair to be split as badly over prohibition in its national convention as the Republican, and that if the Southern States take their liquor, or, rather, their liquor issue, as seriously as they did in 1928, the Republicans may make something of the same gains in that region next year that they did three years ago. We do not quite believe they will, unless the religious issue is interjected again; but it is certain that the next Democratic national convention will abound in very damp material for a dog-fight, with consequent danger to the candidacy of Gov. Roosevelt, whose mild policy antagonizes the wets, like Raskob and Smith, and does not frighten away the drys.

Harmony Is So Elusive.

Kansas City Times.

In urging an early showdown on the wet and dry issue as it affects the Democratic party, Mr. Raskob states that his purpose is party harmony. He would have the issue settled before the next national convention, which could adopt a plank designed to throw the whole question back to the States. Then the decks would be cleared for action on economic issues and other questions that really matter. This puts the situation in a new light. Perhaps it is harmony that is needed on the booze issue. But Mr. Raskob so far doesn't seem particularly successful in bringing it about.

Campaign Prospects.

Iroquois (S. Dak.) Chief.

While at the present time the Democrats may have an even chance of carrying the country at the general elections next year, the Republicans are not particularly worried. The Democrats always make an egregious blunder at the opportune time and the Republicans have but to lay low and allow the Democrats to kill themselves off. A party that has nothing to offer except to blame the party in power for the worldwide depression is hard up for campaign thunder, and this sort of a campaign will not get far with thinking people.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Community Chest Funds Should Be Devoted to Giving the Unemployed Work and Not Donated to Them in the Form of Charity.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In The Post have appeared at various times suggestions of methods of applying money now being raised from private sources for relief of the unemployed. The most practicable, sensible and just, to my mind, are proposals for utilizing these funds for the prosecution of public and private work. I have not seen any opposing arguments to such plans.

A government dole is rightly, I believe, repugnant to the great majority of our people. My chief objection to it is based upon the encouragement it would give to the habitually improvident and shiftless, and the dangerous example it would set to others who have never accepted or expected charity.

There has been ample time since the organization of the President's emergency relief committee to set the necessary machinery in motion in every community for the creation of work. Repairs and renovation of school buildings and grounds, tree planting and park beautification, street improvements and repairs, road-building, where climatic conditions permit, and many other practical operations could be set in motion to give employment. Even if many of these things are not absolutely necessary, work is better for the physical and moral welfare of idle men than is charity and humiliation.

The community which subscribes to a welfare chest could and should receive its equivalent in labor and material. Whatever the amount, it could be applied to some wise economic and practical use.

Any community chest committee capable of wisely administering the funds placed in its charge should be competent to organize the work decided upon in a just and business-like manner.

One little village in New York is setting up an executive force selected from the leading business men of the place to operate a manufacturing plant that has stood idle for several years for lack of funds, using the quota allocated to it from the appropriation made by the legislature.

Putting into operation these emergency employment proposals would not only benefit the "muscle-workers," but the incidental acceleration it would give to other industries would provide employment for many.

Walter Wilcox Offers Practical Solution of Problem That Vexes the World.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The whole country seems to be in a state of turmoil over a question of grammar. Contending factions argue the respective merits of "have" and "has" in the following sentence: "It seems evident that the Mussolini ambition, or rather its latest ramifications, have a depressing effect."

Dr. Vizetelly, editor of the Standard Dictionary, says that "has" is correct. Mrs. Josephine Baker, who is said to be final arbiter as to what is correct in English insofar as concerns the White House, the United States Senate and a host of learned societies, is reported to have sent the following telegram: "The plural verb 'have' is required." If so, we may throw this lady's evidence out of court, for her own sentence is incorrect. "Havé" is neither a plural nor a singular verb. What she probably meant was "the plural form" of the verb "to have."

The whole trouble originated in a carelessly written sentence that should have been revised before it went to the printers. Now that the damage is done, it would seem that the logical course is to use the verb form that seems the better of the two, which is obviously "has," controlled by the subject first presented to the reader's mind.

Commends the Work of the Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis—Says Every One Should Contribute to Such a Worthy Cause.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Until I read the letter from Daniel Marshall in The Post of December 2, I didn't believe there was any one in Washington who thought so little of the fine work our relief organizations are doing. However, I want to commend The Post for publishing it and giving us an opportunity to discover the existence of this sentiment.

The Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis has been selling its Christmas seals for many years, and has used the proceeds to fight one of the most far-reaching and insidious diseases known to the world.

The demands of the needy are many and are ever-present. It is a duty for those of us who are more fortunate to contribute whatever we can to their relief. I buy Christmas seals every year and contribute my share to the Community Chest regularly. In this way I feel as though I am doing my "bit" toward the relief of suffering, disease and distress among humanity.

I sincerely hope Mr. Marshall will see fit to change his attitude toward this great agency for good in the world.

Two Verbs, to Cover Singular and Plural Subjects, Would Make Everything Jake.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If the two subjects are to be used, one singular and one plural, and in the alternative, is it not necessary that two verbs also be used and that the sentence read:

"It seems evident that the Mussolini ambition has, or rather its latest ramifications have, a depressing effect."

WASHINGTON ATTACK AGAIN IS CRITICIZED

Bar Leader Says Pamphlet Belittles First President and Does Not Praise.

Hutchinson, Kan., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—F. Dumont Smith, chairman of the American Bar Association's Americanization Committee, renewed his attack today on Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart's pamphlet, "Washington as President," which he previously had characterized as "erroneous and libelous."

Replying by letter to statements in published interviews in which the professor emeritus of history at Harvard University defended the booklet against Smith's criticisms, the Hutchinson lawyer declared "the whole tone of the pamphlet is derogatory."

"Aside from the many misstatements, it belittles Washington instead of exalting him. The English of it is careless, slovenly and in places unintelligible."

Recalling the assertion attributed to Hart in an interview that he had checked every statement of the pamphlet "three times," Smith wrote:

"I suppose you have rechecked your statement that Washington's service in the Revolutionary army was seven years when all the histories show it was eight and a half years; that the population of the country in 1790 was 3,000,000 when the Government census says it was approximately 4,000,000. You admit that Washington spent more than his alleged 'salary' in executive expense. Why did you not put that in your pamphlet instead of giving the impression he received an enormous salary clear to him? You admit that instead of being wealthy in money he was land poor and hard up for ready money when he became President. Why did you not tell the truth in your pamphlet?

"When you quoted those derogatory statements about Washington breaking down in his inaugural address and by his austerity stifling all conversation at a dinner, why did you not give the name of the author, Maclay, Washington's most bitter, unscrupulous, and untruthful enemy, next to the infamous Freneau?"

Assuming that Washington did swear, Smith said, "Why did you not give the provocation which was ample? This is about the only statement in the pamphlet that you really defend and it is quite unimportant."

The pamphlet in controversy was prepared for the Geor. Washington Bicentennial Commission.

R-K-O Stockholders Urged to Sign Proxies

Local stockholders must sign proxies approving the refinancing of the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation if the corporation is to escape being placed in the hands of receivers, Hardie Meakin, manager of the Keith Theater, local member theater of the chain, said last night in a statement issued jointly with Hiram S. Brown, president of the organization.

Meakin said he admitted the plan of refinancing by a series of debentures was "drastic" but that "conditions make it necessary." Stockholders will not be obligated to subscribe to the debentures, he said, by signing the proxies "as the needed financial assistance will come from the Radio Corporation of America," which has agreed to underwrite the debentures.

PROGRAM OFFERED TO STABILIZE COAL

Reduction of Freight Rates Is One of Proposals in 4-Point Plan.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—A four-point program designed to stabilize and revivify the bituminous coal industry was adopted today by the general bituminous coal committee, an organization of prominent operators.

It calls for:

1. Regional consolidation of the sales agencies of coal producers.

2. Actual physical merger of coal-producing properties wherever possible.

3. An embargo on the importation of all petroleum products which have been giving the coal industry serious competition.

4. Reduction of freight rates for the transportation of coal.

The first two points were approved by Col. William J. Donovan, former Assistant United States Attorney General, who had been retained to give an opinion whether the plan violated the antitrust laws.

In order to speed action on the consolidation of sales agencies, twenty regional committees were appointed. These groups, in every section of the country, will be charged with the task of creating sentiment in favor of the first point in the program.

The 50 coal men present at the meeting, who represented mines in ten States east of the Mississippi, approved the other three points with the realization that considerable negotiation and time would be required to put them into effect.

Congressional approval must be obtained to put the embargo into effect. The plan calls for a tariff of $1 a barrel on crude petroleum and 50 cents a barrel on refined petroleum.

WALL STREET SEES RAIL CLOUDS GOING

Various Factors Combine to Boost Stock of Several Leading Lines.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Some of the clouds which have hovered over the railroad horizon appeared in Wall street to be lifting today, and the stock market rebounded smartly after approaching the low level of early October.

Gains in railroad securities were not universal, but issues of several of the leading trunk lines recovered substantially.

Factors tending to bolster the markets included:

One—Unconfirmed but widely circulated rumors that the administration would recommend to the new Congress next week immediate measures to bolster railroad credit, possibly through the formation of a corporation resembling the War Finance Corporation.

Two—An impressive indication of the ability of the leading trunk line railroads to obtain funds in the news that the New York Central was planning a $100,000,000 bond issue to be used as collateral for bank loans.

Predicts Wage Cut Acceptance.

Three—The action of the Canadian railroads in ordering a 10 per cent wage reduction, effective as of November 15.

Four—The statement of J. M. Kurn, president of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad, expressing the belief that the railroad labor men at their convention in Chicago next week would find it advisable to take 10 per cent one-year voluntary wage cut, and that his road had sufficient cash to meet its interest requirements January 1.

Lifting of pressure of such bond and stock issues as those of the St. Louis-San Francisco & Rock Island was interpreted in Wall street as an indication of calmer investment sentiment. Yesterday, it was noted, investors appeared to be in a rush to unload railroad securities regardless of price after announcement of the Wabash receivership. Today they not only withdrew largely as sellers, but, in addition, bid up prices for railroad securities in belief that yesterday's selling had driven prices substantially below investment worth.

Legislation Need Stressed.

Throughout their discussions railroad executives and bankers emphasized belief that while present proposed rate increases and wage reductions would relieve the present strain, they are only temporary measures designed to meet a critical situation. It is important in their belief that legislation be amended to provide greater permanent flexibility to the railroads in their efforts to meet changing conditions. One prominent banker suggested that the machinery be geared so that the "railroads could get needed relief quickly and not two years after emergencies arise."

Conscience of Woman Bares Stamp Incident

(Associated Press.)

Years ago a Missouri woman removed a couple of 2-cent stamps from letters received. They bore no cancellation marks. She used them again.

"Here is a confession I feel like I ought to make," she wrote yesterday to the Postoffice Department.

"When I was a mere child, at my grandmother's, I recall I used postage stamps that had carried letters but were not canceled. My grandmother used one, and I thought it was all right to do like she did."

F. A. Tilton, Assistant Postmaster General, wrote the old lady that she could submit two 2-cent stamps to his office, where they would be destroyed, thereby canceling the woman's obligation.

CAPITAL - RICHMOND ROAD TO BE WIDENED

Three-Track Route Planned; Further Extension May Follow Soon.

The State highway commission now plans to widen the Washington-Richmond highway to at least three tracks and Chairman H. G. Shirley, of the highway commission, has stated he would not be surprised if the entire highway is ultimately widened to four tracks.

The above information is contained in a letter written yesterday by Chairman Shirley to Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Shirley further stated that if the necessary rights of way can not be obtained at a reasonable cost a new route between Washington and Richmond would be constructed. This is the outcome of a conference between the highway commission and a committee of Alexandrians relative to the urgent need for widening the highway between Alexandria and Fredericksburg, and the eliminating of many dangerous curves.

The Richmond-Ashland section of the highway, about 16 miles, has already been widened to three tracks, the work having bene done this year.

The ultimate widening of the highway to four tracks, according to Mr. Shirley, will depend primarily on the costs of rights of way, and if the costs are heavy the commission will solve the problem by constructing new routes.

Trapped Well-Digger Rescued.

Eau Claire, Wis., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Partially buried for more than nine hours at the bottom of a 20-foot well, C. R. Van Da[illegible]50, a well-digger, was rescued today.

JACKSONVILLE FIRE MENACES SHIPPING

Exploding Chemicals Add to Chaos as Flames Sweep Wharves.

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—A river front fire, made spectacular by a series of chemical explosions that shook the city tonight, left several persons injured and damage estimated at $600,000.

Believed to have originated in a corner of a warehouse stored with nitrate of soda and other chemicals, the flames flared into gigantic proportions with intermittent blasts shaking buildings and breaking nearby windows.

Six firemen and several spectators were given emergency treatment at hospitals, but none was seriously injured.

The British steamship Malteam, of the Mallory Line, was moored in the slip near the blaze, but a tug brought assistance and the vessel escaped into the safety of the St. Johns River.

Several other small craft were at the docks, but managed to slip out into the river before the fire spread.

Thousands of spectators were sent scurrying through the streets when series after series of explosions sent showers of timbers and sparks into the air.

The fire destroyed warehouses at docks owned by the Seaboard Air Line Railway, and leased by McGiffin & Co., general shipping agents.

J. G. McGiffin, head of the company, said stocks burned were valued at $500,000.

A string of box cars and other properties of the railway were burned.

The warehouses were filled with nitrate of soda, nitrate of potash and other chemicals.

ARLINGTON WOMEN HEAR DRY LAW PLEA

County W. C. T. U. Group Is Told by U.S. Official Fight Is Making Progress.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Speaking at the quarterly meeting of the Alexandria City and Arlington County Woman's Christian Temperance Union yesterday in the Arlington Presbyterian Church, E. B. Sanford, chief of Bureau of Research of the Department of Justice, declared the Federal prohibition law today is being better enforced than any other Federal statute.

"In making this statement I claim that the records will show that of all cases for violation of the prohibition law in Federal courts that there has resulted 82 per cent convictions during a period from 1920 to 1930.

"Comparing the Federal prohibition law with that of charges of murder, the former has shown 82 per cent convictions while that of murder has only shown a percentage of 26.

Employs Comparatively Few.

"The opponents of the eighteenth amendment are preaching and pleading for 4 per cent beer and claim that it will give employment to 1,250,000 persons.

"In 1914 when there was no prohibition there was a total of 1,250 establishments manufacturing beer and giving employment to a total of 75,000 persons, including the executive force.

"In the same year there was a total of 200,000 persons receiving wages from the manufacture of all kinds of liquors.

"They also say that it would mean a revenue in excess of one billion dollars a year to the Federal Government. The truth of it is the total revenue received by the Government from the manufacture of beer in 1911 was $56,000,000; in 1914, $67,000,000; 1915, $78,000,000; 1916, $88,000,000; 1917, $91,000,000.

Less Liquor Manufactured.

"The opponents of prohibition further claim that there is today more drinking than ever. From a careful investigation and study of all raw materials used in the manufacture of liquor during the year 1930 there was but one-third as much manufactured as during 1914, thus making such a statement absurd.

What we need, he declared, is more of an educational campaign carried on and more of the proper kind of publicity.

Mrs. Ethel M. Gregory, county president, presided over the meeting.

BOARD IN ALEXANDRIA ASKS SCHOOL FUND

Council Considers Question of New Building at Cost of $361,000.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The city council yesterday received a request from the city school board for a deficiency appropriation of $10,000 for the expenses of the public schools for the remainder of the current school year. A resolution appropriating this amount was introduced and held over under the rules.

The council then took up recommendation of the school board for construction of a new high school building, at an estimated cost of $360,000, with an additional $61,000 for equipment. Mayor Tiver read a prepared paper in which he analyzed the situation, beginning with the statement that the school board had recommended a building program which would mean an outlay of at least $500,000. To carry out these recommendations, he said, the city would be compelled to issue bonds which would doubtless bear interest at 5 per cent, in addition to a 3 per cent redemption fund which would cost $40,000, together with operating expenses of approximately $90,000 per annum. Since the only manner in which funds can be raised is through taxation, the present tax rate would have to be increased 40 cents on the $100, which, added to the present rate of $1.65, would mean a $2.05 rate. The approximate taxable value of property, both real and personal, is $22,000,000, and such an addition to the tax rate would mean an increase of 16¼ per cent.

The school board included in their recommendations the building of a new high school to take the place of the two existing high schools, on a site midway between the existing buildings, which would cost $30,000. This, with the estimated cost of the new building, and equipment, would mean an outlay of $391,000. To finance a project of this magnitude would mean that the city would be obliged to raise at least $61,280 a year in addition to its present receipts, or an increase of 28 cents in the present tax rate. In view of the fact, the mayor said, that the people of Alexandria are having difficulty in paying their present taxes, as evidenced by delinquent taxes for the current year of approximately $125,000, with $50,000 due from previous years, he does not consider a tax increase would be a wise move at this time.

The council decided to make an inspection on Monday of the suggested sites for the proposed building and also to look over the land available in the vicinity of the present Alexandria High School, already owned by the city.

A request of B. B. Ezrine for permit to erect a temporary sign on the 700 block of South Washington street was granted. An application from Gardner L. Boothe for reimbursement to Mrs. J. E. Merchant for damage done to her property at Washington and Franklin streets on account of changing the grades in the construction of the Mount Vernon boulevard was referred to the city attorney for an opinion. A communication from C. E. Dare, engineer of maintenance of the R., F. & P. Railroad, asking that the city take over the maintenance of four electric lights on King street, formerly cared for by the railroad, was taken under consideration. An application from Jesse Thomas for the rezoning of land abutting on Hunting Creek, from "A" residential to either commercial or industrial, was referred back to Mr. Thomas for additional information as to the exact zoning desired.

Capital Man Accused In Automobile Death

City Coroner T. Marshall Jones, Alexandria, yesterday held an inquest into the death of William Smith, colored, of 529 Wilkes street, who died in the Alexandria Hospital yesterday as the result of auto injuries. The coroner's verdict was to the effect that Smith came to his death "as a result of injuries received by being struck by an automobile driven by Bert Ayers, on the 500 block Wilkes street, on November 30, said collision being caused by reckless driving on the part of Ayers." Ayers' address was given as 503 Second street southeast, Washington.

A fugitive warrant has been issued for Ayers and placed in the hands of the Washington police, but at a late hour last night he had not been apprehended. The driver, according to the police, abandoned his automobile and disappeared immediately after the accident.

the pastor stated that it is planned to erect a parsonage on the church site at a later date.

Havenner Speaks On Bicentennial

Commission Official Talks at Arlington Hall, Girls' College.

Dr. George C. Havenner, executive vice chairman of the District of Columbia George Washington Bicentennial Commission, was the guest speaker yesterday at Arlington Hall, junior college for girls. Discussing the spirit which animates the commission in its plans for the observance here, Dr. Havenner said in part:

"We have sought first of all to make the celebration one of dignity and balance as well as one of interest and entertainment in strict keeping with the lessons of Washington's life, worthy of the high ideals which he set before his countrymen.

"But while we have aimed at a program of educational value, we have tried to keep the celebration out of the realm of cold, academic formality. Life had its warmth and color and interest in Washington's day as in our own, and we have sought to recapture some of this spirit of other days for presentation in plays and pageants and other colorful events which we have introduced into our program."

JURY IS DISCHARGED IN SHAFER 'PERJURY'

Rockville Trial Grew Out of Police Court Case Alleging Assault.

Unable to agree on the guilt of innocence of George Shafer, of Bethesda, Md., charged with perjury, a jury in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville was discharged last night at 11 o'clock by Judge Robert B. Peter. The jury had deliberated for nearly six hours.

Shafer was tried on charges which arose from a previous trial in county police court, when Shafer was charged with assault and battery on his wife and Boyd Gail, also of Bethesda. At that time Gail was convicted of assault and Shafer freed.

During the police court trial State's Attorney Stedman Prescott was fined $10 by Judge Charles W. Woodward for alleged contempt of court. Prescott is alleged to have whispered to Gail to appeal his conviction and he, Prescott, would nolle prosse the case later. Gail had been used as a State witness.

Shafer testified at the police court trial that he was not present at the time of the alleged assaul and had not been at home all day. Three witnesses testified yesterday that he had been at home and that he had assaulted his wife, which also he denied.

Defense attorneys contended that Shafer had not been sworn in police court for the trial and that he therefore could not be guilty of perjury. State's Attorney Prescott was the only person present at the hearing who was willing to swear that Shafer had been sworn.

Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hawksworth:-

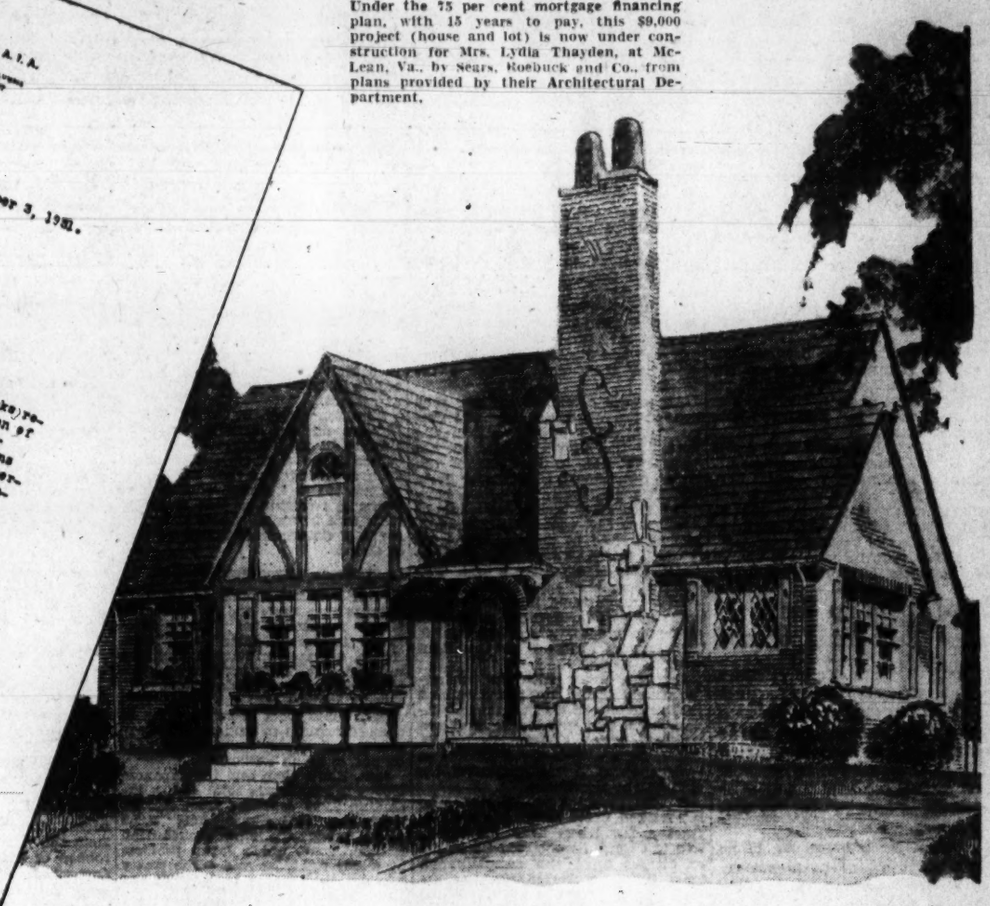
In response to your inquiry, now that only two weeks remain before you will have completed the construction of the resident at No. 2607 Thirty-first Street, Massachusetts Avenue Park, according to architectural plans prepared for my client in my offices and under my supervision, I am glad to advise that the work has been conducted in a highly satisfactory manner.

My client is equally pleased with the quality of the materials and workmanship, and the way in which the project has been handled by your Home Construction Department.

As architect, I might add that Sears, Roebuck and Co. have provided me with as pleasant a surprise as I have ever had in that your office has appeared determined to do more than was required or even expected from any building organization under their contract.

Sincerely,

JAP:MM



Under the 75 per cent mortgage financing plan, with 15 years to pay, this $9,000 project (house and lot) is now under construction for Mrs. Lydia Thayden, at McLean, Va., by Sears, Roebuck and Co., from plans provided by their Architectural Department.

HOME OWNERSHIP

PRESIDENT HOOVER in his address Wednesday evening, delivered at the first General Session of The President's Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership, at Constitution Hall, pointed out that—

"* * * The definite problem is not presented by those who can find 50 per cent of the cost of a home. Our chief problem in finances relates to those who have an earnest desire for a home, who have a job and therefore possess sound character credit, but whose initial resources run to only 20 or 25 per cent."

And further, that—

"* * * To find a way to meet their needs is one of the problems that you have to consider; that is, how we can make a home available for instalment purchase on terms that dignify the name credit * * *"

FINANCING UP TO 75 PER CENT

Since 1928 the Home Construction Division of Sears, Roebuck and Co. has been meeting these problems, by providing 75 per cent mortgage financing to Home Builders, allowing up to 15 years to pay.

Sears, in addition, provides all materials, supervision of construction, and complete and undivided responsibility, covering these factors—backed by their $200,000,000 guarantee of satisfaction.

Sears has loaned many millions of dollars this year for this purpose, and approximately one-half of this huge total has been paid to labor employed on these projects, which has played its part in providing employment for skilled mechanics in hundreds of communities.

Sears will build from architectural plans provided by their client's architect, or from architectural plans prepared by their own Architectural Department, and will build under architectural supervision.

In a rapidly widening area in the East, including the District of Columbia, and in the Middle West, Sears now is providing financing for reconditioning, remodeling and modernizing homes on easy payment terms up to 18 months on jobs costing from $50 to $500 for all materials and labor, and with terms up to 5 years on larger jobs.

Details of the Sears plan are available to home builders, architects, contractors, realtors and others from offices of their Home Construction Division, as listed below.

ACCUSER OF POLICE FREE PENDING TRIAL

Case Against Harker, Who Charged Beating After Arrest, Protested.

James H. Harker, principal complaining witness in the trial of four policemen who were charged with beating him, and which resulted in finding Detective James Mostyn and Policeman W. R. Laflin guilty of simple assault, with the other two being acquitted, was released in the custody of his attorney, S. McComas Hawken, when he was arraigned in Police Court yesterday on three charges.

Harker, who had returned to Washington from his Maryland home only two days ago, was arrested by Policeman R. E. Williams, of the Second Precinct, who charged him with being drunk and disorderly, and with having in his possession an obscene picture.

He was taken to headquarters, where he is said to have given the name of "Joe Hancock" and he remained under that name, it was charged, until he reached Police Court yesterday.

His trial was postponed until Judge Isaac R. Hitt could dispose of an attack on teh information against Harker. Attorney Hawken claimed the information was defective in that it did not charge Harker with anything but possession of the picture, whereas the law provides that the charge shall be intent to exhibit or sell.

Police Brutality Case Will Be Reopened

Investigation of a colored prisoner's complaint that his jaw was fractured by a Second Precinct policeman when he was arrested on a theft charge, suspended when he escaped from Gallinger Hospital, will be resumed, police officials indicated last night as the man was arrested again in connection with a second theft.

The man, James Rowe, 37, of no fixed address, was taken in custody November 19 by Privates A. B. Clark and G. L. Carder and accused of the theft of a sack of potatoes from a grocery store in the 1500 block of U street northwest. The next day Rowe complained to the sergeant that Clark had entered his cell and hit him twice with a blackjack, fracturing his jaw and cutting his head.

Police said Rowe was taken to Freedmen's Hospital, but physicians there could find no trace of injuries. He was removed to Gallinger Hospital and X-ray photographs of his jaw were taken. They showed some traces of a jaw injury and preparations were under way to take new X-rays when the man escaped from the hospital November 27. Investigation of Rowe's charges were then suspended. He was arrested again last night when police said they found him with 52 pounds of pork loin allegedly taken from a grocery store in the 1700 block of Florida avenue northwest.

grabbed Baber as he came into his apartment.

The rogues gallery picture of Baber was taken on April 7, the day after Baber said his eyes were blackened, his nose cut, his face bruised, an eye cut and his lip broken. None of the injuries complained of by Baber, except a lip bruise, which he says was inflicted by Barrett, is visible on the photograph, the defense claims.

For nearly an hour yesterday Barrett, who has been cited for bravery in the department and commended for the solutions of murders, told the story of the "plant" in Baber's apartment, when they were on the trail of the slayers of Mrs. Lizzie Jaynes in the Carden T Shoppe at Eighteenth street and Columbia road on April 3.

Contrary to the testimony of Baber, Barrett said he was in an adjoining room when Baber entered, and was not the first to grab the suspect. Detective Sergt. Hughes and Detectives Michael J. Mahaney and James E. Kenney corroborated his story. All of them testified they believed at that time that they were arresting the murderers of Mrs. Jaynes. None of them saw Barrett strike Baber.

All of the detectives testified they went to the apartment and had learned definitely that the automobile used by the slayers of Mrs. Jaynes had been seen in the rear of the Marne Apartments, where Baber lived, and that the description of the bandits tallied with those of occupants of Apartment 205, where Baber stayed.

They waited in the apartment for several hours, they said, during which they searched for a gun. Not finding any, they said, they assumed that whoever came into the apartment might be carrying a pistol. One of the daily spectators at the trial is Mr. Jaynes, husband of the slain woman.

Nearly a dozen witnesses, including newspapermen and police, refuted the testimony of a Government witness who told the court she had smelled alcohol on Barrett's breath. The defense witnesses saw Barrett at various times before and after his visit to the apartment.

A Washington Post reporter, who interviewed Baber at the Eighth Precinct a few hours after his arrest, told the court he observed no marks or bruises upon the complainant's face. Several character witnesses, including superior officers of the Police Department, and business men, testified to Barrett's good character as an officer and a citizen.

Mahaney, precinct detective of the Eighth Precict at the time of the alleged assault, said in response to a question by Julian Richards, assistant United States attorney, that he had refused to make a statement to the Department of Jusice when he was questioned about the incident.

Baber is alleged to have been beaten when he returned to his apartment at Thirteenth and Belmont streets northwest. The detectives were waiting in the apartment for him and as he opened the door, he said, he was struck many times. He was arrested and released three days later. Detectives said they arrested him for possible complicity in the Jaynes murder case, but their investigation showed him innocent and he was released.

JAPAN SEEKS OPEN DOOR IN MANCHURIA

Gen. Honjo Says Troops Know Nippon Must Get "Room to Breathe."

Editor's note—The alignment and strength of Japanese troops in Manchuria are disclosed for the first time in the following dispatch, in which Frederick Kuh, United Press central European manager, reports his interview with the Japanese military commander at Mukden. The Japanese also warned China against alleged renewal of military action near Chinchow and proposed an "open door" policy to permit all nations to trade in Manchuria on an equal basis.

By FREDERICK KUH.

(Copyright, 1931, by the United Press.)

Mukden, Manchuria, Dec. 3 (U.P.).—Gen. Shigeru Honjo, commander of the Japanese army in Manchuria, pledged himself today to refrain from an attack on Chinese at Chinchow if the Chinese troops commit no aggressive or obstructive acts.

Gen. Honjo disclosed for the first time the full strength of the Japanese army in Manchuria—a total of 14,000 soldiers—and their disposition at present.

Simulteneously, he warned that Chinese military activity was continuing in the Chinchow area, that "there is no sign of a decrease in Chinese troops" and that looting has broken out at Shanhaikwan, causing Japanese residents to seek refuge in their own barracks. Shanhaikwan is south of Chinchow at the Great Wall of China.

Chinese "Arrogance" Blamed.

"Our soldiers' morale is excellent because they share the Japanese national resentment of China's arrogance in recent years," said Gen. Honjo, a grave, military figure, who received the correspondent in his sparsely furnished headquarters.

"Our soldiers also are aware that Japan wants room to breathe and to open Manchuria to economic development and equal opportunities for commerce by all nations."

Gen. Honjo then said the Japanese troops in Manchuria total 14,000, including 2,900 Japanese from Korean garrisons. There are only 3,600 troops outside the South Manchurian Railroad zone, which Japan protects by treaty right, he said. The treaty provides that troops in the railroad zone shall not exceed 15,000.

Of the soldiers now outside the railroad zone, there are detachments at Chuliho, which is near Hsinmin, south of Mukden on the railroad to Chinchow; at Newchang, east of the railroad line to Chinchow; at Kirin, northeast of Mukden; at Tsitsihar and along the Ssupingkai-Tsitsihar railroad line.

Peril Seen at Chinchow.

The Japanese military leaders apparently regard the situation in the Chinchow area as most serious, reporting that Chinese armored trains are moving through the area and that munition trains are coming up from China proper. A Jehol Province infantry brigade also moved eastward to the Kwopangtzu district in the south.

Gen. Honjo received the correspondent at his working desk. The room was almost bare. A saber leaned against the hat rack and a vase of artifical roses was on the table. The general wore an unadorned uniform. He is deeply religious and visits the shrine daily.

"I want to get the Japanese boys home before the new year," Gen. Honjo said, "but the fulfillment of that desire depends upon whether the Chinese abandon their menacing activities."

He reiterated that Japan desires the Chinese to retire immediately and voluntarily from behind the Great Wall, and added that Japan would favor an economic "open door policy" in Manchuria, giving all nations the privilege of trade.

"Manchuria, if independent of Nanking (China) and friendly to Japan, would not only strengthen Japan's line of national defense, but also would face the dawn of prosperity—beneficial to Chinese, Japanese and all foreigners," he said.

LEAGUE PEACE PLAN REJECTED BY JAPAN

laration by Aristide Briand, council chairman, which will accompany it.

The commission of inquiry, Tokyo insists, should not be empowered to report to the league council any alleged failure of the Japanese forces in Manchuria to withdraw as quickly as the commission believes warranted. This is one of the provisions of the resolution.

The draft of M. Briand's declaration stipulates that the Japanese may rightfully take measures against bandits only in exceptional circumstances and that any such punitive expedition should be accompanied by neutral observers.

The Japanese government is unwilling to allow neutrals to accompany their troops operating against bandits.

Pending official receipt of the Japanese note the council did not meet today and did not schedule a meeting for tomorrow.

136 Ounces of Narcotics Are Confiscated on Liner

New Orleans, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—United States customs agents boarded the passenger liner Creole just after the ship had docked here from New York today and seized 136 ounces of narcotics from niches behind fire extinguisher tanks.

A. D. Gerhardi, customs agent who led the raid, said the seizure was one of the largest in New Orleans in many months. He disclosed the department would seek to determine if there is a narcotic smuggling ring operating between New York and New Orleans. Some months ago the agents seized a quantity of narcotics on another ship from New York.

Bandits Take $4,000 From Arkansas Bank

De Queen, Ark., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The First National Bank of De Queen was robbed of about $4,000 today by two bandits, who drove Terry Hunsucker, assistant cashier, and two depositors into the vault.

The robbers fled town quietly and the holdup did not become known by people on the streets until Hunsucker and the depositors escaped from the vault. The same bank was robbed of $14,500 last December 26.

STATE FEEDS MANY THAT HELP DEFENSE

Witnesses in Mine Slaying Were Threatened With Hotel Eviction.

Mount Sterling, Ky., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—More than one hundred men, women and children here as witnesses for the defense in the trial of W. B. Jones, Harlan County mine union leader, charged with murder, tonight ate their supper with the satisfaction of knowing where their next meal was coming from.

It was the first time in several days they had that satisfaction, as failure to reach an agreement between the State and the defense concerning payment of witnesses' expenses had left the witnesses facing the prospect of being evicted from their hotel and boarding houses. In fact, a hotelkeeper served notice last night they could stay at his hostelry no longer unless the bill was paid and boarding house keepers took the same attitude regarding meals.

An agreement between the State and defense resulted in 75 of the 140 witnesses being taken over by the prosecution and listed as State's witnesses so they could be paid by the State. This agreement was approved by Assistant Attorney General Sam H. Brown, who came here from Frankfort to help solve the problem.

The trial itself went through its tenth day today with a number of defense witnesses taking the stand in rapid succession. Their testimony was designed to refute charges of State's witnesses that the defendant plotted the battle in which four men were slain last May near Evarts, Ky., during a coal fields labor fight. Several of the witnesses testified concerning the reputation of the three Lester brothers, of Harlan County, who had taken the stand for the State last week.

The general trend of the testimony today was that Jones had always counseled the miners to "keep within the law" and had never made any threats against Deputy Sheriff Jim Daniels, one of the men killed in the fight, for whose murder he is being tried. The State, through witnesses charged Jones had threatened death to Daniels and "coolly planned" the battle in which the deputy was killed.

Caught After 13 Years, Man Gets Sentence

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.—Elton C Wing, captured in San Francisco several months ago after a 13-year man hunt, was sentenced today to from two to ten years in Sing Sing prison for his part in the robbery of the East Brooklyn Savings Bank in 1918.

Two officials of the bank were killed during the holdup. Wing's accomplice, Gordon Hamby, a notorious gunman in his day, was captured shortly thereafter and executed for murder. The charge of which Wing was sentenced today was second degree manslaughter, to which he pleaded guilty.

Indians, Former Foes, Give Harvest Thanks

San Xavier Del Bac, Ariz., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Red men from three great Indian nations, Papago, Apache and Yaqui, once bitter foes, knelt beneath the Moorish towers of this historic mission today and thanked the white man's God for the fall harvest.

Stalwart braves who last night whirled to the rhythm of tom-toms in honor of Itoi, or "elder brother," whom they believe created the world, with the aid of "coyote," bowed their heads as Bishop Daniel J. Gerche celebrated the feast day of St. Francis of Xavier, their patron saint.

Fostering of War Spirit Charged.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Attacking "professional patriots," Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, professor of education at teachers' college, Columbia University, declared in an address today that organizations like the Daughters of the American Revolution, Ku Klux Klan, American Legion and R. O. T. C. help foster the war spirit in America.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Mexico Issues Series Of Bank-Note Money

Mexico City, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Members of the banking commission announced today that an agreement had been reached for the issuance of bank notes and that the new notes would appear today in denominations of 5 and 10 pesos.

Issuance of the notes has been under discussion since shortly after Mexico went on the single silver standard last July.

Pope Approves Fascist Oath for Professors

Vatican City, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Pope Pius today approved administration of the oath of Fascist allegiance to Italian college professors, asserting there is a great difference between the oath of enrollment in the Fascist party and the oath administered to professors.

In response to a request for guidance by several Catholic professors, the pontiff said taking the oath of allegiance to the king, the royal family and the Fascist regime is permissible because "Fascism is not a political party but the government of the nation."

Bank Liquidation Speeded by State

Charter Is Issued to Special Corporation in Area of Philadelphia.

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Issuance of a charter by the State department for the First District Realization Corporation, comprising the Greater Philadelphia area, to expedite the liquidation of closed State banks, was announced today by Secretary of Banking William D. Gordon. Similar corporations have been created in Pittsburgh, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Harrisburg.

Gordan said as soon as a sufficient amount of the assets have been liquidated, the funds will be turned over to a private banker, representing the board, who will open an account with a New York bank.

Through this out-of-State bank, he will issue checks to depositors paying them a share of their deposits. Gordon said this plan will give depositors money from time to time instead of making them wait for complete liquidation.

Farmer-Laborites Elect Reiter Chief

Rochester, Minn., Mayor Is Named Chairman of "Third Party."

Omaha, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Julius Reiter, Mayor of Rochester, Minn., was elected chairman of the Farmer-Labor party by the national committee today. O. E. Neal, of Nelight, Nebr., was elected national secretary.

Mr. Reiter was authorized to call a national convention of Farmer-Laborites for March 2 at Omaha, and to invite all other independent political groups to send delegates for the purpose of uniting them solidly in a "third party."

Pleas for unity at the "unity convention" now in progress failed today as the Farmer-Labor group declined to merge the party's identity with a new inclusive third party, and issued its call for the convention next March.

The unity conference dissolved shortly after it convened. Twelve delegates reconvened as a Farmer-Labor convention.

Receivership Is Sought For Airmail Apparatus

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Application for the appointment of receivers for the Airmail Apparatus Corporation of America, Inc., was filed in Chancery Court today by Llewellyn Jordan, of Takoma Park, Md., owner of 130 shares of the corporation's capital stock.

The bill of complaint alleges the corporation is insolvent. The concern manufactures and distributes vending machines for stamps and advertising matter. The complainant stated he was a creditor of the concern in the amount of $622 and held the corporation's note for $5,000.

Brother of Dempsey Held on Rum Charge

Los Angeles, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Joe Dempsey, brother of the former havyweight boxing champion, Jack, was arrested here today and charged with possession of liquor, after officers said they stopped him on a highway and found 24 gallons of wine in his automobile.

After being booked, Dempsey was released on bond of $500.

Wales' Condition Held Not Serious

Illness Described Slight Chill With Malarial Symptoms.

London, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The illness of the Prince of Wales was officially described today as a slight chill with malarial symptoms, but his condition was not regarded as serious in any way.

Sir Stanley Hewett, the prince's physician, visited York House after luncheon and found the prince's ailment was taking its normal course. King George and Queen Mary, who, with other members of the royal family are at Sandringham, sent messages of inquiry.

An official announcement emphasized that the patient, who was stricken yesterday, was not suffering from an attack of malaria. Malarial symptoms, the announcement pointed out, almost always are encountered when a person who has had the disease suffers a chill. When the prince was hunting in Africa in March, 1930, he suffered a mild attack of malarial fever.

CAMELS are KEPT Fresh!

YOU probably know that heat is used in the treatment of all cigarette tobaccos.

But you know too that excessive heat can destroy freshness and fragrance.

That's why there could be no truly fresh cigarette except for scientifically developed methods of applying heat.

Reynolds is proud of having discovered and perfected methods for getting the benefits of heat treatments and still avoiding ever parching or toasting.

With every assurance we tell you, Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh—not parched or toasted—and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

A MODEL FATHER.

DEAR FRANCES M'DONALD:

After reading your column today I don't blame "Disgusted Mother" for her outburst. How she stood it for 16 years I can't see. Although I have known plenty of men who never even look at their children, not all are like that. Just as a contrast may I laud by own husband?

Although we've been married five years we haven't yet accumulated much in the way of worldly goods. But what does that matter when one's life is rich with such a kindly, unselfish love as my children and I receive? The children are a boy of 20 months and a girl of five months, and from the first moment of parenthood my husband has considered them just as much his responsibility and care as mine and has made them so.

Do we enjoy seeing him come home afternoons? There's a gay romp with his "big boy," a gentle caress for his girl, and both taken off a tired mother's hands for a half hour or so of rest, with afterward a chance to get an appetizing dinner.

It would take pages to enumerate the hundred and one little chores he shares with me—which every mother knows, from washing a pair of dirty hands to the forming of life-long habits. Do you think his children will think less of him because he as well as mother at times must say "no?" I do not! I believe they will feel closer to him and respect him more, and I know he will get a much greater measure of joy from them than the father who is a stranger to his children can possibly know.

By the way, he is 11 years older than I. You might tell some of your questioners for me that it is much better to be an "older man's darling than a young man's slave."

MRS. R. D. H.

Are there any more model fathers? Better enter your husband in this model contest. The letters that come to this column seem to indicate that most girls look with grave distrust at the married state. And now that the wives are telling us what brutes the men become after the knot is tied, it will help a lot if a few more people who are happy will come forward and shed a few rays of cheer upon the picture.

Have you a model husband in your home? Trot him out. Tell us about him. Is he older than you? Was he always a model or did you have to train him? How did you manage to tame him? And best of all how did you ever get him in the first place?

Sit down now and tell a million discouraged single girls just how it feels to win a model husband, and how to go about getting one. Remember he need not be handsome, nor wealthy, so long as he is wise—or wise enough to make his wife happy and proud.

How did you do it?

How do you keep him a model?

Are you glad you married?

Speak out!

Jane Corbett INTERPRETS the MODE

An oddly draped incrustation at one side gives unusual distinction to this black chiffon velvet evening gown. (Courtesy of Lenief, Paris.)

Panama, Dec. 3.

SPECIAL NOTICE!

EGGSHELLS are wanted for Christmas tree ornaments! Start saving your eggshells today! Hospitals, schools, all manner of places need Christmas tree ornaments, and when you are making your own from the leaflet that will be offered you in a couple of weeks, make some for the poor children you know haven't any.

Meanwhile, all the eggs you use or your neighbors use should be "blown out" from now until Christmas. Prick a hole in either end of the egg, a big enough one, with a heavy pin, and blo-o-o-o-o-o-ow out the inside of the egg into a glass. Use this perfectly good egg for cooking, dry the shell and put it away in a box until you have enough of them to make ornaments with.

Paris Fashion Notes.

Patou has entirely eliminated smart black in favor of smart brown.

Small fur collars are smarter than large ones, but large ones continue to be shown, bought and worn.

Ensembles via Mainbocher include such piquant ideas as green gloves matching a green lace collar, or coral gloves matching a coral belt.

Worth does not scorn the Second Empire in evening gowns, though Patou and Lelong do.

* * * *

How do your hands look? Plain toilet lanolin mixed with a couple of drops of tincture of benzoin rubbed into the backs of them and into the cuticle, then fabric gloves—it's the law, my dear. Even if you drag the gloves off during the night, the few hours they stay on will do wonders toward keeping your hands as lovely as they should be, and as youthfully plump and unveined.

* * * *

I've told you many times of modern gowns with a bygone aura—and never have I found a better example of it than the stunning evening gown from Lenief which I illustrate today! For this gown is of black chiffon velvet, with only one shoulder covered, and its air of bygone elegance and fashion is attained by the incrustation of a panel on one side only that's so draped as to form the bodice, the hip yoke, and low, panier-like fullness. The girdle of this gown is black cire, with herringbone tucking, and it passes through a square green jade buckle.

* * * *

So, you see, though this gown hints distinctly of olden style, it is done in the modern manner—which makes possible much more comfort than did this same olden style! Not to mention how it looks when the back panel drapes over one shoulder in shawl-like effect.

* * * *

You see it just happened that all of a sudden, instead of crossing the Atlantic home to Paris again, I decided to take a trip under the southern stars and all around South and Central America and Panama and Mexico, and what not, and get all nice and young and thin again. Now, what do I mean? Well, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's leaflet and it will tell you all about it! Yes, sir, 28 days on ship, all brown, all the wrinkles gone, eat all I please and lose fifteen pounds besides! Honest, I'm not fooling a bit—send for the leaflet, "Gangplank Romance," and find out for yourself.

Au revoir!

PROVING THE RULE.

RULES generally accepted can be said to be the experience of the human race to follow under certain specified conditions. This does not necessarily mean that a rule will work all the time. It is sufficient also to make it a good rule that it has proved its worth in the majority of cases to which it is applied. The basis of rules laid down in Contract Bridge are the same as those formed by society in other lines of endeavor. They are good rules because they prove their worth in the majority of cases, but in Bridge, as in life, the alert player of the game must be awake to the exceptions which constantly crop up. Neither the rules of bidding nor the rules of successful play are immutable. They are, like the railroad timetables, "subject to change without notice." Today's hand centers around a divergence from ordinary practice and hence the rule when applied to defense.

Neither side vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1◇	Pass	3♣(1)
Pass	3NT(2)	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—A forcing Takeout requiring partner to respond. A much better bid than a minimum bid of notrump.

2—West's three notrump response indicates that his hand was a minimum Opening bid.

North opened a spade and South won with the ace. Many Contract players would unthinkingly return the Knave of spades in this situation, although it must be obvious that such a play is a losing one. West had played the Ten on the Ace. Apparently, he held one and only one more. If this should be the Queen, as appeared probable from his play, then the return of the Knave must establish the nine in the Dummy. South, therefore, must not return his highest remaining spade, but lead instead the five and North's King won. North now discontinued the lead of the spade suit and shifted to a heart, as nothing could be gained by continuing the suit. West then won four clubs and three heart tricks. He needed but 2 tricks to complete his contract. The diamond Ace accounted for one of them, but West felt it would be better to avoid taking the finesse, if possible, and therefore chose as a means of exit from his hand a lead of the spade 9 from Dummy. Sure from the lead of the deuce, which he read as fourth best, that North held but two more spades, great was his surprise when South showed up with the Knave of spades. South then cashed his established heart and led a diamond. West was thus compelled to take the finesse in that suit which he had sought to avoid and when it lost, his contract was defeated. After the Opening lead of the spade, the entire problem of defense rested upon the lead to the second trick. By refusing to woodenly use a rule designed to meet a different situation, South had saved the day.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Question: When do you take out with two notrump?

Answer: Holding 2 plus honor-tricks, but lacking adequate support, and having no biddable suit, bid two notrump.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

TO AVOID "NERVOUS BREAKDOWN."

DR. CHARLES F. REED recently gave some sound advice to people who are afraid of a nervous breakdown as the result of the financial worries incident to these hard times.

"First of all, physical health must be attended to. We must exercise moderately, rest a good bit, eat wisely, drink moderately, if at all, and take care not to think too much about physical symptoms. It is so very easy to go too far in this direction. Young dementia praecoxes, the neurotics, the elderly melancholics, the arteriosceortics, are particularly apt to show undue anxiety concerning their physical health.

"Strive to think decent, kindly thoughts. Don't grind yourself and others between the millstones of regret and anger. I am often appalled at the number of people we see in our hospitals brooding over real and fancied wrongs until they are unable to do anything else. We must beware of this obsession.

"Then let us respect the facts of life. It is easy and pernicious business to distort them to suit our own fancy, to obscure them with a fog of foolish thinking in an attempt to blame or to justify one's self reasonably.

"Try to find things to do outside of everyday work in the home, the factory, the office, or the store. Handwork, or a hobby of any kind, is usually a wonderful balance wheel. Do something that requires another sort of initiative than what is used in your workaday life. It is unwise to be content all of the time, to soak up the result of other people's activities.

"If we have been trained religiously and have drifted away from our old time beliefs, why not go into a church now and then to meditate, if not to pray, and to find there, perhaps, a brief interval of peace and possible inspiration?

"Above all, do not play with thoughts of suicide. This is dangerous practice and may easily develop into an obsession.

"Do not worry too long over your own mental state, or that of some one else you are interested in, before you seek competent advice. If you can pay a rasonable fee, go to a mental specialist. If you cannot afford this, there are good men connected with dispensaries of all medical schools and upon the staffs of all state hospitals who will be glad to give you advice. No one who really needs medical advice along these lines need go without assistance.

"And, finally, after doing what we can, let us carry on bravely, in the hope, nay, in the belief that after all our own personal make-up is probably tough fibered and resistive enough to see us through without mental disaster. This is a theering thought and the statistical odds are at least two hundred to one that is is justified."

ONE HUNDRED PER CENT WRONG.

A. P. S. asks as to the truth of some statements found in a clipping sent. A Paris physician is quoted as making five statements of fact.

1. Eating raw onions will cure cancer.
2. Eating raw onions will prevent cancer.
3. The Jews in Russia and Poland and the Serbians and Bulgarians live exclusively on bread, raw onions and water.
4. These races and peoples have no cancer.
5. Onions have radioactive properties.

REPLY

One hundred per cent of the statements are wrong and one hundred per cent wrong is to each question.

RED BEGONIAS FOR CHRISTMAS.

IF you are one of the people who really know the begonia, you do not wonder at its popularity. Tall or dwarf, for flowers or foliage, take the begonia. It is one of the very best house plants. You may choose species to fit your spaces, unless you are a collector, and then your choice will embrace every and all varieties.

One of the begonias which is always lovely but especially suitable for the approaching Christmas season, as it carries out the Christmas color scheme, is the B. Corallina lucerna. This is one of the plants you may depend on, as it blooms constantly—great clusters of rosy-red, pendant flowers, against the dark green, silver-spotted foliage.

The begonia will flower in any room where a geranium will grow. It gets along very well with morning sun so, if possible, place it in an eastern or northeastern window.

It has few wants and practically no insect enemies—except the mealy bug which occasionally attacks it. When this happens you will find that a prompt application of nicotine solution soon routs this pest.

The begonia is particular about soil, liking best a mixture of good garden loam and leafmold with just enough sand to perfect the drainage. If you can not get leafmold a most excellent substitute for it will be found in the soil taken from old sods.

In growing begonias always watch the drainage. They resent "wet feet." Their rootlets, if kept in very wet soil, will soon begin to decay.

When watering begonias, pour the water over the soil rather than over the tops of the plants. There is an important reason for this: If you sprinkle the tops of the plants, some water is almost sure to collect in the crown or heart of the plant. Should this happen and it be permitted to remain, a disease known as the "rot" will develop. There is no method of combatting this malady. A plant attacked with "rot" starts to slough off along its main stem, in much the same manner as necrosis progresses.

A pot of scarlet begonias is very attractive at this time and would be a welcome gift for any one who cares for flowers.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed stamped envelope is supplied.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"SAGITTARIUS."

IF December 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:10 p. m. and from 6:30 p. m. to 7:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to midnight.

The business man will find himself "out of luck" on this date, as plans made for December 4 will prove abortive or elements of complication will develop. Little will happen to break the monotony of ordinary routine within the domestic circle.

The child born on this December 4 will be exact and careful in all that it does or undertakes. It will be neat and tidy about its personal habits and will be proud of its appearance. It will be true in its friendships and affections. An interesting life is augured for it.

The planetary aspects in force at the time of your birth (December 4) should have given you considerable vitality and the ability to turn off considerable work. It is a conundrum how you can obtain the results that you do, for you work absolutely without method, and you are a chronic "last-minute person." You ride over details, introduce novel ideas, make surprise moves and work by fits and jerks, but your finished article always passes muster. Much of the time you turn night into day and day into night—to the dismay of your family or associates.

You are decidedly unconventional, but are not unprincipled. Your own conscience will never let you go too far. As you are open and aboveboard with your sins as well as your virtues, appearances may sometimes cause unjustified criticism from idle tongues. You always play the game, however, with both man and woman, and you are not given to "passing the buck."

You are an easy person to live with, as you are usually good natured, and you are not even normally selfish. You are very good at self-entertaining, and time never lies heavily on your hands. You are not much of a student or reader, but your powers of general observation make up for the lack of these factors.

Successful people born December 4:
Lillian Russell, actress.
Thomas Carlyle, author.
Royal Rodney Ingersoll, rear admiral, United States Navy.
Frank Jay Gould, capitalist.
Thomas Godfrey, who wrote the first American play ever performed.
John Le Conte, educator.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Slashing Hollywood Salaries.

SALARIES of Hollywood picture stars are to be cut 10 to 20 per cent. In many cases the incomes of screen actresses will be reduced so much they won't know where their next divorce is coming from.

One featured player, notified of a wage cut last week, has had to give up his big house and take a place with only three outdoor swimming pools.

If the worst comes to the worst many a cinema actor may have to go through the winter with the same wife. The situation is truly alarming.

It is understood the magnates have been calling the screen notables to headquarters for some time past and breaking the sad news that they will have to take a cut and live on a plane with the world's leading bankers and industrial czars.

One of the most famous figures on the screen has already had his income reduced to such a point that he is now getting no more money than the President of the United States.

WHEN a film star's salary gets down to $100.000 a year he or she is practically in the gutter.

• • • •

The crisis is heart-breaking, and no man can regard it with indifference. What to do? That is the question. Certainly the lovely ladies and compelling men who bring romance to the people in the movie houses that dot the land must not be allowed to feel the pinch of want and the pain of privation. No heroine of the films can do her best work if she labors under the annoying knowledge that until the depression lifts her weekly pay will be delivered in six sacks instead of seven.

• • • •

How about a Fund for the Relief of Hollywood Screen Stars? Are you not moved by their plight? Are you not anxious and willing to come across and help keep four or five roofs over the head of some suffering cinema celebrity?

• • • •

This department sounds an appeal for such a fund. It will handle all contributions sent in and see that no Hollywood moving picture notable, male or female, has to appeal to charitable institutions for sables or depend on the neighbors for mink wraps.

• • • •

Doesn't your heart go out to these people? Are you not moved by the thought that Amnesia di Zalorez, most beautiful of screen actresses, may have to face a long winter in a house with less than 38 rooms and 14 baths?

• • • •

Do you want Hollywood to think there isn't any Santa Claus?

• • • •

Then send in what you can afford now. The fund starts off with the following contributions:

Destitute Firemen	$ 5,000.00
Sympathetic News Reel Patron	10,000.00
East Side Mother	8,356.22
Elmer Twitchell	50,000.00
	$ 73,356.22

• • • •

Am I not entitled to be included in some list of neediest cases? A rich uncle died recently and cut me off with nothing but the highest grade stocks and bonds. PITIFUL.

• • • •

A drunk recently discovered in a brokerage office objected to being ejected on the ground that he was obeying the broker's advice to maintain a liquid position.

POULTRY EXHIBITION IN MARYLAND ENDS

Walter Johnson Takes Three First Prizes on Entries in Frederick Show.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Dec. 3.—The annual Maryland State Poultry Show, at the First Regiment Armory, closed tonight. Nearly 1,000 fancy bred birds from Maryland, District of Columbia, New York, New Jersey, Illinois and Virginia were exhibited many of which will be sent to New York to compete in the annual Madison Square Garden show the first week in January.

The prize bird was a Buff Orpington cockerel, owned by Mrs. John H Hertz, Cary, Ill., valued at $150. Mrs. Hertz entered seven Orpingtons, valued at $1,000, five of which captured first prizes. Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington American League Baseball Team, won three first prizes from an entry of five South Carolina Rhode Island Reds. George F. Hane, Washington, won first and second prizes on entries of Buff Brahmas and Silver Spangled Hamburgs. Mrs. Hertz won a handsome silver cup offered by Mayor Elmer F. Munshower for the best bird at the show.

While Barred Rocks predominated with 125 entries, other leading varieties were Rhode Island Reds, Bantams, Wyandottes, Minorcas, White Rocks, Leghorns and Plymouth Rocks. In addition to the large number of cash prizes the American Bantam Association offered a number of gold and silver prizes ribbons and certificates. One hundred and twenty special prizes were also awarded. The assocation will hold its annual meeting in Baltimore in January.

A large number of persons, including many from Baltimore, Washington and nearby cities attended the show.

Anne Arundel Jury Charges Official With Duty Neglect

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 3.—The October grand jury of Anne Arundel County, which has been making substantial progress in a crusade to rid the county of gambling and other forms of vice, today returned a presentment against a county police patrolman for alleged dereliction of duty, charged two other men with extortion and accused two more of pandering.

The inquisitorial group has previously taken action against a number of operators of slot machines, some of whom have pleaded guilty and paid fines, and charges of bribery and malfeasance in office are pending against a former police justice and two deputy sheriffs. In the former group of presentments, Morris Legum, professional bondsman, of Annapolis, and his son, Jack Legum, were accused of obtaining more than $22,000 by false representation, the allegation being that funds were paid to them by slot-machine operators and the proprietor of an alleged disorderly house.

In the presentments returned today Patrolman George Harrison, of the Third District, is accused on two counts of failure to perform his duties, one involving a game of craps for which seven Negro men are held on charges of gambling and the other alleged operation of a slot machine by Meyer Horowitz and Iron Meeks, both of whom have been presented on gambling charges.

Michael (Kid) Julian, former Baltimore pugilist, was named in a new presentment, jointly with a John Doe, identified as "Mike the Greek" and as "Mike Gregory," for alleged extortion of $5 last November 1 from Mrs. Jean Cummings at the Sleepy Valley Inn at Jessups. This inn was raided several weeks ago and the Cummings woman pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a disorderly house there. Julian was previously indicted on a like charge and is at liberty on $5,000 security. John Manatio and Sam Parraccio, who were arrested in connection with the investigation of the inn, have been presented on charges of pandering.

More than 100 experts are competing for the two contract bridge titles. The pairs started play yesterday afternoon and will conclude their contest tomorrow afternoon. The winners will be determined by the scores of the three sessions.

The women's association elected Mrs. Needham president, in succession to Mrs. Madeleine Kerwin, of New York, and Mrs. P. H. Sims of Deal, vice president, succeeding Mrs. Louise Bright, of Detroit. E. J. Tobin, of Chicago, was made an honorary member and Levis R. Ayres, of Philadelphia, was added to the directorate.

Antifreeze Drink Fatal to Imbiber

Another Is Made Seriously Ill by Potion They Believed Was Alcohol.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Charles H. Butts, 23, is dead and Theodore Cloud, 20, was believed to be near death today as the result of drinking an antifreeze solution.

Cloud told officers he and Butts sent an agent to get radiator alcohol, which they intended to drink. Instead, he brought an antifreeze solution which was a violent poison.

The men divided a half gallon purchase, Cloud said, and drank of it while shucking corn.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

OPENING on January 3, the Messrs. Shubert will present "The Student Prince" as the first production of the new year at the Belasco Theater.

Not since its original presentation some years ago has this delightfully tuneful operetta boasted such a splendid cast as is promised for this engagement. A male chorus of 30 voices will make the rafters fairly ring with their glorious harmony—that is, if you can discover a stray rafter or two in the Belasco, they will.

Few there are who do not remember the story of "Old Heidelberg," from which "The Student Prince" was adapted—its picturesque settings, quaint costumes and the colorful uniforms of its student-soldiers.

Well, it has all been sumptuously revived in the forthcoming production, which, incidentally, will be presented here at a popular scale of admissions so that even badly deflated Christmas pocketbooks will be able to withstand the strain of "two on the aisle."

Revivals also are becoming the vogue in the palaces of the pictured drama. Instead of Buster Keaton in "Sidewalks of New York," the attraction at Loew's Columbia, following "The Champ," will be the sound and dialogue version of "The Big Parade," with John Gilbert, Karl Dane and the original cast in the roles they made famous—or vice versa, as the case may be.

Then, following "The Big Parade," will come a similarly modernized version of "Ben Hur," with Ramon Novarro, Francis X. Bushman and all the rest.

It is my understanding that these are not new productions, but merely new prints tricked up with dubbed-in sound tracks, as was done a year or so ago with "The Birth of a Nation."

Among the other peregrinating producers, publicists and playboys making their customary early winter stopovers in the Capital are Leonard Bergman, whose production of "Peter Flies High," opened the current season at the National Theater last September 14, if I remember correctly, and Wallace Munro, advance courier for Balleff and his celebrated "Chauve Souris," gradually creeping up on the Belasco.

Speaking of "Peter Flies High," Washington saw that Myron C. Fagan comedy at its best, with Glenn Hunter in the stellar role. Despite the fact that the play was intrusted to supposedly expert tinkering after it left this city, it was never again so good as the Capital saw it.

I think I am betraying no trade secret by revealing that by the time "Peter Flies High" reached Broadway, with Mr. Hunter out, many changes in the cast and an emasculated text, it was a far worse play than Mr. Fagan had written.

Its remorseful requiem has long since been sung.

As for the "Chauve Souris," that polished and sagacious bon vivant, Mr. Munro, informs me that Washington will not see the bill that was received with such scant enthusiasm in New York. The offering has been revised, dead material removed and some of the older skits that have always proved sure-fire reinstated.

As we will see it, I am assured that the entertainment will be 87½ per cent new and the rest bulletproof.

And comes a charming little note from that charming little danseuse, Miss Mitzi Mayfair, who wishes to be permitted "to thank you for the lovely way you have written about my work in the 'Follies'"—as if any one with a grain of discernment could write any other way about so superb a young artiste!

Few artistes, however, are as thoughtful as Miss Mitzi.

Tonight in the auditorium of Foundry M. E. Church, Sixteenth and Church streets, the Foundry Players will present as their first offering of the season, "Wild Oats Boy," a lively comedy, in which a well selected and talented cast will appear. Doris Smith and John Mattern, "the one-man minstrel show," are the featured members of the company.

Three popular Government clerks, all women, are leading the Fox Theater's West Indies cruise contest for local Federal and municipal employes, which opened November 27 and will continue through December 10.

Miss Frances Brillhart, of the Navy Department; Miss Anna M. Hook, of the Department of Commerce, and Mrs. Louise C. Higgins, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, are the three leaders who have already passed the 500 mark, the minimum number of votes necessary to become eligible for the award.

For the first time in many months, to the best of my recollection, a picture is being held for a third week in one of the downtown, first-run motion picture theaters.

So great has been the demand for seats to view the champion thriller of all time at the Rialto, that the management reached an eleventh-hour decision to continue the run of "Frankenstein" through another week, beginning today.

It turns out that Flo Ziegfeld and I have more in common than merely a vast enthusiasm for his original production of the "Follies of 1907."

It seems that he can do away with a dishpan full of popcorn at one sitting, too!

Else why was he buying more than he could lift a couple of doors from here a couple of nights ago? Maybe to feed the starlings?

NATIONAL SYMPHONY PRESENTS PROGRAM

Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Gann Attend; Audience Applauds Dvorak's Composition.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, occupied the presidential box at the concert of the National Symphony Orchestra in Constitution Hall yesterday. The audience was not of the capacity proportions of previous concerts, due perhaps to the pressure of Christmas shopping, but it made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers. The concert was given under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene.

Among the interested spectators who watched the masterly leading of Hans Kindler, conductor of the orchestra, were three well known composers—John Powell, the Southern pianist and composer; Mrs. H. H. A. Beach and A. Walter Kramer, composer, and editor of Musical America.

The principal number of the program was Anton Dvorak's "New World Symphony," which was played in its entirety. The audience applauded it generously, especially the familiar largo movement. On the whole, it was well done, although there was an occasional confusion of sweet sounds in the last movement, presenting a musical situation which could have been improved upon.

The orchestra generally continues its splendid rate of improvement, the ensemble tone ranking with that of other orchestras which visit Washington from other cities, and the men working with a unity of purpose and endeavor, justifying the civic support given to this new musical enterprise.

The orchestra did some of its best work of the afternoon in Rimsky-Korsakov's "Flight of the Bumble Bee," while the audience also greatly enjoyed Borodin's "On the Steppes of Central Asia," and another Slavic number by Ippolitov-Ivanov, "Procession of the Sardar," from the "Caucasian Sketches." The program was begun by Mozart's overture to "The Marriage of Figaro." E. E. P.

Delegates Will Be Urged to Fight Resubmission of Dry Law.

With prohibition seething in Congress, delegates and officials of the W. C. T. U. from the middle Eastern States will open their regional conference at the Mayflower Hotel this morning. Interest has increased among the delegates since the understanding that a vote may be taken in the House on resubmission of the eighteenth amendment. The officials of the national W. C. T. U. are being urged by delegates to take a position against resubmission or any other legislative program that would open the way toward repeal.

There will be 24 other W. C. T. U. conferences in other cities between now and the time of the presidential nominating conventions, and the policies decided upon today and tomorrow at this first conference will undoubtedly be adopted by the W. C. T. U. women and their affiliated organizations throughout the United States.

The present political situation will be discussed by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president and Mrs. Ida B. Wise-Smith, vice president of the organization, at the morning session. The high spot of the day, however, will be the presentation by the entire delegation to President Hoover of the signatures of more than a million young people between the ages of 14 and 30, declaring for total abstinence from intoxicating liquor and to "support and defend the eighteenth amendment."

The conference will last throughout Sunday. Monday the delegates will lay a wreath at the base of the statue of Frances Willard, founder of the W. C. T. U., in Statuary Hall.

NATS TRADE HADLEY, JONES AND HAYES TO CHISOX

REYNOLDS, SLUGGER, AND KERR GAINED IN SWAP OF 5 PLAYERS

Nats Give Up Two Veteran Pitchers and Utility Infielder for Long-Sought Right-Handed Hitting Outfielder and Second Baseman.

Griffith Announces Deal at Minor Leagues' Parley; Reynolds Prime Motive of Trade Despite Slump to .290 in Last Season's Campaign.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE baseball trade winds descended on the camp of the Washington Club yesterday and bore away Pitchers Sam Jones and Irving Hadley and Infielder Jack Hayes, depositing in their stead Outfielder Carl N. Reynolds and Infielder Johnny Kerr, of the Chicago White Sox, in the most important deal of the winter season, announced by President Clark Griffith, of the Nats, who, in company with other big league magnates, is attending the annual meeting of the minor leagues at West Baden, Ind.

The acquisition of the hard-hitting Reynolds, the long-sought right-handed slugger to round out the outfield, was the prime motive of the Washington Club in the deal in which the Nats were forced to sacrifice two of the regulars of their pitching staff and Hayes, the utility infielder.

On the face of the deal, President Griffith gave two pitchers for the fly-chaser, for Hayes for Kerr seems to be about an even swap. It is known that the Sox have been eager to acquire Hadley for some time, and, on last year's record, the big boy from Lynn will be the only player whom the Nats will miss. And, although given credit for having as much "stuff" as any finger in the league, for some unaccountable reason he has never been a consitsent winner here.

Reynolds, who will be 28 years of age next February, is a big fellow, 6 feet tall and weighing 194 pounds. He has been with the White Sox since 1927, when they obtained him from the Palestine, Tex., Club. Except during the latter part of that year, when he joined the team in time to play in but 14 games, last season was his poorest one.

Slumped at Bat Last Season.

Reynolds battled .290 in 1931, getting 134 hits in 462 times at bat, his bingles including 24 doubles, 14 triples, 6 homers, and driving home 77 runs. He hit .359 in 1930, .317 in 1929, and .323 in 1928. Last season he fielded at a .949 clip, also for a smaller average than in previous seasons. With the change in clubs, he is bound to pick up in pep and to prove himself a mighty valuable man to have around. He probably will draw the right-field assignment. Reynolds, by the way, stole 17 bases last season.

Kerr, a veteran of 31, is of the midget type, as applied to ball players, being but 5 feet 7¾ inches tall and weighing but 158. He is fast as lightning and hits the ball hard. On last season's records, he is a better man than Hayes, for he fielded .968, six points higher than did Hayes, while he was much more potent at the bat. In 128 games, Kerr batted .268, cracking out 17 doubles, 2 triples and as many homers. He drove in 22 mates. Against this, Hayes can claim no better than a .222 average, his blows including 2 doubles and a triple. He was responsible for scoring but 8 runs.

Hadley Finished Only Two Games.

As to the pitchers the Nationals have given up, they will not be badly missed if Monte Weaver, Frank Ragland, Lynn Griffith, or some of the others show anything worth while. Hadley, believe it or not, pitched but two complete games all of last season, being knocked out in nine of the eleven he started. He did his best work as a relief flinger after Manager Walter Johnson gave up on him as a starter and ended the year just over the .500 mark—11 victories as against 10 losses. He came to the Nats from semipro ranks in the spring of 1926 and has been here ever since, except for the 1927 season, which he spent with the Birmingham Barons. Hadley was 27 years old last July.

Jones, nearing the 41 mark, undoubtedly is nearing the end of his career. He was a great pitcher once, and saw service with the Indians, Red Sox, Yankees and Browns before joining the Nats in 1914. He took part in 25 games last season, starting all but one and finishing only eight. His record was 9 triumphs in 19 decisions.

Nats Trust Hopes to Rookie Pitchers.

There will be, of course, many who will not agree with Griffith that he got the better of the argument, for all three of those shunted away were popular here. Naturally, much depends upon how badly the two pitchers will be missed; that is, upon how the remainder of the staff and such newcomers as Weaver, Ragland and Griffith develop. Should Brown and Fischer improve just a little and one or more of the rookies show something, then, as the writer views things, the Nationals can not possibly lose on the deal, for there is no doubt but what Reynolds will help the team, while Kerr will come in just as handy as utility infielder as did Hayes.

Eastern 'Conference' Plan In Football Gains Impetus

Yale Favors Proposal of New Alignments for Colleges.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—As the 1931 football season draws toward a turbulent close, indications point clearly to a number of new alignments in college organizations as well as some shake-ups in the old.

Developments have been hastened somewhat by the effect of dwindling gate receipts in the past two seasons. The "big fellows" are getting together more closely in scheduling games with an eye to the turnstiles. Another prime factor in the sectional regrouping, in prospect especially in the East and South, is the faculty desire to centralize and tighten control of eligibility, subsidizing and recruiting.

Eastern "Conference" Gains Impetus.

The proposal for an Eastern "Conference" or "Association" among the old established colleges, while not new, has gained impetus unquestionably this fall. Yale is understood to be favorably disposed and Pennsylvania has gone so far as to suggest a revival of the old Intercollegiate Association, the early members of which were Penn, Yale, Harvard and Princeton.

The plan would also include Army, Navy, Cornell, Dartmouth, Columbia, Penn State and Syracuse in a group to gain at least uniformity of action in controlling the sport, even if not to establish a "conference" schedule agreement. At present all of these colleges subscribe to the functioning of an Eastern association for the selection of officials.

Already positive plans have been formulated for an association of smaller Eastern colleges, including Swarthmore, Haverford, Hamilton, Union, Williams, Amherst, Trinity and Wesleyan. It would centralize control of all intercollegiate competition for this group.

South Discussing "Big Ten."

The idea of a "Big Ten" in the South, composed of outstanding members of the Southern Conference, has been under discussion and may reach a more definite stage at the conference's annual session in New Orleans, December 18 and 19.

The eight universities originally linked with this proposal are Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida, Vanderbilt, Tulane, Kentucky, Auburn and North Carolina. Their reasons for considering separate action, designed to bring them more closely together as to standards and schedules, grows out of the unwieldiness of the present Southern Conference membership of 23, scattered from Maryland to Louisiana.

Somewhat similar factors a few years ago induced six members of the old Missouri Valley Conference to band together more closely in what now is the big six conference, consisting of Kansas, Kansas State, Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma and Iowa State.

The principal problem now facing the Big Six, as well as other existing conferences, is how and where to apply economy measures for 1932. Minor sports are slated for additional curtailment. Drake University has set an example in football by cutting intersectional trips off its schedule for next fall.

Pacific Coast Under Investigation.

The Pacific Coast is interested in what may develop from the reputed gum-shoe investigation of Jonathan A. Butler, formerly of Chicago, who has made a special survey of athletic conditions in the Coast Conference.

MINORS VOTE CHANGE IN CONTROL

Sexton, President for 22 Years, Replaced by Committee.

By GEORGE KIRKSLEY.

WEST BADEN, Ind., Dec. 3 (U.P.).—The beginning of a new era in minor league baseball was signalized today when the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues voted unanimously to retire Mike Sexton, of Rock Island, Ill., from the presidency and create a committee of five to replace him for one year.

Sexton, who has served as president for 22 years, fifteen of them without pay, retired gracefully, asking his friends to join the majority and make the vote unanimous. He was made honorary president for next year at his present salary of $5,000.

J. H. Farrell, secretary of the National Association, was not affected by the resolution and will continue in his present capacity for another year.

"Gentlemen, before I came to this meeting, I had pledge of sufficient votes to reelect me," said Sexton, before the resolution was voted on. "Since then this gathering has taken an unusual turn of affairs. I am going to be a game sport and a good loser and ask my friends to forget their pledges to me and join in with the movement of the day."

Sexton Praised By Rickey.

Branch Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals and director of their nine minor league farms, praised Sexton's long and faithful service. Rickey was a leader in the reorganization movement.

The five members of the committee, three from the class AA and A leagues and two from the class B, C, and D leagues, were to be selected tonight. They will serve for one year without pay. Their work will consist largely of survey, investigation and recom-

No Law Against Popular Old Habit of Selecting All-American Grid Team

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The all-America season is again at hand, and various persons and groups of persons are attempting to select from approximately 20,000 football players a composite team of the eleven most best, as a horsetruck handicapper would describe them. The impossibility of this job has long since been acknowledged, but there is no law against trying, and the selection of all-America teams has become one of the favorite sedentary sports of a great number, especially in the sport-writing business and the coaching business.

According to custom, the players will be chosen for their prominence, on the theory that if they were not the most best they would not be the most prominent. This is not a sound theory, however, because a great many fine players do not attain prominence, being attached to obscure teams and handicapped by the mediocrity of their fellow players. Red Cagle, for instance, was all-America at West Point, and presumably he had been a great player at the little college in Louisiana which he attended before his appointment to the Military Academy. Cagle, like Red Grange, was not a cultivated player but played strictly by ear, so to speak, and made the West Point team in his plebe, or freshman, year. But that was his introduction to fame.

Contrary to the impression which one group of coaches has attempted to create as a selling point for their selections, which are offered through a syndicate dealing largely in ghosted, or vicarious, literature, there is no official committee of selection for all-America teams. The idea itself is not covered by a patent or copyright, and the one annual selection which traces its descent from the original is that set forth annually by Collier's Weekly.

The exact origin of the all-America is slightly cloudy, but the first team is believed to have been chosen from the limited and easily canvassed field of the old Big Three—Yale, Harvard and Princeton, in the fall of 1889.

The late Caspar Whitney, probably the most thoroughly informed and most widely experienced sports writer who ever adorned the business, is credited with the invention of the idea, although shortly before his death a few years ago, when he was passing his time in happy retirement at Tarrytown, N. Y., he generously shared the credit with his collaborator, Walter Camp. Collier's conducted an investigation to determine the personnel of the first all-America team, but Mr. Whitney said he had lost all his old notes and his clipfile during the war and could not supply the information. The first all-America year was 1889, and the selection was published in a magazine printed in New York called the Week's Sport. There is no file or any record of this magazine in the New York Public Library, in any of

Babe Ruth. New Contract Due, Anticipates No Trouble

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Now that football is about over, the time apparently has come again for the Nation to consider the most serious sports problem of the winter—Babe Ruth and his expired contract with the New York Yankees.

"Aw," said baseball's great man today, "that's no problem. I'll see Col. Ruppert some time in January and we'll talk it over. We never had any real trouble reaching an agreement before. Why should we now?"

This is all the first-hand information available on the subject at the moment, but it is enough to start conjecture as to whether the great hitter hasn't already seen the Yankee owner and already talked of the past, with its 2-year contract at $80,000 per annum, as well as the future, at a decreased rate.

Babe's Affairs Now Private.

As a matter of fact the Babe, as he gets older and wiser, prefers now to keep the intimate details of his business problems to himself. In his prime he waged many a battle for increased wages in the newspapers. Now, hoping for only two more years of playing life to round out his score of seasons under the big top, the Babe is looking far ahead into the managerial possibilities of the future. Diplomacy, rather than public indignation, is his strongest card.

Certainly baseball and the possibility of argument over a new agreement with the Yankees were the farthest things from the Bambino's mind today as he bustled about his apartment, aided by his wife, speaking into a microphone one moment, posing for pictures another, talking for movies, and in between times packing for a hunting expedition against the wild turkeys of North Carolina.

Will Toughen Legs Hunting Turkeys.

Just returned from California and a brief session with the picture makers, the Babe seems in perfect physi-

Mrs. Hoover To Present Grid Cup

First Lady Will See Marines Play Coast Guard Tomorrow.

Bears, Undefeated, to Seek First Victory Over Devil Dogs.

THE First Lady of the Land, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, will officiate at the presentation of the President's Cup to the winning team tomorrow in the annual service football game between the Marines and the Coast Guard in Griffith Stadium. Mrs. Hoover yesterday advised the committee in charge that she would be pleased and honored to make the presentation of the huge trophy, donated by the former President, Calvin Coolidge, back in 1924.

Mrs. Hoover will arrive at the stadium shortly before the opening kick-off, scheduled at 2 p. m. She and her party will occupy a special box. The game is the occasion not only for the display of exciting football, but for the colorful gathering of dignitaries in Washington's official and diplomatic life and thousands of service men. Three battalions of Coast Guardsmen and the Coast Guard Academy Band will vie for vocal honors with 1,500 Marines and the Quantico Post Band.

Guardsmen Arrive Today.

The Coast Guardsmen will arrive here this morning on the cutters Champlain and Mendota and the destroyers Herndon, Welborn C. Wood, Hunt and Ericsson. Many guardsmen, particularly those of the Atlantic Coast life-saving stations, will make the journey in their own conveyances.

At 1:10 p. m. the guardsmen, led by Lieut R. V. Marron, will march on the field with their band. At 1:30 the Marines will make their appearance, following a march up Sixth street from the downtown section. Maj. Gen. John H. Russell will lead the Marines.

Unless all signs fail or the weather man takes a hand by providing a disagreeable day, one of the largest crowds in the history of the President's Cup game will be in the stands. Tickets have been going rapidly.

The game promises to be one of the finest of the series. Both teams are primed for it.

Encouraged by the wonderful showing of their team, which has won all eight games while holding its foes to a total of thirteen points, Coast Guard supporters are confident tomorrow will be the day for the Bears to overthrow the Leathernecks and gain possession of the prized cup for the first time.

Bears Boast Many Stars.

Bear followers believe that such stellar players as Les Maynard, Art Heffelfinger, Eddie Boland and Capt. Edwards will give the Gyrenes an agonizing afternoon.

Prominent in the Marine array are Andy Zeher, George Robertson and Lieuts. Joe Bauer, Dave O'Neil and Joe Burger.

Officials Will Urge Change in Kick-Off

Return to Old System, With High, Floating Ball, Lessens Injury Chances.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Tom Thorp, noted football official, said today that he and other Eastern coaches and officials had decided, informally, to recommend a change in the present kick-off as a means of reducing the number of injuries and deaths attached to the game.

Instead of the present method, whereby the ball is held by another player at the kick-off, Thorp said he and his associates favor a return to the old system of putting the ball on a high mound. Added height and distance is obtained by the latter method.

"When the kicker uses a mound, he gets a high, floating ball that enables his players to get down the field almost with it," Thorp explained. "The receiving team doesn't have time to form a flying wedge in front of the ball carrier and there is much less danger of injury. Many times the ball will carry over the goal line on the fly.

"We'll either have to do that or abolish the kick-off entirely. It seems a shame to do that, because it's about the most spectacular part of the game."

Chocolate Is Refused Bail; Awaits Extradition to Cuba

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Federal Judge John C. Knox today refused to set bail for Eligio Sardinas, better known as Kid Chocolate, Cuban boxer, who was returned to the Federal House of Detention to await extradition to Cuba. The boxer is wanted in Cuba on a charge that he abducted Rosaria Mora, 17-year-old Cuban girl, from Havana under promise of marriage.

Judge Knox said that while the United States District Court had the right to issue bail in such cases in extreme circumstances, he did not see any justification to do so in the present case.

Cuban Officials On Way.

United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter, before whom Chocolate had been given a hearing earlier in the day, advised Judge Knox that extradition proceedings had been instituted to take the boxer back to Cuba, and that Cuban officials already were on their way to this country to take him back.

The hearing before Commissioner Cotter was to decide whether arrangements could be made by which Kid Chocolate would be able to remain in this country to meet Al Singer on December 11 in a bout for the free milk fund.

After reading a translated copy of the indictment forwarded from Cuba, Commissioner Cotter said there appeared to be no course open other than that of holding Chocolate for return to Cuba. The matter was then put over until Saturday, and Chocolate was taken before Judge Knox to see if bail could be set.

Battalino to Meet Singer.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Christopher (Bat) Battalino, featherweight champion, agreed today to box Al Singer in Madison Square Garden December 11 in place of Kid Chocolate, Cuban Negro awaiting extradition to Cuba.

Singer as yet had not agreed to the change, but was expected to sign new articles. The card is for the Hearst Christmas fund.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

"FEATHER" MATROS KIRILENKO, whose muscles billow as if he were fashioned by Rubens, was piled on top that monumental heap of rasslers thrown by Jim Londos late last night at the Washington Auditorium before a jammed house in 39 minutes, during most of which neither Jim nor the Matros could get elderdown.

For the greater part of the soiree, news cameras clicked, news reels reeled and about 6,700 fans sat out on the very tips of about that many seats, but the only fireworks were in the flashlights of the picture-takers. Londos was his usually cautious self, and Kirilenko, while he was about on top form, once more fell in line along with Londos' other assailants and treated the champ with gracious deference.

Perhaps it was the fact that the wondrous shoulders of the Londos man have not touched the mat in years that kept suspense in the exhibition. Otherwise, there was nothing to distinguish it from a preliminary between two good but oh, so careful, men, both of whom seemed to have a speculative eye on their schedule book, which calls for matches tonight.

Outdone by Gory Preliminaries.

But this particular feature match was distinguished from last night's preliminaries—distinctly, for the boys who preceded them waged as gory and slamming a prelude as has ever been seen here. The two matches which directly antedated the Londos-Kirilenko affair brought together Chief White Feather and Pat O'Shocker and Rudy Dusek and Joe Cox, the latter a substitute for Frank Brunowicz. Both bouts hit some new high for sheer vigor.

The old chieftain and O'Shocker went 30 minutes to a draw, punctuated with minutes of free-swinging chin-clouting which, to all appearances, had both boys a little cockeyed. O'Shocker performed the most excruciating trick of all late in the match when he wound the Chief into knots and then, with all the berserk insanity of a foreman in the inquisition room, peeled a sticking plaster off an angry looking wound on the Chief's forehead, and another off the old gent's wrist. It made strong men blanch. The Indian's right hooks were as honest as a bead of sweat.

Dusek Reaches Chin Of the Opposition.

Dusek came out with his usual elbow slinging, and thereafter in his 29-minute match with Cox, was in full retreat. This Cox person lost, of course, but he gave Rudy the miseries throughout, showing greater strength than the tough guy save for a half minute near the end when successive jabs to the Coxian jer rendered him groggy and Dusek laid him like a bit of bulging linoleum.

Londos was in excellent shape. Quicker than a catapulted cat, he weaved and ducked and skipped around the heavier Kirilenko for six minutes before the big man could lay more than a friendly hand on him. Londos went down first, the victim of a good wrist lock. They were up again presently, and Kirilenko stuck a couple of good lefts

Greenleaf Breaks Cue Tourney Record

Philadelphia, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Ralph Greenleaf, of New York, established a tournament record tonight by defeating Spencer Livsey, of Los Angeles, 125 to 14, in two innings in the world's pocket billiard championship play.

Greenleaf ran 85 in the first inning to tie the tourney high run and came back with an unfinished 40. Livsey made 14 in the second.

Frank Taberski, of Schnectady, N. Y., won the first afternoon match today, defeating Robert Lindblom, of Seattle, 125 to 31.

Bennie Allen, of Kansas City, also won this afternoon, defeating Onofrio Lauri, Brooklyn, N. Y., 125 to 29, also in eight innings. His high run was 44 and Lauri's high was 14.

Andrew Ponzi, of Philadelphia defeated Al Miller, Racine, Wis., 125 to 54, in the first game of tonight's session. Ponzi had a high run of 43 while Miller made only 13.

This Morning with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE Washington Baseball Club's long search for a hard-hitting, right-handed outfielder, which assumed the proportions of an obsession every time the Nats slumped for want of batting strength, has finally been crowned with success in the deal of yesterday which brings Carl Reynolds to the Nats from the Chicago White Sox.

The acquisition of Reynolds and John Kerr, infielder, entailed the release by Washington of Sam Jones, Irving Hadley and Jack Hayes, and it is the belief of this column that Reynolds and Kerr more than balance the scales in favor of the Washington club.

The Washington club has lacked a player of the Reynolds type since the release (don't laugh) of Goose Goslin. Goslin for all his staggering under fly balls, improved in later years to the extent that he became a very capable fly chaser. Reynolds, a hawk in the outfield, more nearly approaches Goslin's slugging than any player on the Washington roster, as is attested by his .350 average in 1930.

Kerr and Hayes play minor roles in the five-player deal and the swap virtually resolves itself into a trade of Hadley and Jones for the hard-hitting Reynolds. The loss of these two pitchers is not a serious blow to the Washington staff. The Nats, it is admitted, need pitching strength. Last season Hadley and Jones were pitchers, but they didn't represent pitching strength.

Early last season, Hadley was held in such high esteem by the other American League clubs that when Griffith asked waivers on the pitcher, only the Cleveland Indians put in a claim. Thinking Cleveland may be interested in a trade, Griffith withdrew the waivers and attempted to deal privately with the Indians for talent in exchange for Hadley, but Cleveland's only offer was Seeds, a rookie outfielder, who has since passed out of the majors.

With Reynolds in the line-up in right field daily, where he doubtless will replace Sam Rice, the Nats possess a batting weapon which they have sorely lacked, particularly with the slump of Heinie Manush last season.

Once more, in Reynolds, the Nats boast in their line-up a hitter who possesses the power to break up a ball game and places the Washington club more nearly on even terms with the rival clubs in the circuit, who have won so many heartbreaking games from the Nats by one long wallop that offset a grist of Washington singles.

Neither should the Nats feel the loss of Jack Hayes with the coming of Kerr as a utility infielder. Were this part of the deal a straight swap of the two players, the Nats would have gained the better of the bargain as far as comparative ability goes.

Hayes, with a hitting weakness that always balked his efforts to gain a regular place in the line-up, was of use to the Nats only in utility roles. He could not hope to displace the harder-hitting Myer. Kerr, a smooth fielder, was the batting leader of the Coast League in his minor league days, and if he strikes again a pace that approximates those efforts he will be a distinct menace to the hold of Myer on the second base job. He holds, too, a possibility of dislodging Bluege at third base if he maintains a respectable batting average.

Hayes' passing, however, will remove from Washington the cleverest fielder at his position in the league, whose batting weakness alone kept him from a regular post.

From the day he made his big league debut fresh from the Southern League, Hayes stamped himself as one of the best fielding second basemen in the league with more natural ability than any other recruit to break in in years. In the pregame infield practices, Hayes positively shamed Manager Bucky Harris with the ease and smoothness of his efforts, accurate arm, and clever pivoting on double plays as contrasted with Harris' comparatively crude but nonetheless effective play.

Clark Griffith, who has engineered the only three big player deals of the last three years, remains as one of the few survivors of the old-fashioned custom of swapping players which virtually passed out with the entrance of padded check books in the hands of affluent brewers, railroad magnates and other multimillionaires who have become identified with the game once ruled over by former ball players who rose from the ranks.

The player trade is still the warp and woof of baseball's fan interest.

N. Y. U. May Retain Meehan at Wage Cut

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The World-Telegram says the New York University athletic board favors retaining John F. (Chick) Meehan as head football coach at a possible reduction in salary.

Meehan's contract, which is understood to give him $18,000 a year, expires this season. The newspaper says there is no faculty opposition to offering him a new contract but reports the suggestion that he take a $4,000 cut for 1932.

STIMULATOR EASY WINNER IN JEFFERSON PARK FEATURE

Simple Singer Beaten by 3 Lengths

Bay Angon Sets Pace But Gets No Better Than Third.

Crazy Coot, Whitney Entry, Accounts for Opener.

JEFFERSON PARK RACE TRACK, New Orleans, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Early morning drizzles and fog which made it hard to distinguish colors was the order of the day at the Crescent City course and the racing strip remained very heavy. The headline event was the William Thornton Purse for 2-year-olds at 6 furlongs. R. A. Fairbairn's Stimulator, a colt which campaigned on New York tracks the past summer, had entirely too much speed for his rivals and took the spoils by three lengths.

J. Marsch's Simple Singer was second, with E. A. Iglehart's Bay Angon third, another half length away. The winner returned $8.20 for a $2 ticket and covered the distance in 1:20 3-5. Willie Garner got Stimulator off third, but the boy lost no time in sending his mount to the head end, where he remained without any trouble.

Bay Angon Can Not Stand Fast Pace.

Bay Angon broke first, but could not keep step with the winner and followed the pace several lengths back to the final sixteenth, where Simple Singer's determined bid earned the place position. The others were never factors

The colors of C. V. Whitney were carried to an easy triumph in the opening dash of six furlongs by the 4-year-old colt Crazy Coot, a pronounced mudder, which scored by four lengths over John Speed. The latter was two lengths before Pandola. Crazy Coot was the only one the talent could see and he paid $2.80 for $2. The Whitney colorbearer got off in the middle of the pack, but quickly sprinted to the front and drew into a wide lead. The time was 1:21 4-5.

Miss Onine, a daughter of Westy Hogan, showed great fondness for the muddy footing and led home eleven other cheap ones in the 6 furlongs of the second number; a length and a half back came King Halma, an outsider, to beat Marabou a half length for the place. Miss Onine followed the pace cut out by Dark Simon and Jeff O'Neil to the stretch, where she assumed command and stood off King Halma when the latter challenged with a late rush. The winner paid $8.80 for $2.

Spanflow Regains Form In Third.

Mrs. R. Pollard's Spanflow suddenly regained winning form in the third event and the gelding was the medium of a clean-up, for he was heavily backed and paid $4.20 for $2. Punkie was second with Erin Go Bragh third. Stage Struck, also well played, finished fourth. Jockey Lewis took Punkie to the front and led by a length leaving the back stretch, but dropped back only to come again at the end. Spanflow raced close to the pace to the stretch, where Hanford urged him forward and the favorite got up to win by a length and a half.

Adalor T., paying $11.00 for $2, was much the best of the eight 3-year-olds in the fourth race, a mile dash. The Knebelkamp and Morris gelding scored with six lengths of daylight to spare over the favorite, Transgression. Wise Susan, after being bumped at the start by Catalog, was third. Adalor T. and Transgression ran away from their rivals shortly after the start, but Adalor drew in to a lead of half a dozen lengths and never left the result in doubt, while Transgression was an even easier second.

Banjo was tuned up to exactly the right pitch today and just galloped in front all the way of the sixth contest to score by three lengths. Lady Marsch was second and Light Mint third. Lady Marsch was an easy second at all stages of the race, but she could make no impression on the flying leader. Light Mint was well back early but closed ground through the stretch to lose the place by five lengths. Banjo paid $10.20.

Jockey Given 60 Days On Narcotic Charge

Chicago, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Quaking from the effects of narcotics used for three years, Floyd Halbert, a noted jockey, today was sentenced to sixty days in the Bridewell Hospital.

"You are too young and too great a race rider to throw away your life like this," said Judge Donald McKinley in sentencing Halbert. "This sentence may cure you."

Halbert said he had become addicted to narcotics while recovering from a fall from a horse three years ago and had spent $75,000 on drugs. Halbert is 28 years old. His home is in Nebraska.

G. U. Juniors, Seniors In Grid Clash Sunday

The final game of the intramural football tournament, directed by Ralph McCarthy, at Georgetown University, will be held Sunday morning between the juniors and seniors, starting at 10:15 o'clock on the field in the rear of the Medical School.

The juniors' hopes for victory are based on the sterling back field work of Al Kelly, intercollegiate sprint champion, and Ed Farley, while the seniors will rely largely on their strong front line. Each team has defeated the freshmen and sophomores to gain the finals.

Bradley, Injured G. U. Gridman, Out on Track

Wilmer Bradley, Georgetown University full back, whose injury and consequent withdrawal from the football team early in the season was one of a series of severe blows to Hilltop hopes, is now working out with the Blue and Gray track squad. He has practically recovered from a broken collarbone.

During his high school career in Connellsville, Pa., Bradley was an outstanding sprinter and quartermiler. He will shortly begin serious training along with such Hilltop cinder-path veterans as Vic Burke, Chuck Carlin, Al Kelly, Artie Briggs, Jack Downing and Capt. Jim Kelly for the coming indoor season. Coach Jimmy Mulligan, successor to John D. O'Reilly, is expected to announce formal opening of the season within the next week.

NOT TO QUIT GRID.

Bernie Donoghue, Georgetown University half back, yesterday asked for a correction of the published report that he had given up football on account of injuries. He stated that he hoped to resume competition on the gridiron next fall. During the past season, he suffered a nerve injury in his hip which affected his running and kicking.

—Jefferson Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

JEFFERSON PARK, New Orleans, Dec. 3.—The Chef Menteur Purse, a gallop over the mile and 70 yards route which received a list of ten 4-year-olds and upward, will feature the program at Jefferson Park tomorrow. With the track in a heavy condition, mudders will be much in demand.

In the headliner, HAL RILEY, a useful plater from the stable of J. Marsch, which scored impressively in his first start at this track, is selected to score. STOP GAP finished behind the top one in their last meeting and figures to go as well here. HERENDEEN, a natural router, appears best of the others for the show.

FIRST RACE—DOWNPOUR, has demonstrated his ability to negotiate heavy going and should hold this field safe. PETABIT is given the place call with CLARET favored for the show award.

SECOND RACE—CAMPUS CAPERS scored easily against a similar field in her last outing and the Campfire filly should duplicate that effort. ELEANORA M. displayed a liking for soft footing in her last and on that effort is the one to fear. LANIER should hold SWEEP PAST safe for the minor award.

THIRD RACE—A large group of juveniles will face the barrier, with PEAL favored to annex the honors. This 2-year-old has shown the speed in trials and is in prime condition. BEAUTY BRIDE is on the improve and is the place choice, with PRINCESS CRUSADER selected to get into the money.

FOURTH RACE—HIGH POCKETS disappointed in his last when the M. C. Rush 3-year-old was weakly ridden. With better handling, the colt should show the way to his nine maiden rivals in the mile. DISTRESS SIGNAL and WELL BEHAVED should furnish the competition.

SIXTH RACE—BLUSHING MAIDEN has the speed of the field opposed to her in the sixth event at the mile and a sixteenth route and should gallop to an easy victory. MISS MARYLAND and INTERIOR appear best of the others.

SEVENTH RACE—DIODORO finished second last outing and figures to improve enough to gain the honors. McCULLOCH, a steady plater and a mud runner, is fancied for the place, with MATTHEW selected for the show.

ALEXANDRIA HIGH BUSY ON COURT

19 Games for Girls and Boys Are on Schedule.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Dec. 3.—Nineteen basket ball games will be played by the Alexandria High School team this season. The Twins will perform in ten home contests, while nine will be fought on foreign floors. This does not include the State championship series, if the locals are fortunate enough to reach this competition.

On December 11 the woodways season will be opened here with the Twins playing the Manassas tossers in the first set-to. The girls also will perform in the preliminary. Both girls' and boys' teams have been practicing daily at Armory Hall, and the coaches are enthused over the outlook.

Schriener Captain of Boys' Team.

The high school sextet will miss the services of Miss Frances Gaines, star forward last year. She has been confined to her home for the past six weeks.

Lewis Schriener is captain of the boys' team. Varsity men back are Jimmy Bruin, Jack Hudson, Reds Jackson and Dickie Clift. Coach Given announces that 25 candidates are seeking berths.

Miss Frankhouser, from Winston-Salem, N. C., is coach of the girls' team. Around 50 are seeking berths.

The schedule follows:

December 11, Manassas, home, boys and girls; 16, Western, away; 18, Devitt, here.

January 6, Fives, Charlottesville, away; 8, Manassas, away; 9, Lee-Jackson, here, boys and girls; 13, Hyattsville, away, boys and girls; 15, Washington and Lee, here; 18, Fredericksburg Collegian, away; 22, Fives, Charlottesville, here; 30, St. John's College, here.

February 5, Fredericksburg, here, boys and girls; 10, Eastern, away; 12, Hopewell, here; 16, St. John's, here; 19, Hyattsville, here, boys and girls; 24, Washington and Lee, away; 26, Fredericksburg, away, boys and girls; 27, Western, here.

"Bubbles" Yarter, star half back, with the Twins in early season games, who was ruled out of the gridiron game because of scholastic difficulties will be eligible to perform in the Lane High game for State honors at Charlottesville, Va., December 12, it was learned today.

Coach Given had his boys out yesterday for a long drill and is confident the team will give a good account of itself in the State titular contest.

Gallant Knight Pointed For $100,000 Handicap

Special to The Washington Post.

Berryville, Va., Dec. 3.—Kay Spence, first-class horse trainer and keen student of breeding, who came dangerously near winning the second Agua Caliente Handicap last March with Bernard B. Jones' The Choctaw after Easter Stockings, which was thought to be a better prospect, had gone wrong on him, may take a stab at the third with Gallant Knight.

Mike Hall defeated The Choctaw by a neck after a long hard drive and earned $100,000 net, the biggest sum ever taken down by a horse past 2 years old for a single performance in world racing. The record sum—$105,730—was the winner's cut of the $130.000 Futurity purse of 1929, which fell to the 2-year-old Whichone.

The participation of Gallant Knight depends on the next four or five weeks at Audley Farm, where he has been rusticating with the other members of the string Spence raced in the cornbelt and blue grass through the major season past for B. B. Jones. Just now he looks good.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

HAVEN (Kans.) High School scored the most points ever garnered in a single football game, when they defeated Sylvia 256 to 0. A near approach to Haven's record was made by Staunton, Ill., High when they ran roughshod over Gillespie High, 232 to 0.

Georgia Tech holds the honor among college teams for the most points in one game. Tech defeated Cumberland, 222 to 0, in 1916, and the game lasted only 44 minutes. The first two quarters were shortened to 12 minutes, and the last two, to 10 minutes. If the game had lasted the regulation 60 minutes and had Tech maintained its average score, the contest would have ended, 297 to 0.

Bill Fincher kicked the first 18 goals after touchdown in this game.

Roy L. Meyer's new automobile is run by compressed air, under 500 pounds pressure. An air throttle is the only lever that the driver has to operate. The car travels 35 miles per hour, but Meyers says that it can be made to go much faster. He claims to get 600 miles on one filling of air, which is contained in tanks placed in the rear. The compressed air expands in the cylinders, forcing the pistons up and down as gas explosions do in ordinary motors.

Relatively few coaching changes are in prospect for 1932, as compared with the wholesale shake-ups of the past two years. The reports have been persistent that Bernie Bierman, coach of the

STATE TITLE BATTLE AWAITED BY 2 MARYLAND ELEVENS

Dunn, Terror Star, Ready To Play

Old Line Scouts Say Back's Injuries Are Exaggerated.

Poppelman Will Start at Quarter Back for Maryland.

FOOTBALL squads of the University of Maryland and Western Maryland College are marking time today, fully prepared to fly at each other's throats tomorrow in the State championship in Baltimore Stadium. Both await the big clash with keen anticipation, each confident of winning and securing for a year's possession the Mayor Howard W. Jackson Cup, emblematic of the intercollegiate football championship of the Free State.

Reports early in the week that Western Maryland was weakened from injuries have been declared gross exaggerations by University of Maryland scouts, who claim that Coach Dick Harlow's squad is really in the best condition it has enjoyed this season. At no time, however, have University of Maryland coaches believed the reports and the training of the Terrapins has gone along at top speed with a view to meeting a capable, rugged foe.

Dunn Ready, Say Maryland Scouts.

Whereas it had been reported that the Terrors would be forced to play without the services of Jimmy Dunn, their backfield star, Maryland scouts yesterday asserted that Dunn is actually "rarin'" to go. He may not appear in the Terrors' starting line-up, they said, but before the clash is finished he undoubtedly will be in there to exercise his ability as a runner, passer and kicker.

Maryland is at full strength and announces it will have no alibis if defeated. The Terrapins are quite frank about their convictions of superiority. They are out to smash the spell that the Terrors have held over them for two years, and, more significantly, the facts seem to back them up.

Best Old Line Team In Years.

Curly Byrd's team unquestionably is the strongest Maryland has boasted in the last seven or eight years. It is a team of veterans, well equipped mentally and physically. Thus far it has suffered only one defeat—that from a powerful Vanderbilt eleven—and has compiled its impressive record with small use of a strong reserve force.

The university line-up tomorrow will find Ray Poppelmen at quarter back instead of full back, with Al Woods changing positions with him. Woods started the season as quarter back and held that berth until an injury forced him out of action on October 17. During his absence Poppelman became the signal-caller. When he returned Coach Byrd deemed another change unwise, thus sending Al to the full-back position.

He has been in the hospital for several days, suffering with a mild case of influenza.

in the royal mug. For all his strength, however, he was unable to administer one simple flying mare to Londos. The Greek, whenever Kirilenko grabbed him around the neck, braced his legs as if they were set in cement, and the crowd booed the Matros as his great muscles strained and Londos held his ground.

The end came as all Londos' wins come. Picked up, all 220 pounds of him, Kirilenko was spun slowly and helplessly around in the tobacco-laden air, in the throes of an airplane spin, and then was flung down on the mat with force enough to make a doughnut of the whole ring structure.

Before the last three matches, Herby Freeman tossed dour old Tigah Nelson in fourteen minutes with a series of flying headlocks; Paul Jones, the reformed florist, scissored Hans Bauer almost in two in 14½ minutes, and the show got off to a halting start when Dutch Green and George Romonoff put on another of their 15-minute draws, without which the history of local matdom could be written in one thin column.

MERCURY PRACTICES.

The Mercury unlimited team will work out tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Four-and-a-half and B streets southwest in preparation for Sunday's game with the Fraters in the Capital City League. Meyers, Carrott, Gorrila and Huntt are especially requested to report.

MIRACLES OF SPORTS. —By Robert Edgren

Big Ten Officials In Meeting Today

Shrinkage of Football Receipts to Be Discussed in Two-Day Session.

Chicago, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Athletic directors, coaches of all sports and faculty representatives of the Western Conference will open a two-day meeting here tomorrow with the principal problem of balancing the ledger, due to the shrinkage of football receipts, confronting them. Conference football schedules for next year already have been drawn, but the coaches and directors may arrange several nonconference games to fill open dates on their schedules for next fall.

No important rulings are expected from the faculty committee. The need of drastic curtailment in the minor sports program confronts the directors of athletics due to the falling off of football gate receipts in almost every institution in the Big Ten, with the exception of Northwestern and Minnesota.

While officials figures are lacking, John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics, said football attendance had fallen off in the "Big Ten" 30 to 40 per cent.

Hawks, Apaches Want Dry Gridiron

Little Indians Are Planning New Tricks for Contest on Sunday.

Both the Apaches and the Mohawks, old rivals who meet Sunday at Griffith Stadium in a grudge game, are hoping for a dry field. Each is anxious to run up a big score and both teams have shown a dislike for the soft-going this year, although the Mohawks managed to squeeze out a 6-to-0 victory over the Celtics last Sunday.

The Apaches, who showed fans one of the best plays of the season in the second Mohawk game when they tied the score with trick play, which ended in a long forward pass and a touchdown, have prepared a number of surprises for the Hawks built around the speed of Chessy Antos, former Boston College star.

Tennessee in Secret Workout at New York

New York, Dec. 3 (U.P.).—The University of Tennessee football varsity, here for an intersectional post-season charity game with New York University, practiced this afternoon at Yankee Stadium, scene of the Saturday game, and tonight was quartered at Westchester Country Club at Rye.

The practice was conducted in secret, but Coach Bob Neyland told the United Press he sent his players through routine formations and limbering-up drills.

The New York team also practiced at the stadium. Coach Chick Meehan used his third team versed in Tennessee formations against the first and second varsities.

Potomac Boatmen Win In Hagerstown Game

Hagerstown, Md., Dec. 3.—The Potomac Boat Club basket ball team of Washington, D. C., handed the Alsatia tossers of this city their first defeat of the year when they captured a well-played and hard-fought game tonight on the Y. M. C. A. floor, 27 to 23.

Both clubs missed many shots for the basket, but the visitors won by being able to cage the leather from all angles, many of their throws bordering on the sensational. Barker, for the Boatmen, showed about as keen an eye for the cords as any player who has appeared on the local court in years, and it was his work in the final period that earned the visitors the contest.

C. U. PLAYERS AND COACH ON RADIO

Alabama Game to Be Discussed; Sales Are Brisk.

OVER station WJSV, at 7:45 o'clock tonight, Head Football Coach "Dutch" Bergman and outstanding gridironers of the sensational 1931 C. U. eleven are to broadcast their versions of the impending charity game to be offered at Griffith Stadium, December 12.

Catholic University, which appears second on a program sending George Washington, C. U. and Georgetown into action against Alabama's 1930 Rose Bowl champions, is confident of its ability to make the best showing of any Washington College team.

Included among those who are to speak briefly tonight are seven seniors who will be showing for the last time in the Alabama game. They are: Johnny Oliver, Nick Monaco, Carl DeMello, Fred Guarnieri, Lou Bertoni, "Whitey" Ambrose, and Johnny Lyons. All served as acting captains on their eleven during the past season.

Gross, Lyons, Flynn To Speak.

"Fainting Phil" Gross, Jim Lyons and "Bingo" Flynn are to participate in the proceedings.

Following a five minute talk on the benefit performance, Bergman will turn over the microphone to his stars.

Yesterday, the Cardinals launched the first of a series of scrimmages preparatory to the impending contest. Hard tackling and creditable blocking featured the mixing.

Funds from the sale of tickets for the extravaganza are steadily increasing, officials in charge of the sale yesterday reported. Both of the main distributing centers—Spalding's, 1338 G street northwest, and Griffith Stadium—reported steady business on the second day of the sale at the established prices. Previously, at reduced prices, the tickets yielded a sum in excess of $7,000, double the guaranteed expenses of the Alabama University squad, which will meet the elevens of George Washington, Catholic and Georgetown Universities in the scheduled attraction.

Officials revealed, however, that plenty of good seats are still available.

George Washington also held practice yesterday. Georgetown may resume drilling today. Alabama will arrive here next Thursday at noon and hold a public practice a few hours later in Griffith Stadium.

Eastern High Defeats Boys Club Five, 55-34

With every man on the squad seeing action, the 1931-32 edition of the Eastern High Basket Ball Team defeated the Boys Club unlimited tossers by a score of 55-34 in the Boy's Club Gym last night. The losers employed two teams in an effort to stem the rush of the light blue, but to no avail.

Waters, Finneran, Courtney, Zola, Kane and Lieb looked especially good for the school boys. Cole and Lassise led the club team in scoring with 11 points each. It was the first game of the season for both teams.

The Marvel 130-pound basket ball team stepped out of its class long enough to throw a fright into the Iowa unlimited team, losing by one point, last night. The final score was 34-33. Hitting the Head Pin

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON

EVEN bowling must admit to harboring some individuals who faithfully abide by curious little practices that distinguish them from the ordinary pinspiller. For a long time suspicion lay only in the direction of a select few golfers, actors, baseball players and tennis stars, but the news of the culprits within the ranks of the mapleway enthusiasts has finally leaked out and been confirmed.

There is the case of Fred (knock it over the fence and get one) Pelzman, one of the saddest on record. Every day Fred slips into the King Pin alleys just across the street for a single game. When he starts he simply puts the word Fred in the space for his name, and Fred it remains should he roll a poor game in the eighties. But let the score assume promising proportions and swell to 100 or over, and presto! the name Pelzman joins Fred on the score sheet. Yesterday he finished with a score of 105, so the two were on display.

Then there is the gentleman, distinguished only by the letter N. He, too, frequents the King Pin Drives. This particular party keeps his score in a private and amusing code. For instance, in his first box should be get an 8, the word ate goes in the box. In the next square he may employ Roman numerals, and 60 is marked down as 6 tea. A 77 score is recorded as a "double crap," and two markings, with undetermined meanings, are "rib also," and "Y T." It's a great life if you add a little mystery to it.

The fur, and a few pins, should fly in the Arcade-Sunshine League at Arcadia. Hat Department and Laundryman will clash for the lead, Service and Rug Department will be battling for second place, and the Dry Cleaners and Cold Storage will settle the fourth place dispute. "Whitey" Latham, Glazier and Whiting are expected to have prominent roles in the night's work.

Wonder Bread hung up a new team set record for the Commercial League while taking Sterrett Operating Service into camp for a three-game win at Convention Hall. The new mark of 1,688. Daily News had to roll the highest game of the evening, 593, to win a single game from Evening Star. Times-Herald took the odd one from Diamond Cab, Peoples Drug Stores did the same to Wodward & Lothrop and Carry's Ice Cream swamped Occidental Hotel and won all three.

The Washington Post teams did not fare so well in the Convention Hall Afternoon League yesterday, the Composing Room crew dropping the odd game to the Herald men, and the Press team losing to the Star aggregation. Fred Bucholtz's Occidental Hotel gang almost put their genial sponsor in the hospital with a bad shock, when they trimmed the Master Printers in all three games. Post Circulation—ah, here's one for us—took the measure of Bond Vitamin D by the single game. "Chick" Darnall's 120 game was high for the loop and "Kid" Hill's 329 was the best set score recorded.

Bill Wood's Lucky Strike team went on a rampage at the Lucky Drives last night and figuratively speaking, kicked "Red" Megaw's Temple crew right smack in the seat of the pants, winning all three games with plenty to spare. Lucky Strike's scores were 627, 617, and 597. Temple's games were 572, 574, and 577. It was a National Capital League match. Chester Bild and Weidman tied for high game honors with scores of 140 each, while Earl McPhilomy uprooted 395 pins to clinch set honors. "Chief" Lovett's set of 378 led the Temple team.

Coming from behind in the last two games, Norman Schroth's Fountain Hams downed Petworth in a closely contested match at Lucky Strike last night. The Hams' games were 585, 604, and 578. Petworth's games were 627, 576, and 524. Tony Santini was the big, bad man from the south for the Hams, rolling a game of 157 and set of 386, both of which were high for the evening. Clanpitt, of Petworth, was not very far behind Tony in the set argument, finishing with a total of 381 pins in his woodpile.

Henry Hiser's Bethesda team will probably be haled into court within a few games, charged with disrupting the peace and order of the Maryland, Virginia Suburban League. Henry's boys swept Rockville off its feet, winning all three games with plenty to spare, and hanging up a new team set record for the league in the bargain. The scores were 594, 623, and 632, which added together total 1,849, the new mark. Harris, Hiser, Hoffman, Stubbs and Parks composed the victorious team.

Convention Hall invaded King Pin for a District League match last night, and came off second best. Art Logan's gang was just too good for 'em last night. King Pin's scores were 576, 564, 504. The Hall crew's games were 568, 520 and 545. Frank Mischou came through with colors flying, chalking up a game of 140 and a neat little total of 359 for his three games.

Miss Justice, of the Friendly Five, and Mrs. Baird, of the Climbers, had a swell time in the Ladies' Public Health League at Lucky Strike. The former knocked 306 pins over for high set, and her companion in crime toppled the maples for a game of 118. The Climbers took team honors with a game of 461, supported by a set of 1,320.

The Deuces were wild in the Women's Veterans' Bureau loop at Arcadia. The Deuces being another one of those teams with a queer identification tag. The team scored a game of 461 and set of 1,299. The Misses Walsh and Bookmiller took individual honors. The former counted 108 pins for high game and the latter 290 for high set.

Veterans' Administration has first place in the Ladies' Federal League all to itself this morning as a result of its clean sweep over Internal Revenue at Arcadia last night. The Vets, led by Bess Kirk, who rolled a set of 349, were not particularly hard pressed to gain the victory. Ho, hum! Be nonchalant, light a Murfag. Treasury climbed up on even terms with the third-place Interstate crew by taking all three from the Marines, while their rivals were dropping one to Economics. Bess Ackman's 343 score was a big help to Mr. Mellon's girls. In the other matches, Agriculture took the odd one from Mines as Mabel Fulton, rolling in the anchor position, chalked up the high game of the night, 138. Labor took the odd one from War, G. A. O. scored over G. P. O. by a single game, Commerce took a trio from Commerce Comets, and Commerce Juniors rounded out a pleasant evening by taking Census into camp, 2 to 1.

Princeton assumed a one-game lead in the Intercollegiate League at Rendezvous by taking Maryland over the jumps for the odd game last night. Dartmouth scored the only clean sweep of the evening, Navy taking the egg the goose laid. V. M. I., V. P. I., Cornell and Lehigh scored odd-game victories, winning from Harvard, Michigan, Yale and Brown. Muscoe Garnett, of V. P. I., turned in the highest individual scores of the night, 141 for game and a 350 set. Princeton's game of 565 was just 4 short of the league record. The Tigers also kicked in with a set of 1,573.

It was just like the Fourth of July in the Ladies' A. G. O. League at Columbia last night. Mine Planters, Military Police and Pack Train scored one-game victories over Butcher Co., Firing Squad (there it is again) and Pursuit Squadron, and Bombardment took all three from Signal Battalion. Bombardment's game of 453 and set of 1,329 took the team honors. Mrs. Allen's 282 set and Mrs. Brook's 118 were the best individual efforts recorded.

C. H. Phipps and Esso—what a combination—went home with their pockets full of marbles after the Standard Oil League matches at Arcadia. C. H. Phipps knocked off the individual game and set honors with his 134 and 335, and Esso, the big power team, knocked the maples silly for a game of 497 and set of 1,451.

Al Bell led his Constructioneers to just about all the honors there were in the War Department loop at Arcadia. What Bell didn't get his team did. His high game was 144, and the set 368. His mates chimed in with a game of 575 and set of 1,653. Panama Canal bumped off the Adjutants in all three games, and the Frankies treated the Firing Squad to a dose of its own medicine and won by a single game.

Heurich's Ice Dealers dropped three close ones to the A. & P. Sultanas at Arcadia last night. Brand of the winners was high man with a game of 110 and set of 301. Perc Riston rolled only two games for the Icemen, but did well in those, scoring 109 and 96. The scores were, Heurich's, 419, 458, and 457; A. & P., 478, 460 and 468.

Bergmann's Laundry, Washington, and Bergmann's Zoric were returned victors in the Laundrymen's League at the Recreation alleys last night. Bergmann's Maryland Division, National and Home, were left holding the bag. Cocozzi, of Bergmann's Zoric, turned in a score of 119 for high game, and Hummer of Washington counted high set with a total of 336.

Two clean sweeps and a pair of odd-game victories were recorded in the Men's Interior circuit at Columbia. G. H. I. and Land furnished the goose eggs for Pension and Secretary, and Survey and Disbursing finished one jump ahead of Engraving and Indian. Land's 53 game and 1,615 set took the team honors, while McKay captured the individual laurels with his game of 133 and set of 359.

Finance took all three from Cost in the Valuation Examiners League at the same alleys. Value and Depreciation nosed out Income and Recapture. Value's 518 game and 1,489 were high for the night. Bradford, of the same team, turned in a game of 137 and set of 346.

GRIFFS TRAVEL.

The Griffith-Blue Coals will journey to Fredericksburg, Va., Sunday for a game with the Rebels, at 2:30 p. m. All Griff players are requested to report at Fifteenth and B streets southeast promptly at 10:30 a. m.

COURT TITLE SEEN FOR TECH

McKinley Expected to Have Improved Team This Year.

TECH HIGH appears likely, at this early date, to win the high school basket ball championship, after an inspection of the five teams concerned and the use of comparative figures. Back in harness at Tech is the whole 1930-31 outfit, bigger and stronger. The only missing faces are those of Johns and Johnson, who played portions of last season, and it was the use of Johnson, in a game with Central, that cost Tech its chance of earning a tie with Eastern for the championship.

Tech's team this year will be led by Artie Willison, one of the best guards of last season, and a triple-threat shooter in a pinch. Fred Thomas is an able running mate, and Coach Artie Boyd can suppiant these two with Pinetta and Gregorio, guards on last year's Boys' Club Big Five.

Russell, Reichardt, Wheeler Sharpshooters.

In Everett Russell, Bernie Reichardt and Waverly Wheeler, Tech has the sharpest shooting forwards in the pack this year. They can do more than shoot; they are particularly good in the matter of passing and working the ball around. Russell stands head and shoulders above any one in his class for holding a team together.

Jimmy Reed, upon whom Tech depended for its center, sprained a hand in scrimmage recently but will be back in practice drills before long. Walter Olverson, brother of the George Washington University player, is the reserve center. Both are 6 feet 1.

The team has everything necessary in the success of a scholastic troupe—speed, a measure of brawn, firmly intrenched ideas on how the ball should be worked down to the basket, the best defense in the high school, the deadliness of its forwards, and the not to be overlooked fact that the series will be played on its home court.

Eastern, hard hit by the graduation of Bill Noonan and Dallas Shirley, all-high center and guard, will come back strongly enough to cop the runner-up berth. Central and Western should fight it out for the next position, with the odds favoring the latter team which has Anthony Latona, crack marksman, in its line-up. Business, stripped of its two leading players, Bobby Lucas and Bill Duryee, can hope only to provide its usual scrappy series of games, and take its customary defeats.

EASY STARTING
PERFECT LUBRICATION
That's QUAKER STATE
Don't let cold weather surprise you!

ORDINARY oil stiffens in cold weather. The motor can't turn over easily. Drag results. The engine refuses to start. Remember this, however! Get more than easy starting from winter oil. Starting is only part of the job. Good lubrication is what your motor requires. For the crankcase temperature varies but little in winter or summer, once the motor is running. Quaker State Cold Test Motor Oil is especially refined to deliver easy starting and consistent safe lubrication in zero and sub-zero weather. That is why millions of winter drivers ask for Quaker State Cold Test Motor Oil by name. Do the same, and notice the difference! Have the Independent Dealer drain off your summer oil and replace it with Quaker State Cold Test Motor Oil.

Your motor will start easily. It will run smoothly. Quaker State Cold Test Oil gives motors maximum lubrication protection at low temperature because of its low starting resistance and quick film spread,

STOCK PRICES CLOSE HIGHER AFTER LOSS

Money Circulation Increases in America and Abroad; Steel Is Lower.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—The stock market once more refused to break through the October 8 average lows today.

Although a few shares made new lows during a selling flurry in the first half hour, the list quickly caught its second wind and rallied slowly to the close, which found many pivotal issues 1 to 3 points net higher. There were a number of advances in recently hard-pressed rails. Leading commodities rallied.

Speculative circles appeared less discouraged over railroad prospects, especially with regard to carriers' financing. News of New York Central's proposed bond issue, which may be pledged as collateral for the renewal of large outstanding bank loans, came too late to be a market influence, but some such step had been mentioned in earlier gossip and railroad stocks generally appeared to have been relieved of some of the fears so plainly reflected in Wednesday's decline.

Business News Colorless.

The day's business news was meager and colorless. Bradstreet's reported that its sensitive commodity index had declined in November, notwithstanding the rise in grain prices. As of December 1 it stood just below $8, the lowest since September, 1908.

In all but three of the last 25 months there have been declines in this composite. The review foresaw little evidence of a rise in the index "much before the spring of 1932," mentioning among contributing factors the large Farm Board holdings of cotton and grain, the substantial crops and reduced public purchasing power.

Currency circulation increased $32,000,000 in the week ended December 2 but seasonal influences are now at work and bankers pointed out that gains are to be expected until after the holidays; an expansion of $200,000,000 or so generally comes at this time of the year. Total reserve credit was down $36,000,000 and is now slightly less than $800,000,000 above a year ago.

Circulation Abroad Increases.

Weekly statements of the Banks of England and France reflected month-end settlements, circulation rising at each. Sterling exchange fluctuated less sharply than of late, although the last cable rate represented a small net loss.

In stocks, United States Steel touched a new low at 51¼ and then rallied, closing with a net gain of 1¼. The preferred broke 6 to 4 a lowest since 1917 during the forenoon, but cut the loss in half. American Can came within a fraction of the old low, although it was well supported on the rise and was up 3 net. New York Central Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, New Haven, the Priscos, Chesapeake & Ohio, the Rock Islands and Louisville & Nashville finished about 1 to 3 higher. Radio B preferred weakened in anticipation of the dividend emission. The common made a new low.

Bullish Russian export advices helped firm wheat, which ended the day unchanged to a cent higher. Corn moved narrowly, but cotton followed stocks and advanced 5 to 8 points net.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—Brisk upturns in wheat values today resulted largely from signs of a fadeout of Russia as a bogey threatening the success of market gains.

Reports were current that Russia had bought two cargoes of Australian wheat in the English market, and was trying to cancel future delivery sales of Russian wheat both to Great Britain and Greece. For the first time this season, Russia's export clearances of wheat dropped under those of last year.

Wheat closed unsettled, ½@1¼ cents higher than yesterday's finish. Corn unchanged to ½ lower. Oats ⅛@¼ up, and provisions 2 to 7 cents down.

Nervous fluctuations in wheat prices were frequent, especially just after the start and during the final transactions. Nevertheless, the action of the wheat market for the day as a whole was looked upon by most of the trade as surprisingly strong in view of handicaps from financial and economic developments. Russian news took the spotlight in particular after New York stock market upsets had temporarily caused initial upturns in wheat values to be more than blotted out. Another more or less transient bearish factor was announcement that British millers had proposed a general tariff of about 9 cents a bushel on foreign wheat brought into Great Britain.

An outstanding bullish feature, however, was that Russia's total exports of wheat in the last week had dwindled to 984,000 bushels, compared with 3,448,000 a year ago, and that Russia was actually an importer to a considerable extent, having bought about 500,000 bushels of Australian wheat to go to Vladivostok. It was also shown that Russia's aggregate shipments so far this season were down to 82,080,000 bushels, against 63,040,000 in the corresponding time last year. Meanwhile, Liverpool dispatches said Russia was very short of wheat, that Europe was much underbought, and that adverse weather for the Argentina harvest continued. On the other hand, newly harvested Southern Hemisphere wheat was reported as offered abroad at a discount under United States hard winter wheat.

Heavy deliveries on December corn contracts took the edge off from demand in the corn market. Oats also were somewhat laggard, sympathising with corn.

Provisions were responsive to a downward trend of the hog market.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, December, 53⅛, bids; March, 55, bids; May, 56⅛@56⅜, 60@60⅛; July, 56⅛@59½, 59⅛. Corn, December, 35⅝@37⅜; March, 41¼, offers; May, 41¼@43, 43⅛; July, 43¼@45⅛.

BONDS REPEAT DROP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

Market Is Called Meaningless as Fluctuations Bewilder Exchange Traders.

New York, Dec. 3 (A.P.).—What was described as a "meaningless market" today saw bonds gyrate in erratic flurries with a heavy close, in which the averages of the principal rails and utilities broke through to new low records for a year or more. Sales totaled $14,078,000.

Most foreign government obligations joined in the price descent, with the German loans dropping all the way from 1¼ to 4 points, and registering new depth figures. British 5½s gave up 3⅜ points, and the French, Italians and Scandinavians were under pressure. Argentine bonds, however, were the exception, practically the entire list continuing the advance of yesterday.

While to some observers the trend was distinctly downward, other dealers confessed their inability to diagnose the present situation. For instance, there was witnessed the spectacle of Baltimore & Ohio 5s, series D, of 2000, falling 5 points, while the 4½s, 1933, of the same carrier, advanced 3. Some of the Atchisons advanced and others gave ground.

Chicago, Burlington & Quincy general 4s dropped 7½ points on a single sale and other issues of the same road were up. A Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis issue shed 20¾ points on one sale. Denver & Rio Grande 4½s of 1936 were up 2, and the same company's 5s of 1978 were off 3.

Among the roads that marked up their prices generally were Missouri Pacific, New York Central, St. Louis & San Francisco, Southern Pacific and Erie. Some of the advances were well held, but the new low marks were numerous.

Wabash loans, which recorded heavy slumps yesterday, got back on their fee today and recovered from ⅜ to as much as 4 points.

In other classifications new lows were reached by American & Foreign Power 5s, American International Corporation 5½s and Western Union. American Telephone issues were steady and International Telephone was mixed. International Match 5s dropped 6½ points and the convertible 5s fell 5¼.

United States Government obligations started the day well, but most of them ended up fractionally off.

CREATION OF WORK FOR 300 IS BLOCKED BY COMMISSIONERS

Adams Suffers Setback in Plan to Use Jobless on Streets and Schools.

BOARD HELD IRRITATED BY PROCEDURE USED

Graham Will Make New Effort to Give Laborers City Employment.

The District Commissioners have blocked temporarily the plan of George J. Adams, jr., executive secretary of the District committee on employment, to provide and pay 300 workmen to improve school grounds and streets, it was revealed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the executive section of the committee in the board room of the District Building.

A broad intimation that the Commissioners are irritated because Mr. Adams made his proposal to Maj. H. L. Robb, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, instead of to them was made by Maj. D. J. Donovan, District auditor, who proposed that the committee make its formal offer to the District heads and name a contact man to deal with them hereafter.

Jobs Over-ver Suggested.

The District auditor further suggested that a field manager be appointed to oversee all jobs provided by the committee. The executive secretary, he said, has enough duties to keep him confined in his office in the basement of the District Building.

While the lack of cordiality between Mr. Adams and the Commissioners has been apparent ever since the District heads ousted him from a desirable room on the fifth floor of the District Building, it had never been brought so much into the open until yesterday afternoon.

Maj. F. M. Davison, District Maintenance Engineer, who enthusiastically announced the acceptance of the 300 workmen early this week, is said to have backed out of the project entirely on the ground that he has too many other duties.

E. C. Graham, chairman of the employment committee, said that he would write a formal letter to the Commissioners asking if they could place 300 day laborers and that he would appoint, if they asked, a representative of the committee to confer with them. He ignored the suggestion regarding a field manager.

Editor Offers Objections.

John B. Colpoys, editor of the Trade Unionist, advanced objections to the whole scheme of paying jobless men to work on District government projects. He said that he had heard several business men criticize the proposal and he expressed the belief that the plan would hamper the Community Chest drive.

Both Elwood Street, director of the Chest, and Maj. Donovan arose to defend the scheme, however, and Mr. Colpoys later withdrew his objection.

The report of Mr. Adams revealed that he proposes to hire 100 women at $2.50 a day to make garments for their local charitable institutions as well as the 500 men at $3.60 a day.

Some objections have been raised in the District engineer department to the working of the men eight hours a day instead of six as first announced by Maj. Davison. The District engineers contend that many of the unemployed have been accustomed to white collar jobs and could not stand eight hours of manual labor.

Wage Is Raised.

It is understood that Mr. Graham insisted on the 8-hour day after the District engineers had agreed on the 6-hour day. The wage scale, however, he raised from 35 to 45 cents an hour.

Mr. Adams' report revealed that 157 men were employed last month on work for the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks and that more than 100 had already done some improvement jobs for the playgrounds department and the schools.

A budget of $50,000 has been set by the committee for December based on the Commissioners' acceptance of the 300 workmen. This money is to come from the Community Chest.

Maj. Donovan also proposed the appointment of a disbursing officer to have charge of the paying of the workmen to be assigned the District government. He intimated the job would be too much for the District disbursing officer. Lieut. F. B. Butler, assistant director of parks, said that his office was disbursing the wages to the men assigned to his office.

Life-Saving Costs "Scotty" His Own

Dog Who Saved Woman From Death Dies From Effect of Fumes.

Greater love hath no man than this: that he lay down his life for a friend. This should apply to dogs as well as men. It should apply, for instance, to Scotty, the big, black police dog who died yesterday.

Scotty saved a woman's life a few days ago when he found her unconscious in a garage under the exhaust of a running automobile. The dog's howls attracted neighbors, resulting in the woman's life being saved. But Scotty suffered fatal results from the fumes of carbon monoxide gas he inhaled when he was howling for help. He died yesterday.

Scotty was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Denton, of 3809 Alton place northwest. He was the pride of all the children in the neighborhood of Alton place and Albemarle street northwest.

Newsboy Slightly Hurt By G. U. Student's Car

A newsboy was slightly injured yesterday when he was knocked down by an automobile operated by a Georgetown University student.

Joseph Famans, 19 years old, who is attending the university from Lawrence, N. J., was driving south on Sixteenth street northwest and struck the boy, Clinton Phillips, 12 years old, of 3531 Fourteenth street northwest, as he was crossing at Meridian place northwest.

Open Fireplace-Calls Out Firemen Again

William Flory, of 2401 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, will soon know the firemen so well he can call them by their first names. He inadvertently played host to them again last night—the second time in a week.

A park policeman was walking in front of the Flory home when he noticed a red glare against a second-story window. He ran to the door and pounded on it. He got no response and then turned in a fire alarm.

Firemen arrived in short order and took up the banging and finally forced the door. They dashed upstairs where they found Mr. Flory enjoying the comfort of a roaring fire on the hearth. Mr. Flory explained that he was hard of hearing and did not know he had guests. He also explained that about a week ago someone had mistaken the reflection of his open fireplace for a blaze and that he had played host to the firemen before.

Bus Line Lowers Weekly Pass Cost

Limited Ticket Is Cut From 75 to 50 Cents for Four-Week Period.

The Washington Rapid Transit Co. yesterday obtained permission from the Public Utilities Commission to lower the rate for its weekly limited pass from 75 to 50 cents for a 4-week experimental period beginning next Sunday.

The pass is good for an unlimited number of rides at the following times: any week day, save Saturday, between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. and after 6:30 p. m.; anytime after 9 a. m., on Saturdays, and all day on Sundays. The pass is transferable.

Two weekly tickets were inaugurated several weeks ago by the bus company. The unlimited pass sells for $1.25. The experiment has been reported as successful.

Employes in Theater Are Burned by Film

Two employes of a moving picture theater at 307 Ninth street, owned by Sidney Lust, suffered burns yesterday when a quantity of film caught fire in the projection room of the theater.

C. L. Proffitt, 29 years old, of 5128 Eighth street northwest, projection operator, was treated at Emergency Hospital for burns about the right eye, while John Devries, motion picture technician, 1017 Eighth street northwest, burned on the left arm, was treated at the same institution. Neither man's injuries were regarded as serious.

40 Entrants and Jazz Band In Capital Marathon Dance

Washington's world's championship marathon dance-till-you-drop, but-keep-on-moving contest got under way at the Washington Auditorium last night, and at an early hour this morning 40 entrants and a jazz band had not rested a muscle.

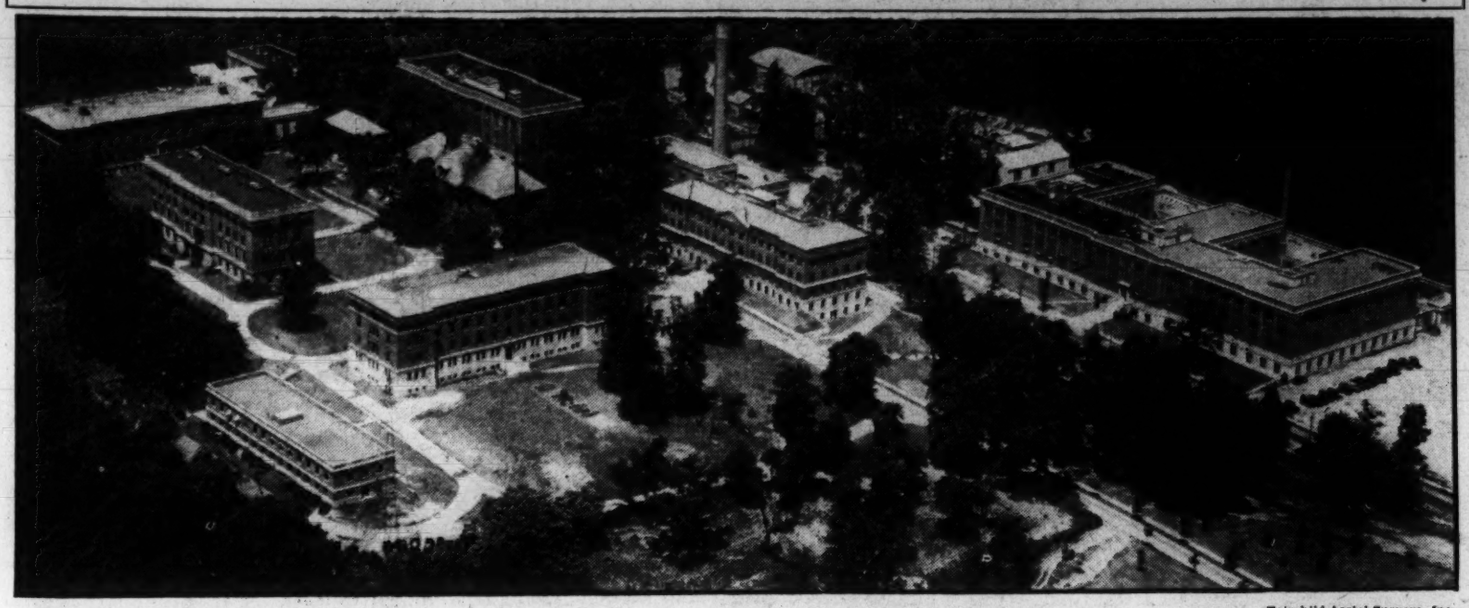
As Master of Ceremonies Charlie Schultz explained, the object is to keep moving for 45 minutes of every hour. Out of the 40 entrants, one couple will probably keep it up for the next eight or ten days and win the $1,000, opines Charlie.

Twelve local dancers took the floor when the gong sounded at 9 o'clock, and four hours later they showed no signs of flagging.

But the Marathon Exhibition Co. was taking no chances. Nineteen cots and a corps of nurses stood by, as the referees clocked the minutes. The dancers are fed eight meals a day, seven of them while standing. They must move their feet six shuffles a minute to call it dancing.

Washington entrants include Joyce Douglas, Irene Williams, Bob Stewart, Margaret Cook, Billy Jack Brown, Myrna Feehan, Rita Gordeau, Lester Phipps, Sue Cassidy, Jack Donnelly, Patricia McLloyd and Jack Moore.

Skyviews of Washington, No. 34



Fairchild Aerial Surveys, Inc.

THE Bureau of Standards, Uncle Sam's scientific laboratories, located off Connecticut avenue at Upton street northwest, is shown in the above aerial snapshot made from the skyviews plane flying west over the grounds.

On the right is the Industrial Building, where experiments with textiles, cement, glass, &c., are constantly in progress, in line with the bureau's research to solve the basic technical problems of industry.

The structure with the tall stack in the central background is the new power house. Just below it is the East Building, where a skilled staff of chemists daily pursue their researches. To the right of the stack may be seen the top of the experimental hangar, where a number of airplanes recently were burned, to find out how best to combat this type of conflagration.

The bureau aids industry directly, or through cooperating committees, through efforts to determine the best standards of dimensions, quality, performance and practice. It is charged by law with the custody of standards, and with their comparison, construction and testing.

36 INDICTED HERE AS HUGE RUM RING

Several Women Included in Those Accused of 1,200 Offenses.

Thirty-six men and women were indicted by the District grand jury yesterday for alleged participation in reputedly one of the largest liquor rings ever uncovered here. The indictment alleges some 1,200 overt acts, each one a violation of the prohibition law.

The round-up of persons named in the indictment began several days ago. It took a score of United States marshals three days to round up the various members and take them before United States Commissioner N. C. Turnage for preliminary hearings.

Police Sergt. George Little and Assistant United States Attorney Harold W. Ortutt worked up the evidence for the Government, the former leading a special squad of police in gathering information concerning the ring members. Numerous raids, confiscations of automobiles and more than a score of arrests at various times were preliminary to the indicting of the 36 as acting in concert.

The problem of trying 36 men and women at one time, is one that is causing no end of speculation by Government officials. When the 36 each get their attorneys and witnesses and other attendants in the courtroom, a crowd of several hundred persons is expected. The Government may truly have to "hire a hall."

In addition to the seizure of quantities of liquor two stills were seized. These are said to have been utilized in the manufacture of peach brandy, which was based upon dried peaches, obtainable at most grocery stores.

Those indicted are: Harry Zimberg, Abraham Zimberg, Joseph Zimberg, Solomon Zimberg, Adolph R. Moder, Frederick Spasaro, Charles E. Mills, John Giovinazzo, Helen Zimberg, Bernice Zimberg, Maurice Chifiwalt, Thomas M. Crane, Nick Macchiarella, Rocco Pellicano, Antenetta Pellicano, Frank Maida, Michael Spinelli, Angelo Schiattareggia, Malcolm S. McGeehee, Bruno Cristarello, Dominic J. Musolino, Rose Caparotta, James P. Caparotta, James R. Posey, Gus Levigne, Wesley Williams, John T. Traynor, Louis Specter, Samuel A. Specter, Joseph Andrews, Addie Skari, Ragner Skari, Charles C. Maggio, Joseph Mainone, Ellis L. Marsh and Louise Zimberg.

Hearing Is Set On Bus Line Route

Suit Pends to Test Authority of Commission Over Interstate Firms.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday set for public hearing on December 14 the application of the Blue Ridge Transportation Co. to amend its route after the commission had brought suit against the bus line for failure to follow the route approved by the utilities body.

The suit was the first attempt by the commission to test its authority over interstate buses under the new traffic act.

Several applications by new bus companies for permission to operate within the District have been filed with the commission during the last few weeks. Officials believe that the applicants are trying to get established before the Parker bus bill becomes a law thus placing the control jointly in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the District utilities body.

60 Put in Peril as Trolley Jumps Tracks on Bridge

Traffic on Highway Span Snarled for Nearly Hour at Evening Rush Hour; Motorman's Care Credited With Saving Passengers.

Sixty persons Alexandria-bound, narrowly escaped injury late yesterday when car No. 312, of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co. jumped the tracks midway across Highway Bridge. The car came to a stop athwart the span after striking the steel beams at the side of the bridge.

For 45 minutes Fourteenth street traffic across the Potomac was virtually at a standstill while a wrecking crew dispatched to the scene labored to return the heavy vehicle to the rails.

Representatives of the railway company attributed the accident to failure of the draw, and the tracks which cross it, to close flush, when the draw swung back into position after opening for channel traffic.

It was necessary for bridge mechanics to open the draw and close it again before the proper contact was obtained.

The car was packed to capacity and passengers were standing up when the vehicle left the tracks. The accident occurred at about 5 o'clock when bridge travel was at its heaviest. Automobile traffic over the approaches on both sides was hopelessly snarled for the better part of an hour afterward.

Lack of substantial damage, and the passengers' narrow escape was attributed to Motorman Sam Sullivan's care in operating the car, which was proceeding at only 10 miles an hour. Sam Pallant was conductor.

2 Taxicab Drivers Escape Gas Death

Pair Is Overcome in Car; Door Opens Accidentally, Letting In Air.

Two taxicab drivers were overcome by monoxide gas yesterday morning as they sat in a cab with all doors closed, but the chance that resulted in one of them sagging against a door lever and releasing it with an inflow of fresh air, probably saved them from much more than the slight effects they suffered.

The two men were John Ellis Lee, 32 years old, of Falls Church, Va., and Judson F. Thomasson, 26 years old, of 609 I street northwest. They were sitting in the cab of the former, which was parked on the hack stand in front of 3100 Connecticut avenue northwest. They did not notice the fumes, and gradually went under their influence.

Thomasson slumped toward the door, releasing it, and sagged to the sidewalk. Pedestrians quickly notified Fourteenth Precinct police, who responded with the patrol wagon and conveyed the unconscious men to Emergency Hospital. The two men were quickly revived, and after several hours' treatment went to their homes.

Secretary Adams' Name Shortened

Kiwanis Club Members to Know Him by Cognomen of "Cap Adams."

Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams got a new and less dignified "handle" yesterday. From now on he is just "Cap Adams" to members of the Washington Kiwanis Club, who introduced him to membership at a meeting yesterday at the Raleigh Hotel.

Harry G. Kimball, former president of the club and chairman of its educational committee, explained that Charles Francis Adams is too long a name for a club member.

"Since everybody in New England, who either sculls a dory or ships aboard a seven-master, is known as 'Cap,' you are hereby designated 'Cap Adams.'" Mr. Kimball informed the Secretary of the Navy.

Secretary Adams, who attained something of a reputation as a yachtsman before President Herbert Hoover called him to his Cabinet, told the club he "appreciated" the honor of membership conferred upon him.

Teachers to Hear Dr. Ballou.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of District schools, will address the Teachers Institute on "Modern Developments in Public School Education" at Central High School at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. He will make the same address at Dunbar High School at 3:45 o'clock that afternoon.

THIEVES LOOT AUTO OF LIEUT. UNDERHILL

Articles Valued at $2,535 Are Taken, Including $1,500 in Clothing.

Mrs. Jessie Underhill, daughter-in-law of Representative Charles Underhill, of Massachusetts, will leave this morning for Manila, where her husband, a naval lieutenant, has been ordered to join the Asiatic fleet. Thieves early yesterday morning broke into their autmmobile and cleaned it out—taking all of the clothes she had intended carrying with her. The loss was $2,535 in all.

Lieut. J. J. Underhill came to Washington Wednesday from Charleston, S. C., where he has been stationed for the last two years. He and Mrs. Underhill were spending two days with the representative before driving to San Francisco, where they will take a steamer for Manila.

They parked their car outside of the Roosevelt Hotel, at Sixteenth and W streets, and yesterday morning discovered that some one had smashed the lock on it and had made away with their carefully packed belongings.

Two bags and a small hat box were among the missing articles. One of the bags contained a Spanish shawl valued at $700, another silverware worth $200. Mrs. Underhill's missing clothing was valued at $1,500. The naval officer lost only a small amount of clothing.

Santa Claus Lane Will Open Tonight

Many District Officials Will Attend Fete in Columbia Heights.

With a street parade and other exercises, Santa Claus Lane—annually sponsored by the Columbia Heights Citizens Association on upper Fourteenth street northwest—will blaze forth tonight in its holiday garb, which will be maintained throughout the Christmas shopping season. Inclement weather forced postponement of the event from last Friday.

Many District officials, including Maj. Donald A. Davison, acting Engineer Commissioner of the District; Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, chief of police, and a host of civic and other personages, will be present at the ceremonies. At 8 o'clock Maj. Davison will throw a switch, which will illuminate the lane, which extends from Fairmont street to Meridian place.

A number of musical units, civic groups and veterans' organizations will be among the marchers in the parade. The committee in charge is composed of B. A. Levitan, general chairman; William F. Dismer, H. C. Phillips, Ralph Wallace, A. R. Swan and Frank J. Sobotka.

Man Is Held on Charge Of Robbing Apartment

Accused by a woman acquaintance of taking a radio, alarm clock and a handbag from her apartment at 311 South Carolina avenue southeast, James L. Mills, 23 years old, of 222 A street southeast, was held by police last night.

The young man was accused by Mrs. Mary S. Lynch, who said he came to her apartment in a taxicab and had the driver wait while he entered and removed the articles. Police said Mills admitted taking the things and showed them where he had hidden them in his rooms.

Wedding Makes Man His Brother's Nephew

Edward H. Browning, of 917 Kennedy street northwest, retired policeman, formerly attached to the Seventh Precinct, yesterday became his brother's nephew.

This involved situation of family relationship came about when he was married by the Rev. James H. Dunham, pastor of the Western Presbyterian Church, to Miss Sarah J. Manuel, of Nokesville, Va.

The bridegroom is a brother of Private G. R. Browning, of the Thirteenth Precinct. The bride is a daughter of a sister of G. R. Browning's wife.

FIVE STOLEN AUTOS FOUND; FOUR HELD

Detective Spots Tag at Laurel and District Round-Up Follows.

Recovery of five stolen cars and the arrest of two colored men and two colored women in connection therewith was effected yesterday by Detective Sergt. Frank Alligood, who spotted one of the cars near Laurel, Md., two days ago as he passed through en route to Baltimore.

Alligood got in touch with State police Tuesday immediately after noticing the tag numbers on the parked car and with their aid arrested two colored women—Edith Johnson, 20 years old, and Anna R. Allen, 19 years old—who were in the car. They said they were waiting for two colored men—Horace Turner, 23 years old, 618 Fifty-sixth street northeast, and Abbie T. Gray, 1216 Twelfth street northeast.

With Detective Sergt. James Kenney and Precinct Detective Wright, of the Eleventh Precinct, Alligood yesterday apprehended the two men and after questioning them, found they had also taken recently cars belonging to John B. Lewis, 2112 F street northwest, which was parked near the navy yard; Robert M. Day, 5018 Fifth street northwest, parked near New Jersey avenue and G street southeast; a car belonging to John H. Crawford, whose address could not be ascertained, and another car parked near Union Station, the owner of which could not be ascertained last night.

All of the arrested quartet were charged with unauthorized use of an automobile.

Drill Team to Present Minstrel and Dance

The Brightwood Commandery Drill Team opened a minstrel and dance last night at the Brightwood Masonic Temple at Georgia avenue and Colorado avenue, which also will run tonight at 8 o'clock. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the drill team and the ladies auxiliary.

The show will be opened with songs by the minstrel team. This will be followed by a black-face sketch, "Walking Back Home," by Reeder and Lewis. A dance will be given by Charles Denima and Ruth and Honey, the rhythmic twins. The show will be closed with a one-act comedy play called "No. 10," a police station sketch. Public dancing will follow the show.

Police of Second Precinct To Wash Autos Once Daily

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, declared war on the cockroaches at police headquarters as soon as he took over the job, and the Second Precinct has decided to follow his lead in keeping everything in military spotlessness. An order went out yesterday with instructions that all automobiles used by the precinct be washed at least once a day. This is the only all-motorized precinct in the city and eleven cars are in use.

A big supply of long-handled brushes, soap and windshield cleaner was bundled into the station in preparation for the first wash day. Capt. Harry M. Groves, precinct commander, signed the order for the washing to take place promptly at midnight as soon as the 4 p. m. shift comes off duty.

The men will gather around with the brushes, soap, water and plenty of elbow grease and start scrubbing the cars as soon as they check in to go off duty. The mechanized equipment of the precinct includes one sergeant's car, an emergency car, five scout cars, two radio cars and two patrol wagons.

PROGRAM OF RELIEF FOR JOBLESS ASKED BY SENATOR CAPPER

Wants Commissioners to Suggest New Works to Be Undertaken.

CITY'S BEAUTIFICATION PLAN WOULD BE AIDED

Kansan Makes Appeal for Support of Christmas Seal Campaign.

A program for the relief of unemployment in the District will be asked of the District Commissioners by Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee, the senator announced yesterday.

Commending what had been done in the last several months in connection with the Government building program, Senator Capper said he would ask the Commissioners for their suggestions as to how development of the program might be hastened to provide employment and speed up the beautification of the National Capital for the thousands of visitors who will come to Washington for the George Washington Bicentennial celebration.

It is his purpose, Senator Capper said, to seek speedy action on whatever may be decided upon as helpful in pushing forward public construction work as well as other measures for the relief of unemployment and its consequent distress.

In the course of an address broadcast by radio, urging public support of the Christmas seals sale to fight tuberculosis, which he made later in the day, Senator Capper enumerated this and several other measures he intended to push for consideration. The sale of the Christmas seals, he said, was "one of the most meritorious appeals ever made to our people."

Double Purpose Served.

"Washington," he said, in discussing unemployment relief, "is in a better position than any other large city of the country with respect to unemployment, but there is no doubt that this condition here could be improved. I think the work done by the President, the District Commissioners and their assistants on this question has been very beneficial. I would welcome any practical program to expedite Federal or municipal construction work in this city, not only for the purpose of giving employment to men who need it, but to bring nearer to realization our vision of Washington as the most beautiful capital in the world.

"I happen to be chairman of the Senate committee on the District of Columbia. I want to be, as much as possible, your representative on Capitol Hill. And that sentiment, I feel certain, is shared by every senator and congressman who has any contact with District problems.

"The new Congress will convene next week. A great many bills will be introduced in the Senate. A large number of them will be of interest to Washington.

"We need laws here to drive out of Washington the unscrupulous real estate operator and the dishonest stock promoter. These high-pressure thieves have robbed families of a lifetime's savings, in exchange for worthless pieces of paper. With the bills drafted by Senator Blaine, of Wisconsin, we can clean the city of these rascals. I hope Congress will pass these bills without delay.

Bill Aimed at Gunmen.

"I have in mind another bill to make Washington an unhealthy place for the criminal who uses a gun, instead of the sales talk, to plunder the public. This is my bill to regulate the sale of firearms here. Many people think I want to prevent anyone from owning a rifle or revolver. That is positively not the case. This bill is a weapon against the criminal.

"I expect the District committee to take up again the question of merging the street car lines of Washington. But I do not propose to give my indorsement to any plan of unification which does not fully protect the public interest.

"Washington should have more and better schools, more playgrounds, better streets and roads. I hope that many such improvements will be authorized by the new Congress.

"I am planning to make a more careful survey of the District laws concerning child welfare. The pitiful case of that little closet prisoner, Edith Riley, has aroused Nation-wide indignation. This case has focused attention on the welfare statutes of Washington. Do we need better laws to protect children in the National Capital? That is what I want to find out.

"I do not believe that laws will cure everything under the sun. But if legislation will cure an evil condition, that legislation should be enacted. I want to see the boys and girls of this fine city growing into healthy, happy and useful citizens. I want to see them safe from cruelty, ignorance and disease. And that is one reason why I welcome this opportunity to greet you and to urge you to buy Christmas seals."
